Man Can Take Moon-Walk, Surveyor Pictures Confirm

SURVEYOR'S VIEW—An aluminum-shod foot rests on moon's surface in center of television picture relayed to the earth. Shadow above foot is a depression created by the landing; rings at lower right are the scanning mirror's reflection of the camera lens. Reflections of sun glitter at left.

A LUNAR ROCK—Surveyor's television camera showed this rock, six inches high and a foot long, surrounded by smaller pebbles and sand or thin dusty layer, for the tenth photo transmitted last night. (UPI Telephotos)

U.S. Soft Landing Is Success On First Try

PASADENA (UPI)—The triumphant Surveyor spacecraft, carrying an American flag to the moon, sent back to earth today 144 "excellent" pictures showing what appeared to be boulders, rocks and pebbles covered with possibly an inch of dust on the lunar surface.

"I would say that the most interesting thing is that there are so many rocks projecting from the surface," said project scientist Dr. L. Jaffe.

He said that using data returned by Surveyor in America's first-try soft-landing and that received in February by Russia's Luna 9 scientists "can draw a conclusion that rubble is fairly common over a large area of the moon.

WOULD HOLD MAN

"It is clear that the lunar surface is not solid hard rock . . . The area where Surveyor landed would support the weight of man," Jaffe said.

The 144 glossy prints received by the jet propulsion laboratory before the moon dropped below the horizon were described as "high quality."

The pictures showed no life or movement and a scientist said the rocks seen "probably were black or gray like any desert rocks."

RIGHT ON TIME

The spider-like vehicle completed its remarkably accurate 63-hour voyage at 11:17.37 p.m. PDT yesterday, touching down in the Sea of Storms on the west side of the moon just below its equator.

The spacecraft had traveled 247,538 miles.

FIRST PHOTOS

The initial photo showed one of Surveyor's legs on its crumpled foot-pad. The leg was not buried in the moon's surface and the leg did not appear to be covered by dust.

Ten of the first 13 photographs were a series taken when the camera scanned the lunar landscape. The pictures, taken three degrees apart between the No. 2 and No. 3 pads, showed what appeared to be small rocks or mounds resembling freshly plowed ground. The ground seemed pitted.

Shortly before 3 a.m., PDT, JPL scientists deployed Surveyor's high-gain antenna, which switched the television camera to a much higher quality 600-line scan.

Soviet Moon Satellite Radio Signal Fails

MOSCOW (AP) —The Soviet Luna 10 unmanned space ship, the moon's first manmade satellite, has run out of power and stopped sending information to earth, Tass reported today.

Luna 10 went into close orbit of the moon April 3. It was in radio contact with Soviet space stations until May 30 and made a total of 219 transmissions, the official news agency added.

At the same time, Tass reported some "preliminary conclusions" by the Soviet Academy of Scientists based on data radioed by Luna 10. Among these were:

As expected, the magnetic field around the moon is extremely weak. Micrometeorites are more numerous in space around the moon than in interplanetary space. There is a heightened intensity of streams of electrons near the moon. There is little irregularity in the moon's gravitational field.

Tass said Luna 10 will continue in orbit around the moon for several years.

Mitchell Sees New Tax Hike

The county tax rate for the 1967 fiscal year may be even higher than was estimated last month, County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell said today.

Mitchell said that the revised estimate was prompted by depletion of reserve balances. "Carryover funds will be less than was thought," he said.

He predicted a tax rate of about $2.44 per $100 assessed valuation to support the property tax portion of the proposed $25.9 million budget.

The rate was estimated by Mitchell and County Administrator Alan Bruce last month at $2.39. The county tax rate this fiscal year was $2.185.

County supervisors, hoping to keep the rate down, will start budget hearings June 13.

Soviets Say Surveyor Shows Space Law Need

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union said today the soft landings of Soviet and American spacecraft on the moon point to the need for international space law.

Tass, the official Soviet news agency, said steps should be taken to make sure that exploration of the moon and outer space are used only in the interests of peace and scientific progress.

Woman Says Defendants Told Her Of Inn Murder

A 22-year-old secretary testified today that Mark Osuna and Jack Gorman described the killing of Mario Ferrari to her two hours after the Mission Inn holdup in San Rafael last Labor Day.

The secretary, Betty Wright, said the two men came to her San Francisco hotel room shortly after 5 a.m. on Sept. 6.

Miss Wright testified in the Marin Superior Court murder trial of Osuna and Gorman that they told her their victim (Ferrari) "turned around and said, 'The hell with you!,' started screaming and ran out."

Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales asked her, "Were you told who shot first?"

She replied, "Jack fired his gun and, impulsively, Mark shot."

Miss Wright said she was told that "when Jack shot, he thought he hit him in the shoulder."

"Was anything said about a hood?," Bales asked.

Miss Wright replied, "I knew that Mark dropped his while they were running away." She also testified that "Jack told me that he threw it (the other hood) over the bridge."

Miss Wright said, "Mark told me that when they had been running, Jack dropped some of the money."

MONEY STOLEN

Some $1,267 in cash receipts was stolen in the Mission Inn holdup. Two $1 bills were found by San Rafael police where they had been dropped near the inn.

The witness also testified that she was told the following Tuesday evening by Osuna and Gorman that they had thrown their guns into Stowe Lake, in San Francisco's Golden Gate Park.

Miss Wright, who was still on the stand when the trial recessed at noon in the superior court of Judge Thomas F. Keating, was to undergo cross-examination this afternoon.

When she first took the stand at 2:30 p.m. yesterday, Miss Wright was talkative, gradually began having lapses of memory, and eventually became silent.

THREW A BAG

She testified then that when Osuna and Gorman entered her hotel room they threw a bag full of crumpled money on her bed. They had guns, she said.

The court went into recess. On resuming the stand, Miss Wright was reluctant to answer Bales's questions about what Osuna and Gorman told her.

Defense attorneys Jerome Durham and Thomas P. Boyd raised objections to inclusion of conversation alleged to have taken place after the murder. Judge Keating over-ruled.

"It happened so long ago I can't remember," said the witness. Bales asked her to try to remember.

"Mr. Bales," she said, "what guarantee have I got you will not use anything I say against me?"

Bales asked the judge to order the witness to answer while, he, in the meantime, made a move

Second Youth Booked In Marin City Violence

A second Marin City youth has been booked in Marin County Juvenile Hall and six others were to be cited to the sheriff's juvenile bureau today in an aftermath of violence Sunday night at an Alto service station, Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos disclosed.

He said the arrests may also provide leads in Molotov cocktail arson fires in several Marin City locations Tuesday night.

First youth to be placed in juvenile hall was a Marin City 17-year-old, deputies said assaulted Joe Ghazar, attendant at Fitz's Service Station in Alto. He was released from the hall at 5 p.m. yesterday pending hearing on the charge. The second youth, a 16-year-old, was arrested shortly afterward and booked in the hall for assault with a deadly weapon, Mountanos disclosed.

Sheriff Mountanos said the 16-year-old allegedly threw a soft drink bottle at a sheriff's patrol car during the same Alto fracas. The boy was released from the hall at 10 a.m. today pending a hearing on the charge.

The sheriff said six other youths, all of Marin City and of ages ranging from 14 to 17, will first be cited to his own juvenile bureau on charges including disturbing the peace, vandalism, and violation of the 11 p.m. curfew law.

At least two of them, he said, will be further cited to the juvenile probation office for allegedly setting grass fires with matches Saturday night in the 400 block of Drake Avenue, prior to the Molotov cocktail fires among pole houses on a Marin City Street.

He said all six will also be quizzed about the latter fires, which included car damage in the carport of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Spingor at 20 Pacheco Street, and exterior damage to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Al Brown at 85 Park Circle.

The Tuesday night fire series started just after an Afro-American Assn. meeting in Marin City's recreation building had adjourned.

The association meets each Tuesday evening.

Plumbers Win Pay Increase

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Northern California plumbers' union representatives gave unanimous approval last night to a long-term contract calling for sizable pay increases.

The contract, which covers plumbers in San Francisco, Marin, Sonoma and Mendocino counties, provides an increase of 50 cents an hour in each of six years. The increase will be split between wages and fringe benefits as the union sees fit, said manager of Local 38.

During the first two years, Mazzola said, 24 cents of the increase will go directly to the 3,000 union members and 14 cents into a pension and welfare package. Wages will be boosted 30 cents an hour in the second year.

Gemini Again Ready To Go

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — With their latest obstacle licked, luckless astronauts Thomas Stafford and Eugene Cernan went back to the old waiting game today while technicians readied the Gemini 9 spaceship for a new orbital flight attempt.

Everything appeared "go" for the new 6:39 a.m. PDT attempt tomorrow to send the frustrated astronauts on a chase in space after a target satellite that whirled overhead in a near perfect orbit. It was launched on schedule yesterday.

Engineers were confident they have eliminated the computer guidance system "bug" that cropped up at the last moment yesterday and set the ambitious rendezvous and spacewalk flight back two days.

The failure was traced to two of about 3,000 similar eletcronic parts, called logic modules, that had gone bad in a system that serves as the irreplaceable "middle man" between a ground guidance computer and the launch pad. The units were replaced last night.

Ky Troops Take Over Hue; Riots Erupt In Saigon After Meeting

COMBINED AP & UPI

SAIGON—Government troops quietly occupied the rebel city of Hue with tanks and armored cars today. But violent new anti-government demonstrations broke out in Saigon tonight to protest a government-Buddhist crisis settlement that left Premier Kguyen Coa Ky in power.

In Washington, President Johnson's optimistic report that preparations for elections in South Viet Nam are moving in a sound direction aroused both hope and skepticism in Congress today.

Johnson told a news conference yesterday that "while there will be missteps, the direction is sound" toward voting aimed at installing a civilian regime to replace the military government in Saigon.

Moderate Buddhist leader Thich Tam Chau told a crowd of 5,000 at the Vien Hoa Dao pagoda in Saigon that Ky and Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu had promised to resign once the civil strife has ended. But this did not satisfy his followers and hundreds of howling youths stormed from the pagoda through the streets.

In the war, U.S. planes hammered North Viet Nam in massive raids for a third consecutive raids for a third consecutive day, concentrating once again on antiaircraft and missile sites. They also made a spectacular strike on a 20-truck Communist supply convoy, U.S. military headquarters reported today.

The heavy air raids yesterday were carried out at a cost of three more American planes, raising the number of U.S. air-

WHO NEEDS PARKS ANYWAY?

Just picknickers, hikers, fishermen, golfers, boaters, tennis players, swimmers, you and your kids.

But listen—according to national minimum standards, the cities of Marin should own 480 acres of day-use parks. We only own 275, and the situation's getting worse.

That's why, for the sake of you and your children, we must reserve enough choice land for parks and recreation before private development gets it all.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

'Teachers' Aides' An Economical Way To Lighten Faculty Chores

Marin's school districts (like most of those elsewhere) have been generally reticent about calling experts in the community to lecture to classes. However (again like many elsewhere), they have tapped the citizenry in recent years for "teachers' aides."

Several Marin elementary school districts use these aides. For the most part, the aides are housewives eager to pick up a little income to supplement what Dad brings home from downtown of "the city." Some districts have even used junior college students and high school upperclassmen.

The aides are given the job of correcting test papers of the true-false or multiple-choice variety — making them, in effect, substitute computers that require no programming and can work from the penciled product instead of the ubiquitous punch-card.

THEY ALSO WRITE next day's assignment on the blackboard. They take the roll. They supervise the playground. Sometimes they help the slow readers. In these and other tasks, they relieve teachers from time-consuming minutiae. Teachers generally like the aide program. Administrators claim it enables teachers to do a better job.

It does not have to pay much, for teachers' aides are usually remunerated at a very low rate.

A FEW YEARS AGO, when Webster Wilson, then principal of Terra Linda High School, was plugging for introduction of teachers' aides at his school, a San Rafael Board of Education member was shocked to learn he proposed to pay them only $1.50 per hour.

"How can you expect to get competent people for that price?" the board member demanded.

"These people do it because they want to help the schools," Wilson replied. "The remuneration is only a token."

"Token" pay of $1.50 per hour is general for such aides, drawn from the ranks of housewives or college students, with no particular preparation. They are expected to do only what the teacher tells them; qualifications for the job are easily met.

TAMALPAIS HIGH School District next fall is going a bit farther into this tapping of the citizenry for teachers' aides, however. It will employ aides at all three of its high schools who, according to the prospectus, will:

1. Correct papers and tests.
2. Type outlines, tests, letters and other materials.
3. File and duplicate materials.
4. Prepare bibliographies, transparencies, maps, bulletin boards, displays, etc.
5. Record grades in roll books.
6. Assist with budget preparation.

Except for the last, these sound no different from the customary tasks of teachers' aides. Apparently, however, these aides are to be given more responsibility than the usual ones. For the district's prospectus announces:

"It is essential that all aides be college graduates; a major or minor in the assigned subject is desirable, but not mandatory."

THE PAY, the district announces, will be $2 per hour.

The only difference between the education requirement for these aides and that for a teaching certificate is 30 units of education courses. The teacher preferably has a major or minor in the assigned subject, but this is not mandatory.

Starting pay for new, inexperienced teachers in Tamalpais High School District is $6,000 per year.

The school year consists of 36 weeks. The teacher has a six-hour day, usually with five hours of class instruction and one hour for preparation. This makes a 30-hour week, or 1,080 hours per year.

OBVIOUSLY, some home preparation is necessary in most classes. Although this varies greatly, depending upon the classes taught and the teacher's conscientiousness, it would seem fair to assume an average of two hours a day. This adds up to 10 hours a week, or 360 hours for the school year.

In addition, the teacher must attend various institutes or special functions in the evenings or on Saturdays. These vary greatly from district to district. Suppose we take an arbitrary figure of 60 hours per year for these. Add it to the six-hour school day, the two hours of daily preparation, and we arrive at a total of 1,500 hours per year which the teacher must devote to his job.

FOR THE BEGINNING teacher at $6,000 a year then, this figures out at $4 per hour.

It would appear that 30 units of education courses are indeed valuable.

guaranteeing her immunity. The judge, instead, ordered the court recessed for the day. When Miss Wright left the court she was weeping.

Testimony earlier in the afternoon surrounding Miss Wright's testimony on conversations held in her room the fatal night were confused by pleas of mis-trials and the application of a ruling by Judge Keating which he later retracted.

Over objections by defense attorneys, Bales got the witness to explain what was said after the murder.

She described the guns and said, "Mark told me he got it from the Mission Inn."

Both defense attorneys were on their feet objecting to this testimony. Keating at first overruled the objections, then apologized, saying, "I didn't realize prosecution attorney was soliciting testimony after the alleged event. I order it be stricken from the record and the jury disregard it."

Both defense attorneys moved a mistrial. Keating dismissed the motions.

Shortly afterwards, Keating said his ruling concerning testimony after the murder had been made erroneously and Bales started to take Miss Wright through this testimony again. It was at this point she hesitated.

First witness after the lunchtime recess yesterday was Alvin Feldman of Half Moon Bay, who told how he found a gun on a ledge near the ocean in San Mateo County last November. He identified it as a single-action revolver the prosecution is alleging was used in the robbery.

Bids On Subway Below Estimate

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Officials of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District were jubilant today over a $1 million surprise in bids for a section of Oakland subway.

The low bid on the work was $7,933,722, about $1 million less than the district's engineering estimates. It was submitted by McLean - Grove Company and Grove, Shepherd, Wilson and Kroge of New York, and opened here yesterday.

The bid covers construction of 2,540 feet of subway in downtown Oakland.

Navy Orders Carriers To Turn On Light

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Navy, in a reversal of the tradition that warships are blacked out at night, is installing floodlights on all its aircraft carriers as a safety measure for pilots and deck crews, it was disclosed today.

Times have changed since the World War II days when Adm. Marc A. Mitscher took a great gamble in a battle with the Japanese and ordered his Task Force 58 to "turn on the lights" to permit pilots running low on fuel to get back on the carrier decks in a hurry.

Nowadays, Navy officers explained, ships travel faster and are protected by airplane and destroyer patrols at greater ranges. Perhaps more importantly, radar detection on both sides makes visual sightings relatively unnecessary.

Officials said that the floodlights already had been installed on 10 carriers including four—Hancock, Ranger, Kitty Hawk and Intrepid—now operating in the South China Sea off Viet Nam. All carriers, both the large attack types and the small antisubmarine ships, are to be similarly equipped.

Goals of the project are to reduce the night time landing accident rate, to improve working conditions for flight decks crews, and to speed up night carrier operations.

The other five carriers that now have the lighting are the Bon Homme Richard, Coral Sea, Constellation, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Oriskany.

MOON

moon was greeted with a jubilant outburst by the tense JPL scientists and newsmen, who clapped and shouted when the loudspeaker echoed, "it's down and functioning."

Surveyor had begun its delicate terminal maneuvering at 10:52 p.m., PDT yesterday when it closed to about 2,000 miles from the lunar surface.

A radio command from earth fired small gas jets which turned the spacecraft around so that its main retrorocket faced the moon.

At 11:10 p.m., PDT the spacecraft began applying its rocket brakes slowing the vehicle from 5,900 miles per hour to 269 m.p.h. A television camera aboard the Surveyor took pictures of the surface during the final descent.

The slowing process began when the probe had moved to within 500 miles of the moon. At that point its altitude marking radar turned on and at 60 miles the radar triggered three small engines and ignited the 10,000-pound thrust main rocket.

At 5.45 miles altitude the spent retrorocket was jettisoned, cutting Surveyor's weight from 2,194 pounds to 620 pounds for landing.

Three liquid-fueled vernier engines then took over the task of slowing the vehicle to about 8 m.p.h. at 14 feet from touchdown.

At impact one television camera descended and another focused as Surveyor settled on the surface.

Sanitary District Board Agrees On Joint Meeting

Ross Valley Sanitary District Board last night agreed to meet sometime this month with the Larkspur City Council to discuss possible annexation of old Larkspur to the district, but could not meet June 22 as suggested by the council.

District Mgr. Ralph C. Noah was instructed to select a meeting date agreeable to both the board and the city council.

The board also amended an ordinance to require safety cleanout apparatus in lateral sewer lines, preventing backup of sewage into buildings.

Some people are allergic to strawberries, eggs, cats, and even money. Perhaps we are all allergic to some unusual things.

What happens when a product you use causes a skin reaction or other allergies. Is the maker liable? It depends upon certain legal tests:

1. Could the maker foresee the possible harm? In one case a girl used a hair lotion and broke out with a severe rash, although many had used it with no bad results. In this case the maker was not liable. He could not insure everyone's reactions, the court said.

For the maker to be liable, his product must present a danger to a number of persons who may react to it alike.

2. Has the maker given enough warning or notice of any danger? The more dangerous the product the greater the maker's duty to warn people. But again the maker need not protect against the unusual event. He need not warn every single user of his product to make a "patch test." Sometimes all he needs to do is to label his goods in accordance with the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act.

3. Is there a showing of causation? Allergies may take some time to appear and much medical evidence to pin-point. For example a person's injury may have been caused by a particular food coloring or by some other things he ate. Who can say? The court may rule that there is not enough evidence for a jury to decide what caused the trouble.

4. Did the user assume the risk? If, knowing that he has a skin problem, a person keeps on using a product after a slight reaction, he may have assumed the risks of further use. If so, he cannot collect damages. One woman with a skin disease found that is got worse when she put her hands into a certain solution. Still, she went on doing it. At some point or other she herself had the duty to protect herself and to quit using the product.

A maker's liability usually rests on a breach of warranty, written or implied, that his product is fit for its intended purposes, by the normal user.

Of course he can make himself liable by making false promises about his product, say, that it is harmless to the eyes or hair. The manufacturer has to stand back of all such promises.

craft shot down over North Viet Nam to 254. One pilot was rescued.

U.S. ground forces in South Viet Nam made light, sporadic contact with the enemy yesterday.

U.S. casualties dropped last week, the U.S. command reported, while those of the South Vietnamese and the enemy remained about the same.

Senatorial critics and supporters in Washington of the President's Viet Nam policies joined in expressing hope that Johnson was right in saying that with "reasonable unity and proper diligence and constand regard for our national interest, we will achieve our objectives here — at home — and there in Viet Nam."

Among those willing to speak out, however, none found quite as much encouragement as Johnson said he did by the progress of a special Vietnamese committee preparing for the election of a constitutional assembly.

Silverplated Goblets Stolen From Church

Theft of two silverplated goblets, worth $15 apiece, from the First Presbyterian Church of San Rafael was reported to San Rafael police yesterday.

Wilma R. Grant of the church told police the goblets disappeared May 25, shortly after a social function. She said she and others at the church had declined to call police until they tried in vain to recover the goblets on their own.

$53,000 For Marin In '67 Smog Budget

The Bay Area Air Pollution Control District yesterday approved a $1,041,779 budget for the 1966-67 fiscal year, which includes $53,184.81 for Marin County.

The district's budget for the present year provided $47,032.61 for Marin County. The new budget is based on a tax rate of 1.2 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

Malcolm W. Nahl, 67, of 15 Kemp Avenue, San Anselmo, died today in a local hospital after a long illness.

A native of Alameda, he had lived in Marin most of his life. He retired two years ago as a maintenance man for the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. he had worked for them 35 years.

His wife, Velma M. Nahl, died in May, 1961. Surviving is a daughter, Helen M. Nahl of San Anselmo.

He was a member of Fairfax Lodge 556, Free and Accepted Masons; the Civic Service Employees Assn. and the Marin Mineral Society.

Funerad will be held at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo, under auspices of Fairfax Lodge 556, F and AM. Entombment will be private.

The family prefers gifts to a favorite charity.

GEORGE SWEENEY

George Aloysius Sweeney, 71, of 49 Edward Court, San Rafael, was found dead in his bed at home today by his wife, Mrs. Enestina Sweeney, according to Asst. Coroner Wiliam C. Bradley.

Sweeney was born in San Francisco, and had lived in San Rafael for several years. He was retired from the heating and plumbing business.

He is survived by his wife; a daughter, Mrs. Alberta Elizabeth Haas of Woodacre; a son, George A. Sweeney Jr. of Novato, and two brothers, Harry A. Sweeney of Sebastopol and Edward P. Sweeney of Santa Rosa.

The body was taken to Harry M. Williams Mortuary for an autopsy.

MRS. RAICEVICH

Mrs. Lucille Raicevich, 71, of San Rafael, a playground supervisor at the Presidio of San Francisco, was found dead this morning at her home by her husband, Rudolph C. Raicevich.

Asst. Coroner Willam C. Bradley was called to the home at 111 Greenfield Avenue, San Rafael, and found her dead about 8 a.m. An autopsy will be performed at the Harry M. Williams Mortuary.

GUISEPPE FAZIO

Requiem Mass for Guiseppe Fazio, 77, of Mountain View, step-father of three Marin residents, will be offered Saturday at 9 a.m. at St. Sebastian's Church in Greenbrae.

Fazio died today in a Mountain View hospital following a long illness. He had been retired for 25 years from industrial work. He lived at 1992 Plymouth Road in Mountain View.

He is survived by two stepsons, Guido Mariana of Greenbrae and David Mariana of Novato, and his step-daughter, Mary Petri of Kentfield, and one brother, Constantina Praino of San Jose.

Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael. Friends may meet at Keaton's at 8:40 a.m. Saturday before the Requiem Mass.

OLIVE P. DILL

Funeral for Mrs. Olive Pearl Dill, 83, of San Francisco, mother of Edward H. Dill of Mill Valley, will be Saturday at 1 p.m. at Godeau Funeral Home in San Francisco, not tomorrow at 1 p.m. as reported in yesterday's Independent-Jounral.

Mrs. Dill died Monday night in a hospital in Glendale following a stroke suffered three weeks ago as she was visiting a daughter, Mrs. Eleanor Jacobson of Los Angeles.

Furlough Truant Gets 90 Days More In Jail

Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Superior Court today ordered Harold Bradley Sheffield, 20, to serve 90 additional days in county jail for failure to return to the jail on Feb. 23 from work furlough.

Sheffield, of Petaluma, was serving 30 days in jail for being an accessory in the Aug. 4 burglary of Joe's Market in Point Reyes Station. He was arrested in Novato following his unauthorized work furlough leave.

Some Britons Cool To Billy Graham

LONDON (UPI) —Most of the British press today praised the opening of Billy Graham's month-long crusade to bring Christ to Britain, but at least one newspaper criticized the methods of the North Carolin evangelist.

Graham opened the crusade last night to a near capacity crowd of 19,000 persons in Earl's Court, a huge hall usually used for sporting events and industrial fairs. More than 450 of his audience streamed forward to the stage to make a "decision for Christ."

Nearly all of Britain's press devoted pages of pictures and text to the crusade, the theme of which is: "The hour is late and the world is sick."

Two of the most influential dailies—the Times and The Daily Telegraph—devoted lengthy editorials to it, both of which were somewhat critical.

The Daily Telegraph culled its piece "Instant Salvation," but said Graham was a "good and sincere man."

The Times criticized the evangelist's style and "the vulgarity of his methods—the smooth and efficient organization, the mass advertising techniques, all the promotional ballyhoo."

Five Men Die In Coal Mine

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa. (AP) — Five men were asphyxiated last night in a soft coal mine near this western Pennsylvania town. Two others escaped safely.

Dr. Robert L. Shaffer, Jefferson county coroner, said the men were working in the Dora No. 2 mine of the Doverspike Brothers Coal Co. when they opened an abandoned working containing "black damp," a miner's term for air without oxygen.

Shaffer said five of the crew of seven working with a continuous mining machine managed to get out but two apparently were unable to flee.

Three of the men returned to try and help their companions, and died.

Wolden Says He May Run Again

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Russell L. Wolden, ousted as San Francisco assessor because he took bribes, said yesterday "There certainly is a distinct possibility that I will run" again for the office.

Wolden, 55, convicted Tuesday of taking money to reduce assessments, told that to reporters at the Hall of Justice while waiting to see probation officers. A probation report is necessary before he can be sentenced.

Warren T. Jenkins, a probation officer, said the 1965 Legislature provided for probation for public officers convicted of bribery "in unusual cases . . . in which the interests of justice would be served thereby." It may be granted by a judge with concurrence of the district attorney.

ACTIVE SILENCE—Lisa Dutton jumps up and raises her hand to give an answer silently to Dr. Robert Moore in the "new math" class usually taught by Mrs. Eleanor Spells at Richardson Bay School, Sausalito. No one is permitted to speak in the "silent teaching" experiment; Dr. Moore gives Lisa chalk to crayon her answer on the blackboard.

NEW, SILENT TEACHING

All That Learning—And No Talking

By BRUCE COLEMAN

"Teachers talk too much" is a theory of a San Francisco State College professor who is experimenting in Sausalito schools with "silent teaching."

Dr. Robert Moore has conducted successful sessions, he says, in the sixth grade classrooms of Mrs. Eleanor Spells and Virginia Grantham at Richardson Bay School.

"Silent teaching," explains Moore, "is based on the idea that children can discover patterns in, for example, the study of mathematics."

In a simple problem, Moore writes two rows of numbers on the board, one above the other. He then draws a line from 7 to 6. Pupils must determine that he is drawing the line from one number to that which is one less in size.

First of all, he has told pupils that no one—not even the teacher—may say a word.

As soon as a youngster thinks he knows the pattern, he may raise his hand. The teacher will give him chalk and the pupil may go to the board and try to continue part of the pattern.

If the pupil is right, the teacher nods his head. If he is wrong, the teacher erases the work and another pupil tries.

As the class goes along, tension mounts "like a snowball," explains Moore. Pupils lean forward, wave their hands and sometimes practically fall out of their seats.

The advantages, Moore relates, include:

The fact children who sometimes can't put their understanding into words can indicate the answer by writing on the blackboard.

The way pupils, as they catch on, lose inhibitions.

New freedom for children who can often think beyond their capacity to express what they know.

Further, says Moore, children who are easily distracted, who usually find it hard to concentrate, or those who just plain announce before the lesson begins that they don't like mathematics, soon become interested because the method is varied and different.

Moore said the technique is meant to emphasize a type of thinking which is characteristic of math because, when teachers talk of the new math, they speak of helping pupils to develop a way of thinking mathematically. Just learning by rote isn't learning math. It's learning to compute, he adds.

"Too often teachers talk too much. In silent learning the teacher is quiet; thus making it possible for children to communicate non-verbally where they don't have to have the harangue of the teacher's voice," said Moore.

"Teachers talk too much so we look for ways of having the teachers to talk less and get childern to think more, because if teachers are talking all the time, children aren't thinking," he commented.

Moore, a member of the Sausalito teacher education project which is paid for by federal funds and administered under the California State Compensatory Education Fund, said silent teaching is a new technique to attract pupil interest and participation. It is taken from a text called "Math Workshop," published by Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Moore has used the method in Sausalito up to 40 minutes but feels 20 minutes is "plenty." He said it has also been used effectively with adult classes. It is taught in San Francisco State College classes, he added.

Corpus Christi is a deep water port.

'COMRADE GAME'

Russ, U.S. Ships Swap Viet Nam Snooping

ABOARD CARRIER ENTERPRISE, Off North Viet Nam (AP) — The Russians and the U. S. 7th Fleet are following each other around in the seas off Viet Nam.

The game is called "Comrade" by the Americans. It's played this way:

A Soviet fishing trawler, equipped with an unusual amount of radar, shows up a few miles from the 90,000-ton, nuclear-powered Enterprise.

Its mission, apart from fishing, is snooping.

It wants to find out how many planes are aboard the carrier, how many are launched each day for attacks against North Viet Nam and any other information.

When the trawler shows up, the word goes round the Enterprise: "Comrade is shadowing us again."

A few miles behind, however, the fast nuclear-powered missile frigate Bainbridge is shadowing the Soviet shadower.

This keeps up for a few hours until Comrade drops out of sight, only to reappear a day or two later.

No guns are fired. No one makes any hostile moves. The ships don't even signal each other.

"They seem to want to be friendly," says Capt. James L. Holloway, skipper of the Enterprise.

"We haven't made any contact with them. They have every right to be here on the high seas.

"But I can't imagine what kind of information they're getting. We've got some of our planes below the flight deck which they can't see. The others we keep in motion day and night so they can't have much of an idea of what's going on.

"They don't bother us and we don't bother them."

Federal Government Starts On '68 Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fiscal 1968 still is 13 months in the future, but President Johnson begins preliminary work today on the federal budget for that bookkeeping year.

The White House announced Johnson is to confer with Budget Director Charles Schultze and Deputy Director Sam Hughes. Johnson will present to Congress next January the budget for the year starting July 1, 1967.

LSD Man Cut Veins To Die

REDWOOD CITY (AP) — Ronald F. Brewer, an experimenter with the LSD hallucination drug, bled to death after opening arm veins with a razor, the coroner's office said yesterday.

Deputy San Mateo County Coroner Robert Cole said the former San Francisco State College student, had opened major veins near an elbow and that a package of blades was found in his shoes.

Sheriff Earl Whitmore had said earlier that Brewer, 25, had used the drug.

Brewer's body was found Tuesday night by his father, William H. Brewer, in a San Bruno Mountain gully. A hiker had found his wallet. Both father and son had lived in South San Francisco.

First Phase Plan Approved For Park

The San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission last night approved plans for first phase development of Santa Margarita Valley Park at the end of De La Guerra Road on the Nunes Ranch site.

Commissioners also recommended that De La Guerra Road be extended 140 feet to provide greater access to the park and avoid traffic and parking problems.

$45,000 FIRST PHASE

Engineer Dominic J. Selmi of Dan Coleman Associates, who drew up the park plans, estimated that the road extension would cost $17,000, bringing total first phase expenditure to $45,000.

Selmi said residents in the area have complained about the parking situation, and the street extension appears to be the solution.

Recreation Director Joseph D. Rodota said the city is seeking to have the Nunes family share half the cost of the road extension. He told commissioners the family might deed land to the city instead. "One-half will be recouped in some manner," he said.

First phase development will include grading, drainage, paving, including the tennis court and construction of rest rooms. Selmi estimated that the restroom building of concrete block would cost $7,000.

PLAYGROUND EQUIPMENT

Second phase development will include installation of playground equipment, landscaping and turfing, and development of picnic sites by park department crews.

The commission received a request from Harold Higgins, coordinator for Marin County's program of recreation for the handicapped, to provide a part-time recreation leader to work at the program at the Terra Linda Recreation Center six hours on Saturdays. Rodota estimated this would cost the city $600 a year.

Commissioner Troy E. Lewis asked, "Why isn't the county picking up the complete tab?"

Higgins said the "county had been reluctant to get into the area of programming, but is willing to participate with cities by providing coordination."

The Terra Linda Parks and Recreation District is providing the facilities and some of the equipment, Higgins said.

He said he has "worked out an agreement" with Mill Valley to start a program there July 9 with Mill Valley furnishing the recreation leader, facilities and supplies, and "is in the talking stage" with the city of Novato.

The commission took no action on the request, but asked Rodota to study it.

Commissioners agreed to make a report to the San Rafael Board of Education on the need for additional recreation funds from the schools budgets. The city is asking the San Rafael elementary and high school districts for a total of $24,886 for fiscal 1967 as compared to $15,000 for the current year.

Last month the city asked the board of education for an additional $1,636 toward this year's recreation budget, and the board unanimously rejected the request.

Rodota said that the city hopes to provide facilities at the new Bahia Vista School, to put back activities that were cut out, and to expand its program.

Meeting Date Shifts

The Sausalito Citizens Council last night switched its regular meeting date from the second Monday of the month to the third Thursday, Carl W. Spring, corresponding secretary, reported. The next meeting will be held on June 16.

Peking Seeks Cuba Accord

TOKYO (AP) —Communist China made an open move today to mend its relations with Fidel Castro's Cuba and charged that Moscow is betraying the Cuban people.

An article in the official Peking People's Daily claimed the Russians are not really supporting the Cubans in recent incidents at the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo. It said China is Cuba's "most faithful and dependable" friend.

The article came a day after Peking announced that it had renewed its trade and scientific cooperation agreement with Cuba. The New China News Agency said the agreement was signed in Havana a week ago.

The Cuban government had announced earlier that the two countries signed a pact for the exchange of rice and sugar.

The collapse of a similar barter agreement last fall led to a deterioration in relations between the two countries.

In a speech on March 14, Castro accused Peking of "launching an imperialist-type campaign against Cuba." China implied that Castro was moving ideologically toward Russia, and there were reports that he was purging pro-Peking elements in Cuba.

In 1965, forest and brush fires in California caused an estimated $22.8 million damage to watersheds, grainfields, structures and vehicles on state-protected land.

House Wreck Arrest Soon? Mountanos Won't Comment

Marin County Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos was unable to say today whether arrests were pending in the month-long case of college students who reportedly wrecked a $70,000 house in Kentfield.

Pressed for information on what action his office was taking, he replied, "It can be assumed that investigation will remain open until it has been successfully closed with arrest."

An all-night student party caused damage estimated at $20,000 to the house at 1129 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, according to the owners.

Three unidentified College of Marin students had rented the house unfurnished for $150 a month and had earlier been given notice to quit after complaints of noisy parties. About 30 teen-agers were invited for the final fling.

Mountanos declared a report had been filed with his office by two officers who were sent to the house that night. On entering, they described the vandalism as "the worst in their experience," he said.

To criticisms the sheriff's office had shown little action since the report was filed, Mountanos said, "Investigations into vandalism of this type are not always a simple procedure." Sometimes it was necessary for the investigating officer to link the case with other cases and to compile evidence before an arrest can be made, he said.

"Our inspectors are hard-working men who spend many hours investigating these complaints before coming in with something," said the sheriff.

One of the owners of the property, Harold MacKenzie of Novato, yesterday said he feared nothing would be done until the students responsible scattered for the summer vacation.

Candidates' Night For Marin City

Approximately 55 people attended a candidates' night last night at the First Missionary Baptist Church in Marin City.

These candidates spoke:

Bruce B. Bales, incumbent district attorney; Dr. Donovan O. Cooke and Gilbert F. Freitas, candidates for county coroner; James E. Pockrus and Robert E. Mertle, candidates for the Democratic nomination for assemblyman.

Gary Smith, a San Anselmo minister, spoke for Phillip Drath, candidate for the Democratic nomination, First Congressional District. County Supervisor Thomas T. Storer, a candidate for the same post, sent a letter which was read.

Princess Allows Fingerprinting

LONDON (AP) — Princess Margaret had her fingerprints taken yesterday.

Her prints will be kept at Hampshire police headquarters along with 30,000 others — as a memento.

The princess volunteered to be fingerprinted during a tour of the new $840,000 police headquarters building at Winchester.

Museum Assn. Plans Civic Center Shows

It is the Marin Museum Assn., not the Marin Society of Artists as reported in the Independent-Journal yesterday, that proposes to hold four art shows a year in the Marin County Civic Center.

The museum association's proposal was endorsed Tuesday by county supervisors. The association's first such show in the Civic Center as held this spring.

The Pigeon Point Lighthouse in San Mateo County, which went into service in 1872, was built by Henry LePuate in Paris, France.

EQUALITY ON JOBS

Aircraft Industry Hiring Minorities

LOS ANGELES (AP) — In May of 1961 Lockheed Aircraft Corp. was first to sign for the federal government's equal opportunity employment program, aimed at finding jobs for minorities.

"We didn't wait for them to apply, we sought them out," says James Hodgson, director of industrial relations.

Result: Lockheed now reports that 6,500 of its 84,000 employees are members of minority groups — and among the 6,500 there are two-and-one-half times as many in managerial or professional jobs than in unskilled or service work.

To help make its planes, ships, missiles and a host of other things the firm goes after Indians in Washington, Mexican-Americans in Arizona, Filipinos in California, Negroes in Georgia and Alabama.

It says 91 such employes are managers at $10,000 to $20,000 a year; 967 are scientists, engineers or accountants at $8,000 to $20,000, and 4,404 are in such skills as lathe operators, flight mechanics, carpenters, electricians, at $5,000 to $7,000.

Federal civil rights laws can be met by hiring service workers. Lockheed is one of 328 major firms joining voluntarily a federal "plan for progress" to recruit minority workers above the janitorial level.

How does it work?

Lockheed representatives go into minority-living areas sometimes 20 miles from plants, leaving job lists with ministers, slum-area employment offices and such organizations as the Urban League.

High school principals and counselors from slum schools are taken on tours of company facilities, told what's needed, what's available, and urged to spread the word.

Water District Open House Delayed—Paint

Open house at new offices of the North Marin County Water District at 999 Atherton Avenue, Novato, which had been tentatively set for 10 a.m. Saturday, has been postponed, according to Jerome B. Gilbert, district manager.

The contractor needs more time to complete some of the painting, Gilbert explained.

Military Money Bill Held Up

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The House today put off until next week action on a controversial $17.8 billion defense authorization bill.

The legislation originally had been scheduled for debate on yesterday but was postponed until today when the House got bogged down in other legislation.

A second postponement—until next Wednesday—was arranged when chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-Sc.C., notified the Democratic leadership that some members of his Armed Services Committee would not be present today.

PUC To Appear At Phone Probe

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—California's Public Utilities Commission said today it is sending four representatives to the Federal Communications Commission hearing into rates of American Telephone and Telegraph Co.

California has $215 million at stake—the amount of long distance fees paid to AT&T annually by its residents.

The hearing opens Tuesday in Washington.

The FCC will examine the interstate rate structure of the Bell telephone system.

Appearing for California will be Mrs. Mary Moran Pajalich, PUC chief counsel; Hector Anninos, attorney; Manley W. Edwards, head of the general engineering branch, and John J. Gibbons, supervising financial examiner.

Educator Will Receive Honor

BERKELEY (AP)—Lord Fulton, vice chancellor of the University of Sussex and a world leader in educational development, will be awarded a honorary doctor of laws degree by the University of California at commencement June 11.

He is among five men to be honored.

The other four who will be awarded honorary degrees:

William R. Hewlett, electronics engineer, inventor and co-founder of Hewlett-Packard Co., Palo Alto; Donald H. McLaughlin, president of Homestake Mining Co.; George E. Osborne, for 35 years a Stanford professor of law and now on the Hastings College of the Law faculty, and Raymond J. Sontag, emeritus-professor of history at the University of California.

Voiceprints Lead To Watts Suspect's Arson Charges

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An 18-year-old Negro youth, trapped by voiceprints, has been indicted by the county grand jury on four counts of arson at four stores burned during race riots in Watts last August.

Edward Lee King, indicted yesterday, was arrested after voiceprints were taken during a television interview last fall.

In the interview, an unidentified youth told of burning "roughly between five and seven" stores. Police said a recording of King's voice was made on Jan. 28 and given to physicist Lawrence G. Kersta, inventor of the voiceprint identification system.

Kersta matched King's voice with that of the unidentified youth, and the identification plus the testimony of 20 witnesses formed the basis for the indictment.

King was accused of burning two drug stores, a liquor store and a furniture store. He was placed in custody of the California Youth Authority and bail was set at $10,000.

August Draft Call For 32,600

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department announced today it has placed a draft call for 32,600 men in August.

This figure is considerably above the levels asked for the other summer months. The Pentagon asked the Selective Service to provide 15,000 men in June—lowest of the year — and 26,500 in July.

All inductees called in August will be assigned to the Army. The Navy, Marine Corps and Air Force sought no men.

School Officials' Gavel Goes To Milton Cohen

Milton S. Cohen, superintendent of the Larkspur School District, was installed as president of the Marin Assn. of School Administrators yesterday in San Rafael.

James Bunker, superintendent of the Novato School District, was elected program chairman for the 1966-67 school year. Howard Browse, superintendent of the West Marin School District, was elected secretary-treasurer.

The association honored Homer Sisk, retiring superintendent of the Fairfax School district, with a gift.

Cohen named three other superintendents to head committees. Chester Carlisle of the Tamalpais High School District was named to head the health committee, Dennie Willis of the Dixie School District will head the legislative committee, and Robert McConnell of the Mill Valley School District will head the special education committee.

The group approved re-adoption of the present county course of study for use next year, and discussed plans to meet with the Marin County School Boards Assn. at least three times in the coming year.

One-Week Delay In Gordon Trial

Trial of Donald J. Gordon, charged with embezzling $90,000 from a Mill Valley man's paper company in San Francisco, was postponed yesterday to next Wednesday in the Superior Court of Judge Francis McCarty.

Gordon, who is known by several names, is listed in court records as Bertram M. Deaner. He is accused of taking money from the now-defunct Bonestell and Co., owned by Daniel K. Beswick of 35 Elaine Avenue, Mill Valley.

He disappeared in September, as did the funds. He was picked up March 18 in Cleveland by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Strep Infections Top County Disease List

Streptococcus infections headed the list of communicable diseases reported in Marin County last week, with 51 cases reported in the county, of which 36 were in Novato and 10 in San Rafael.

Seven cases of measles were reported, with three in San Rafael. Four cases of mumps were reported, all in San Rafael. One case of salmonella food poisoning was reported in Fairfax.

Coast Animals, Plants

Alfonzo Molina of Lagunitas, instructor at College of Marin, will speak on "Animals and Plants of the Central California Coast" at a Marin Audubon Society meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Civic Center.

Johncock Speeds At Wrong Place

CICERO, Ind. (AP) — Gordon Johncock of Hastings, Mich., who finished fourth in the Memorial Day Indianapolis 500-mile race, has paid a $33 fine for speeding.

Mrs. Agnes Mitchell, a justice of the peace here, said yesterday she received a check from Johncock for the $14.75 fine and $18.25 in court costs.

State police stopped Johncock May 21 on U.S. 31 for speeding 90 miles an hour in a 65 m.p.h. zone.

Johncock won $26,381 in the 500.

EX-TRUJILLO AIDE AHEAD

Well-wishers in Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic, greeted conservative presidential candidate Joaquin Balaguer (left of hat) yesterday as he stood in line to vote in the nation's second free election in 40 years. Incomplete returns today gave Balaguer a commanding lead over former president Juan Bosch. Experts said it was a result of Dominicans being tired of the unrest which led to intervention by U.S. and Latin American troops last year. (UPI Telephoto)

Ets-Hokin Calls Plan For Bridge 'Archaic'

Golden Gate Bridge District directors are attempting "to jam through archaic alteration plans for a second deck," Ross industrialist Louis Ets-Hokin charged today.

Ets-Hokin was referring to a recommendation that the bridge district accept the second-deck plans submitted by Ammann and Whitney of New York. This plan calls for four lanes on the lower deck, two lanes in each direction, or all four lanes in one direction during peak hours.

"This plan will leave two-way traffic on each deck, thus completely abandoning the unanimous doctrine of modern highway engineering that the direction of traffic on highways must be 100 per cent substantially divided, either horizontally or vertically," said Ets-Hokin.

Bridge directors, meeting in San Francisco yesterday, declared that they have not decided as yet on the Ammann and Whitney plan as opposed to the Tudor Engineering plan. The Tudor proposal calls for five lanes on each deck, and each deck one way.

The next step toward double-decking the bridge will be taken at a meeting on June 23 at the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco. Rival engineering consultants will explain their second-deck designs, and bridge engineer Arthur C. Jenkins will report on future traffic and revenue projections.

Directors Dan London and Ben K. Lerer made it plain yesterday that "financial and all other factors" must be considered before adopting any design. Finance chairman William D. Hadeler said, "We still don't know whether it'll cost $20 million or $50 million."

Norman C. Raab, representing Tudor, promised to have a "reasonably close" cost estimate of Tudor's design for a second deck by June 23. Ammann & Whitney also was invited to submit its estimates.

Jenkins said he would have projections of traffic and net revenues ready by the June 23 meeting. These would look ahead to 1971 and to 1980, and "will be based both on continuing present tolls, and on nominal increases in commute rates," said Jenkins.

General Manager James Adam praised the second deck as the only financially and politically feasible solution to Marin's commute traffic woes. Adam said there is a good prospect the second deck can be self-financed and predicted it could be ready in far less than half the time required for a second crossing.

Michigan Has School Strike By Teachers

DETROIT (UPI) —Teachers launched a school boycott in three Detroit suburbs and Flint, Mich., today, defying a state antistrike law. Picket lines went up at 94 schools.

The mass walkout threw classes for an estimated 60,000 students into chaos. Children milled uncertainly outside the school buildings as their teachers paraded, carrying placards demanding higher pay.

Some teachers crossed the picket lines and reported for work. But a union spokesman said about 75 per cent of the 905 teachers in the three suburban Detroit districts were following the militant strike call despite pleas from Gov. George Romney.

In Flint, an industrial city of about 200,000 population 50 miles north of here, teachers drove through town in a militant motorcade, then began picketing the city's 54 public schools.

How do you know you're getting the truth out of Viet Nam?

Would you believe a Pulitzer Prize winner?

Would you believe three?

1964 MALCOLM BROWNE—THE AP

1965 HORST FAAS—THE AP

1966 PETER ARNETT—THE AP

In a war as complex, scattered and confused as the current military and political struggle in Viet Nam, it's difficult to separate hard facts from wishful thinking—or reality from well-intentioned propaganda. How do you know you're getting the truth fully and factually? Because this newspaper, as a member of The Associated Press, is getting the news from a remarkable AP team of reporters and photographers in Viet Nam. For three consecutive years, a member of this team has been singled out for the highest honor in journalism: The Pulitzer Prize. In 1964, it went to AP special-assignment writer, Malcolm Browne. In 1965, Horst Faas won. And this year, war correspondent Peter Arnett carried off the prize. All three have been part of a large contingent of courageous and skill ful AP men covering the war daily from every angle. As fast as they tell us what's happening, we tell you. And you can believe it.

Everything that's going on, goes into our newspaper. That's why you get so much out of it.

Drain Plan Offered For East Larkspur

City Engineer Beverly J. Whitlow last night reported to the Larkspur City Council that he has a plan to reclaim flood-plagued industrial land east of Highway 101 without excessive filling, but it would cost property owners there $276,315.

Whitlow's study and plan were financed jointly by the city and owners of the 32 parcels in the area, seeking an alternative to filling to the nine-foot level required by the city's fill ordinance.

Whitlow's plan calls for a system of drains, all leading to a pumping station which would remove the water from the area. It also calls for improvement of streets.

Whitlow recommended that property owners pay for the improvements through an assessment district.

"The cost is high," he said, "But the cost for this plan will inevitably be less than the cost of filling the land to meet the city's present requirements."

Councilmen set a special meeting on the plan for June 8 and asked that all property owners in the area be present. If owners of 60 per cent of the land agree to the plan, they will form an assessment district.

The council postponed until after this discussion a request by George Bertram that he be allowed a variance to build on land at a six foot level and a request for a fill permit by Niels Schultz Jr.

The Larkspur City Council Also:

1. Adopted five ordinances which delegate health and safety matters to the county, prohibit depositing certain materials in the sewage system, designate the city manager as director of civil defense and disaster, create a hotel and motel tax, and set a uniform traffic control ordinance.
2. Passed a resolution authorizing condemnation proceedings for the Northwestern Pacific right of way to make way of a future street.
3. Agreed to maintain landscaping under the Greenbrae overpass.
4. Agreed that the Tamalpais High School District can pay $10,300 for a city contract to redesign the Redwood High School parking lot and entrance in connection with extension of Doherty Drive.
5. Held until July 6 reconsideration of denial of rezoning from single family to apartment residential on two lots and two small parcels at Cane and Holcomb Streets.
6. Approved the final map of the Meadows subdivision.
7. Passed a resolution asking the county to exclude Larkspur from the county tax levy on structural fire protection.
8. Rejected bids of $7,971 and $10,494 from Giampolini and Co. and Kunst painting contractors for painting of City Hall and the main fire house. The bids were over the budgeted amount of about $6,000 for the project, according to City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst, and other contractors said they did not see advertisements calling for bids and would like an opportunity to bid.
9. Approved a Chamber of Commerce plan to install trees in planters along Magnolia Avenue in the downtown area.

Councilman Earl J. O'Grady was absent.

Someone Tries To Burn Museum

Someone tried to set fire today to the San Rafael Volunteer Firemen's Assn.'s unfinished Gertsle Park museum.

Firemen were called at 11:25 a.m. and found a small fire in the structure in a corner of Gerstle Park, which is being built to house antique fire equipment from the days of the volunteer department. Battalion Chief Robert H. Rogers said there was evidence of arson.

The blaze was extinguished with slight damage to timbers of the partially completed structure.

Larkspur Proposed Budget Up, But Tax Cut Possible

Larkspur city councilmen last night received copies of a budget proposal for fiscal 1967 which would reduce the city's property tax rate by eight cents, from $1.99 to $1.91 per $100 assessed valuation.

The budget, prepared by former City Mgr. Ronald E. Piper, calls for expenditures of $641,465 in the next fiscal year, as compared to $625,012 for this year.

According to Piper's figures, the city's total assessed valuation has increased from the $17,727,290 on which this year's property tax rate was based, to $19,798,000 to allow a rate reduction next year.

No comment was made on the budget last night and Piper was not present to make any explanation. The council set its first budget hearing for June 21 at 7:30 p.m. in council chambers, when Piper will be present.

New City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst said he just received his copy of the budget as well and will have to study before making any comment.

Councilman Neil R. Brixon said he gathers that most of the men to man a new engine for will go for three additional fire-the Greenbrae fire station.

Zen Diet Food Seizure Told

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration announced today seizure of a quantity of foodstuffs allegedly used in "Zen macrobiotic" diets and said the diets have caused death by starvation.

FDA said the seizure took place last night at the Ohsawa Foundation Inc., in New York, under federal court orders. Promotional books and pamphlets were also seized.

The agency said the foods are harmless in themselves but the diets are dangerous.

Christopher Repeats Message: 'Only I Can Beat Brown In Fall'

REDDING (AP) — George Christopher campaigned from the redwoods through the Central Valley today, repeating this message: "I am the only Republican who can win in the fall."

A whirlwind two-day air tour that started in San Francisco yesterday took the candidate for the Republican nomination for governor to 14 cities from Eureka to Bakersfield.

"Maybe the time has come for me to take off my gloves," the former mayor of San Francisco told one campaign meeting as he launched attacks on Republican rival Ronald Reagan and Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

Christopher charged that followers of both Brown and Reagan had mounted a "scurrilous, dirty, sordid" campaign against him.

He said Brown "dredged and he dredged and he dredged and came up with a milk case of 28 years ago" to start what Christopher called a "smear" campaign. And he charged that Reagan had taken the same tack while "protesting piously" that he had not violated the GOP state chairman's "11th commandment" barring attacks by Republicans on fellow party members.

"This 11th commandment is a two-way street," he said. "I've been traveling a one-way street long enough."

Christopher acknowledged that he was trailing Reagan in polls for the GOP nomination, but pointed to polls showing that he had a commanding lead over Brown in a two-party contest.

"A vote for me, George Christopher, next Tuesday means a fighting, vigorous, victorious Republican campaign and a new revitalized popular Republican Party," he said on a telecast aired in six cities.

"A vote for anybody else, whether it is Bill Patrick, Warren Dorn, or Ronald Reagan, is a vote for defeat of the Republicans and a vote for another four years of Pat Brown," he said.

He said the same Republican conservatives who backed former Senator Barry Goldwater for president in 1964 were backing Reagan and he asserted that they were more concerned with nominating their man in the primary than with winning the general election.

"Aren't we tired of giving the Democrats a victory in June instead of our winning in November?" he asked.

Christopher renewed his charge that Brown's campaign staff had supplied materials for columns written by Drew Pearson about the prosecution of Christopher 28 years for violating state milk control laws.

He said literature about the milk law violations was being mailed anonymously from Sacramento and Beverly Hills in envelopes which also contained Reagan campaign literature.

Christopher pleaded guilty in 1940 to selling milk below the price set by the state milk control act.

Change In Command

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Johnson announced today the retirement of Gen. John K. Waters as commander in chief, U.S. Army, Pacific, on Sept. 1, and the selection of Gen. Dwight E. Beach to replace him.

Robber Killed In Hold-Up Try In Liquor Store

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — One man was fatally shot today and a second escaped in an attempted robbery of Sally's Liquors on Ocean Avenue.

Owner Obbie Sally, 46, said two men entered around 1 a.m. and asked for liquor. When he turned his back, one drew a gun, and demanded:

"Give me your money."

Sally, a former special policeman, grabbed the gunman's arm and they fought for the weapon.

Sally then leaped over the counter and grabbed his own .38 caliber revolver. He fired twice into the ceiling and twice at the men.

Roy J. Poole, 27, a house painter and father of three, was struck in the head. He died six hours later.

Poole's accomplice escaped in a car occupied by two women.

Fall Hurts Worker

Robert Huntziker, 19, of Olema Road, Bolinas, was treated for hip bruises at Marin General Hospital yesterday after he reportedly fell off a loading platform at Ways and Means Inc., industrial center building, Marinship, at 3:42 p.m.

Reagan Disclaims Attacks On GOP Primary Opponents

STOCKTON (AP) — Ronald Reagan—under heavy fire from George Christopher — promised today he won't fight back.

Instead, he pledged to aim his campaign for the Republican nomination for governor at Democratic Gov. Brown.

"I promise I will not say anything to use as ammunition against other Republicans and will keep that promise," he told between 1,400 and 1,500 enthusiastic supporters at the San Joaquin County Fairgrounds last night.

Nevertheless, the smiling film star didn't completely turn the other cheek to his main rival for the GOP nomination. He referred to him at a news conference as he began a 17-stop, three-day tour of Northern California where Christopher claims heavy support.

Reagan was asked about Christopher's charge that he was attacking the former San Francisco mayor through "henchmen, John Bircher's and radical rightists."

Reagan said that if Christopher had asked him for an answer before publicly condemning him, he would have assured him "none of my people" would make such an attack.

"Instead, he went to the press," Reagan told a news conference.

Did Christopher break the California Republican Party's "11th commandment" forbidding primary name calling? "Everyone will have to answer that for himself," replied Reagan, adding that "I've felt a little lonely" in obeying the rule.

In his speech, Reagan kept his party unity promise and talked about farm labor and redwoods.

Aware of his conservation-conscious Northern California audience, he defended his stand on saving the redwoods, criticized by Brown.

Reagan said he favors a North Coast redwood park of about 115,000 acres and noted that private lumber companies have offered to open 216,000 more acres of timberland to the public.

Promising there would be enough trees for all, he said "115,000 acres of trees is a lot of trees to look at."

Lumber companies, he said, are harvesting trees so that cutting does not outstrip growth.

"It doesn't take 1,000 years for a Redwood tree to grow," he said. "These are the fastest growing trees."

South San Franciscan Reports Auto Theft

Theft of a car owned by Woodrow Fitzsimmons of South San Francisco while it was parked in San Rafael was reported to police yesterday by Keith F. Fluever of 1217 Grand Avenue, Apt. 6, San Rafael.

Kluever said he parked the two-tone green 1956 Buick sedan across from 37 Clark Street at 10 p.m. Tuesday. It was gone at 9 a.m. yesterday.

Yorty Challenges Brown On Accepting Anti-Viet Backing

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Democratic gubernatorial hopeful Samuel Yorty and one of his supporters continue to call the Viet Nam war an issue in the California primary campaign—and say Gov. Brown is on the wrong side.

Yorty took dead aim yesterday at the governor, who has been pretty much ignoring his main primary foe and instead attacking Republicans.

The Los Angeles mayor said those who support President Johnson's policies cannot at the same time back the governor, since their policies differ.

"The President needs people who will speak out for him. He doesn't need candidates who will run and hide or speak in a whisper," Yorty stated.

He again attacked Brown's acceptance of an endorsement by the California Democratic Council, which also adopted a resolution critical of Johnson's Viet Nam policy.

Meanwhile, the chairman of the Riverside County Democratic Central Committee endorsed Yorty. James C. Cook said that "unless Sam Yorty is nominated for governor on the Democratic ticket, the Democrats cannot possibly win in November."

Brown, however, went to his home town of San Francisco today and ignored Yorty. Instead, he ridiculed Ronald Reagan, a main contender for the Republican nomination for governor.

Brown called him "the sort of conservative who suspects Christopher Columbus started out with four ships but one sailed over the edge . . . He's sailing a course that's pure Goldwater. The only difference is he's turned out the running lights."

Brown contended Reagan "will spend the entire campaign crying wolf - at - the - door . . . This state is going strong, but he will try to sell you the idea it's going broke."

Another candidate for governor, William Penn Patrick of Tiburon proposed a plan he said would end violence in Negro areas such as Watts.

Patrick, running on the Republican ballot, said "the problem is national in scope and requires a national effort to reach its solution."

One of his suggestions was for a national group to spur economic growth in poor areas, run by Negroes.

The first written records are from the "copper-bronze age" or from 4,000 to 1,200 B.C.

Plaque Recalls Kennedy Visit

BERKELEY (AP)—A 14-by-24 inch bronze plaque has been installed at the University of California Memorial Stadium commemorating the Charter Day speech there on March 23, 1962 by President John F. Kennedy.

The plaque will be dedicated Saturday at commencement ceremonies.

The plaque is on a wall of the north tunnel leading to the stadium, opposite the World War I memorial plaque.

Hospital Says No To Ascherman Plea

Marin Hospital District directors found unanimously last night that Dr. Stanford W. Ascherman "is not professionally competent and worthy in character and professional ethics," and denied his application for medical staff privileges at Marin General Hospital.

Before denying the San Francisco' doctor's long-standing application, the board rejected a request that it hear testimony by two doctors for Dr. Ascherman who did not testify during hearings on the doctor's appeal for admission.

Hearing officer Thomas C. Nelson of San Rafael, who conducted hearings on the doctor's appeal for the hospital district, found against Ascherman and recommended the board deny his application.

Marin Hospital District directors also:

1. Agreed to sign papers entering Marin General Hospital in the Medicare program.

2. Agreed to insurance limits recommended by County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney for the planned mental health center at Marin General.

3. Agreed to a 22 per cent increase in Blue Cross insurance rates for hospital employees and families, after acting administrator Robert Mathews said Marin General will still have lower rates than most Bay Area hospitals.

4. Deputized the hospital's night watchman in case of disturbances caused by the new load on the hospital's emergency room resulting from closing of San Rafael General Hospital.

5. Received from the Babcock Foundation six sets of hospital room furniture, operating room equipment, and a respiration unit which had been on loan to San Rafael General Hospital.

Woman Hurt When Truck Breaks Loose

Mrs. Ella M. Glaesner, 66, of San Anselmo, was injured in a three-vehicle accident caused by an unattended truck that rolled across Highway 101 near Strawberry Point at 7:55 a.m. yesterday.

Mrs. Glaesner, of 251 Butterfield Road, was treated for multiple cuts and bruises in Marin General Hospital.

The refrigerator truck, which had been parked on a shoulder, rolled across the highway into the path of Mrs. Glaesner's northbound car, the California Highway Patrol reported. Her car hit the truck and was in turn hit by a car driven by Hugh J. Broyles, 36, of San Francisco.

The truck driver, Andrew Anderson, 43, of Redwood City, was cited for having a defective emergency brake and for ineffectively setting the brake.

Mineral King Winter Resort Plan Called Tops

BURBANK (UPI)—Walt Disney's Mineral King resort in Tulare County will be the outstanding winter resort in the world, according to project manager Bob Hicks.

Hicks said yesterday that a survey showed the resort, approximately 200 miles north of Los Angeles, would add $57 million to the state's economy within the next 10 years and the figure would soar to $1 billion in 15 years.

Willy Shaeffler, a ski expert hired by Disney, also told newsmen at Walt Disney Studios that Mineral King "will be one of the most modern and efficient ski facilities in the world."

When fully operational the facility will have room for 20,000 skiers at one time and be able to accommodate more than 2.5 million persons annually.

Marin General Loses Another Administrator

Robert Mathews, who was named acting administrator of Marin General Hospital May 20, resigned from that position last night and said he plans to leave the hospital July 5.

Mathews was replacing William W. Turner, who left to manage Mound Park Hospital in St. Petersburg, Fla. Mathews said he will go to work with Turner as assistant administrator there in August. He held the same position at Marin General until Turner left.

Jules Becker, public relations spokesman for Marin Hospital District, said the board expects to announce hiring of a new administrator for the hospital "shortly."

Mathews, who said he will receive a salary "comparable" to his present $13,500 salary at Marin General when he goes to work in Florida, came to the hospital as personnel director in 1961 and was named assistant administrator in Febuary, 1964. He has a master's degree in business administration.

Why Pearce Young should be Elected State Senator for Marin County!

PEARCE YOUNG IS QUALIFIED

Action Plus Experience

Pearce Young, a practicing attorney who chairs the Assembly Criminal Procedure Committee, has pioneered a whole new concept in our laws relating to domestic relations.

AB 2946 which would strengthen courts of Conciliation and develop programs in pre-marital education has been hailed by the Parent and Teachers Association, the California Teachers Association, district attorneys, judges, newspaper and television editorials as a pioneering measure in this neglected field.

Young is one of the few state lawmakers who understands and has taken constructive action in the field of domestic relations. The constructive bills he has introduced have been hallmarks in this battle against divorce and the attendant tragedies of rising welfare rolls and juvenile delinquence.

Young, just this month, was named Chairman of the Governor's Committee on the Family, which is seeking ways to curtail the state's increasing divorce rate.

Marinites have the opportunity of having Pearce Young represent them by voting for Young for the State Senate from Marin, Solano and Napa counties, the new 4th State Senate District.

Boat Channel Boosters Try To Avoid Protests, Election

The Strawberry Recreation District Board last night decided to continue a public hearing on an assessment zone for a waterfront boat channel so that they could talk three property owners out of protesting its formation.

If the protests hold after the public hearings, set for June 15 at 8:15 p.m. in Strawberry Point School, the board would have to hold an election costing $500. "This would be pointless," said Mrs. Patricia M. Gowen, secretary, "since 35 out of 39 registered voters in the zone have already expressed approval."

Residents of Strawberry Drive and Harbor Cove Way could be assessed valuation for maintenance if the zone is formed.

The Strawberry Recreation District Board also:

1. Accepted the resignation of Mrs. Gowen, who had served as secretary since January, 1955, and recommended to the county board of supervisors that Mrs. John J. Linker of 273 Ricardo Road, Strawberry, be appointed to her unexpired term ending in November.

2. Endorsed the proposed county park bond issue after hearing Supervisor Peter H. Behr speak in its behalf.

Nicosia Turkish Area Sealed After Blasts

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Archbishop Makarios' government sealed off the Turkish sector of Nicosia last night, saying this was necessary to check a wave of bombings in the Greek sectors of Cyprus.

Blaming Turkish Cypriots for 14 bombings this year, including two last night, the government banned the movement of all Turks in and out of the Nicosia area where some 40,000 Turkish Cypriots live.

San Franciscan Says Guilty To Stealing

David Ray Sterio, 22, San Francisco, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to petty theft Jan. 19 from Bernard Eugene Kaholokula of San Anselmo, and will be sentenced June 21.

Sterio, originally charged with felony theft, took a motorcycle belonging to Kaholokula from the Sir Francis Drake High School parking lot.

Apartments Variance Gets Sausalito Veto

Sausalito planning commissioners last night unanimously disapproved five variances from the zoning ordinance sought by Sausalito Boat Dock Apartments Inc. for a proposed five-acre apartment complex on the Marinship waterfront.

The applicant sought exceptions from side yard, building height and offstreet parking requirements to build three structures for 269 apartments, with a two and one-fourth acre parking lot.

The plan gave no evidence or reason why there are hardships, physical difficulties or peculiarities to justify the city from deviating from its zoning ordinance, reported chairman Alan D. Bonapart.

The commission granted United Sand and Gravel Co. a permit to continue its sand loading and sales operation on A. G. Schoonmaker Co. property at Bridgeway and Mono streets for one year. Conditions, requested by the commission, are that noise and dust disturbances to be minimized and landscaping planted.

The name Mono is probably a corruption of Monache or Monachi (Chi: tribe or division), the appellation given the Shoshonean Indians by the Miwok and Yokuts Indians. The word Monachi means "fly people" as these Indians lived on the pupae of a fly.

Scranton Vows No More Races

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania said today that he would never again run for president or any other public office.

"I'm not going to run ever again for any public office under any circumstances," he told a news conference.

"That is irrevocable," he declared.

"There still is some speculation that I may run for president in 1968 or sometime in the future. I am not going to run for president in 1968 or ever."

Greyhound Truce Talk Set To Resume Today

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Negotiators were scheduled to resume talks in San Francisco today in hopes of settling the 8-day Greyhound strike which has idled drivers and station employes in 11 states.

A Washington meeting of Greyhound officials, Amalgamated Transit Workers Union representatives and federal mediators was recessed last week after a pension fund dispute was resolved.

Some 40 other contract matters remain in dispute. Mediator Roger Reynolds summoned both sides to discussions this afternoon in the San Francisco offices of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

The strike has idled 4,600 Greyhound employes and 1,500 buses, which normally carry 102,000 passengers daily.

A Supervisor who will care . . . about you! . . .

An Open Letter from your present Supervisor (Byron Leydecker) and the Mayor of San Rafael (C. Paul Bettini) to the First District Voters regarding next Tuesday's Election:

Dear Friends,

Recent events show that Mel Warenback is the best man for the demanding position of county Supervisor. We know him well and we are convinced he will be a good Supervisor.

He understands the challenges and problems confronting Marin County and he has a strong program to meet them.

He is dedicated, practical and knows through long experience how to get things done by working closely with both sides on an issue.

Warenback's presence on the Board would guarantee a continuation of the programs that are so vital to the future of Marin County.

We strongly urge you to vote for Warenback for Supervisor on Tuesday. He's number 100 on the ballot.

Yours sincerely.

Susan Buckley Becomes Bride In San Francisco Ceremony

News of interest in Marin County was the Memorial Day wedding of Susan (Jill) Buckley and Walton Moore Logan at St. Vincent de Paul Catholic church in San Francisco.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Edward Victor Baraty Jr. of Honolulu and the late Mark Arthur Buckley, who lived for many years in Sausalito. Mr. Baraty lived in Sausalito all of his life until the Baratys moved to Honolulu.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Logan of Hillsborough, who came home Friday from the Orient.

Jill recited her vows in the noon ceremony wearing a white linen dress with matching hairbow. Her maid of honor, Mary Helen Hodgins of Honolulu, was attired in green linen. Peter Ashby of Piedmont was best man.

Following the ceremony, a small wedding breakfast was held at the St. Francis Hotel. Mr. and Mrs. Logan will honor the couple at a reception at their home on June 12.

The bride, who has been working for an airline in San Francisco attended the Punahou School in Honolulu, Dominican Convent and Briarcliff.

Her husband was graduated from the Thatcher School and the University of California, where he was a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon. He is a member of the University Club and was elected secretary of The Bachelors this year, resigning from that organization with his marriage. He spent three years with a bank in New York and is now in business in San Francisco.

Carol Finnigan Is Bride Of Gerald D. Gray Of Kentfield

Mission San Rafael Arcangel was the setting on Saturday for the wedding of Carol Anne Finnigan of San Rafael and Gerald Douglas Gray of Kentfield.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Leo Finnigan of San Rafael.

The Rev. Miles Riley officiated for the 2 p.m. ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length gown of white linen trimmed with bands of lace and eyelet.

Preceding the bride down the aisle in gowns of full length pink corded sheaths were Donna DuBain of San Rafael as maid of honor and Anne Mulligan of Kentfield, bridesmaid.

Mark Leroy Gray of Kentfield was best man for his brother and ushering guests to their seats were Stephen Wolf of Greenbrae and Paul Cheetham of San Rafael.

A reception followed the ceremony at Deer Park Villa in Fairfax.

The bride was graduated from Marin Catholic High School and attended San Francisco State College. Barbara Finnigan of San Rafael is her sister and she is the granddaughter of John Finnigan of San Francisco.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Gray of Kentfield, was graduated from Redwood High School and is serving with the U.S. Army in Colorado. He is the brother of Mesdames Robert Gaddino of San Anselmo and Kent MacIver of Ross. Mrs. Leroy Woodhead of Sonoma is his grandmother.

Following a wedding trip to Lake Tahoe, the couple will live in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Improvement Club Will Gather For June Breakfast

Members of the San Rafael Improvement Club will gather at noon Tuesday at the clubhouse for the last meeting of this year, the annual June breakfast. An informal social hour will be held in the garden with Mesdames J. J. Fischer and Sanford McLaughlin presiding.

The highlight will be the installation of officers for the coming year. Mrs. Eldred Hillis, past president, will install the new slate of officers.

Serving with Mrs. Charles L. Tacchi, who will continue for a second year as president, will be Mesdames Ragnar Thaning, first vice president; Albert Walz, second vice president, John Camiccia, corresponding secretary; H. R. Melone, financial secretary; Herbert Walton Jr., treasurer; and Donald Murray, parliamentarian.

Continuing as directors will be Mesdames J. J. Fischer and A. R. Wessell. New directors serving for two years will be Mesdames Claude Bessellieu, Edward Brown, S. J. Cimino, Thomas Geary, Herbert Pratt and G. F. Vander Hoogt.

'Wigs And Wigwams' Theme Of Lucas Valley Guild's Tour

"Wigs and Wigwams" will be the theme on Saturday when the Lucas Valley Guild of Sunny Hills holds its eighth annual house tour.

The tour, to be held from 2 to 5 p.m., will feature homes in the Marinwood and lower and upper Lucas Valley areas.

A wig demonstration will be given between 3:30 and 4 p.m. at the W. T. Lane home on Idylberry Road.

THE J. E. Schreiner home in Marinwood is of particular interest on the tour because the garage has been converted into a large master bedroom and bath and the former living room is now the dining area. The maple furniture in the home has all been constructed by the owner. The pool area is strictly for family fun with a playhouse for children complete with totem pole.

THE J. L. Flood home demonstrates the use of vibrant colors with the living room done in shades of orange, gold and green gold. Conversation pieces are the sculptured rug from Japan and Tiffany lamp which hangs over the round Victorian table.

A CLEVER mixture of periods with a slight emphasis on the Oriental is seen in the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Camp. Antiques and pictures done by Mrs. Camp give the rooms an interesting touch.

PAINTINGS BY California artists are featured in the J. C. Braman home. Mrs. Braman, an artist in her own right, has built her home around her art collection.

Refreshments will be served in the Lane home.

Ticket chairmen are Mesdames Glen Widdows and George Gazulis.

Mill Valley WSCS To Give Playlet

A dramatic interpretation entitled "Bridges in Bixton" will be presented at the June 14 meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church of Mill Valley.

The playlet, under the direction of Mrs. Eugene Alberts, concerns two opposing factions in a small rural community and what happens when they try to "Build Bridges" and come together. Mrs. Alberts will be assisted by several members of the society.

Hostesses for the noon luncheon which will follow the 11 a.m. business meeting will be Mesdames Harold McLean, Jack Shapiro, Warren Patrick, Ray Mefford and Robert Alexander. Mrs. Belman Maddox will lead the devotions.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Iron Your Own Clothes Or Go Without Is A Household Rule

This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush-off.

Send your teen-age questions to YOUTH ASKED FOR IT, care of Helen Help Us! The Independent-Journal.

DEAR GIRLS:

If you react to ironing as our daughters do, this is especially for "putoffy" you.

A Bottel rule is: "Iron your own clothes or go without." As most of you know, this leads to a mad scramble 20 minutes to takeoff time on school mornings, plus multiple reminders (okay then, nagging) through the week. No one but a mother would believe the number of absolutely essential things that must be done "right now" whenever That Word comes up.

Well, all this is changed at the Bottel pad. May it continue so!

I call it "The Female Chatter and Pressing Society." And because of it I actually saw the bottom of my ironing basket again last week. Here's the scoop:

Daughter Kathy and our 16-year-old neighbor Melanie were as usual commiserating and procrastinating about their favorite "hate." They agreed ironing is a breeze if you have someone to talk to . . . but then the non-working someone always suggests something more interesting to do . . .

"Hey," said Melanie, "bring your board and iron and clothes over to my house and we'll both work." Off they marched, loaded to the ears with equipment—and came back two hours later looking like delivery girls for a Chinese laundry.

Next week the "Gab and Get It Done" session will headquarter here, with probably time out for no-cal pop and high-cal cookies.

Unless our girls run out of conversation (and that's not likely) the ironing problem may be licked at two Sacramento homes. And the idea is so good I had to pass it on. Hope it works for you. —H.

DEAR HELEN:

There are four teen-agers in my school who have a ouija board (pronounced wee-gee). At first it was all for laughs, but there are boys and girls who turn to this instrument and believe what it says, when it moves around to numbers and spells out words. (It DOES move by itself when you or several of you lightly touch the ouija.)

I don't believe in this, Helen, and I wish no one else did. There is one girl who is actually afraid to ask it questions. I must admit that some of the answers are almost convincing, but I know it's just the law of coincidence.

Please, Helen, tell them there's nothing to it, and it's not a fortune teller. I'm relying on your help.—ALMOST CONVINCED

DEAR A. C.:

No ordinary board can tell fortunes or foretell the future—and a ouija is nothing more than a plain board with numbers and letters printed on it.

The "pointer" moves because of subconscious pressure from players, and it "guesses" right sometimes either because one player knows the answer or because the law of averages is at work.

Ouijas are fun, but when you begin to take them seriously, they should be chopped up for firewood.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

"C. F." thinks SHE'S got it bad! Consider yourself lucky, C. I've been going with this boy over a year. He's 17, I'm 16. In all that time, he's held my hand twice! This arrangement isn't ideal, but I'm happy—he's a wonderful guy and my folks think he's the most. I'm sure that some day I'll be more than —A HAPPY AND GRATEFUL PAL

DEAR H AND GP:

You will, you will!—H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of Independent-Journal.

Alumnae Officer To Attend Meet

Mrs. Roy Thompson of San Rafael, president of Province XII, will leave June 23 for Victoria, B.C., Canada, where she will attend the Alpha Gamma Delta convention at the Empress Hotel.

Six hundred delegates and members are expected at the meeting, including undergraduate delegates from the 94 undergraduate chapters in the United States and Canada.

Mrs. Thompson has been active in Alpha Gamma Delta work for several years, serving as editor and vice president for the alumnae.

Petticoat Derby Scheduled June 12

Mesdames Paul Halula of Greenbrae and Evan Hirsch of Strawberry are Marin chairmen for the Petticoat Auto Derby to be held in the Stonestown parking area at 1 p.m. on June 12. KABL radio is sponsoring the event in which top women drivers will compete.

Pinking Seams

When sewing cotton corduroy, finish seams by pinking. This prevents fabric from shedding nap.

CONVENTION PLANS

Looking ahead to the state convention of the California Federation of Women's Clubs at yesterday's salad luncheon of the Larkspur Women's Club are, front row, from left, Mesdames Frank Schroeder, Albert Heston and Arthur Luchetti, president-elect of the Golden Gate District, and back row, from left, Mesdames Willis Stewart, president of the Fairfax Women's Club; George Entwistle of the Corte Madera Improvement Club, and Mark Lott, president of the Tamalpais Centre Women's Club. Brenda Lee Sledge To Marry Larry R. Jobe In September

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon S. Sledge of San Rafael are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Brenda Lee, to Larry Ray Jobe of South San Francisco.

The bride-elect is the sister of Steven and Joey Sledge and Mrs. Darrel Burnett of San Rafael. Mrs. Allie Green of Daly City is her grandmother. She was graduated from San Rafael High School.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Jobe of San Francisco. He was graduated from South San Francisco High School.

The wedding will take place on Sept. 3 at the First Presbyterian Church in San Rafael.

BRENDA SLEDGE

Communication Is Topic For Church Women

In a coffee-house atmosphere, Sleepy Hollow Presbyterian Church women and their friends will participate in a morning of self-discovery and communication will begin at 9:15 on Wednesday.

The group will be led in exploration by Connie Lashbrook of Terra Linda using the theme "Genesis II." Mrs. Lashbrook is a specialist in Christian education and child development and brings a variety of creative arts and experiences to each group with which she works.

The mother of three children, Mrs. Lashbrook is Director of Youth Ministry at the Presidio in San Francisco and is enrolled for a B. D. degree at the San Francisco Theological Seminary.

Committee chairmen for the day are Mesdames Leonard Trinterud, Joseph Alderson, and David Egan. Reservations co-chairmen are Mesdames James Smith and Cleon McNichol.

LIKE NURSES

Women In Fashion Set Current Trends

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — What women in the fashion industry wear is often the wave of what's ahead for the rest of the nation's females.

The current trend in the showrooms of New York manufacturers of ready-to-wear fashions is to low-heeled shoes, above-knee skirts and near-white or white stockings.

"They all look like a bunch of nurses," observed one showroom veteran as she looked at all the pale clad legs.

Many of them—the buyers in New York to purchase fall and winter apparel for their stores, the reporters covering the previews, and the socialites who occupy front row seats at the showings—also could pass for modern Pilgrims. Never have so many big, square buckles decorated the fronts of so many low-heeled pumps.

THE PILGRIM pump is almost a uniform. I've spotted it most frequently in black patent versions with black buckles.

Runners-up in the shoe style division are low-heeled T-strap sandals, and low-heeled pumps —a combination of leather base with see-through plactic vamp. The stiletto heel? If you're with it, trade 'em in.

PATTERNED hosiery moved right from winter to the summer scene, but in much lighter weight versions. The current favorites, according to my showroom survey, are the off-white sheers and the patterned ones with a diagonal mesh in white.

As the New York manufacturers moved into the third concentrated week of showing their new collections, these other trends of what's in, what's out were noted.

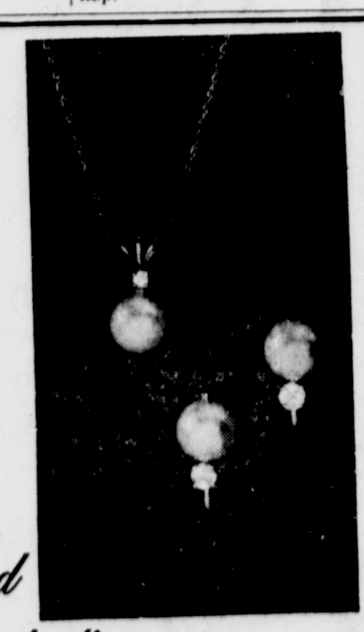
The brunette model is in, overwhelmingly. Blondes are certainly outnumbered. In most instances, the models have let their hair grow to shoulder length and below, wearing it as straight as if they'de taken a tip from teen-agers and ironed out any curl.

IF THEY WEAR it short, the rule still is straight, with bangs almost to the eyebrows.

Models at the Maurice Rentner show indicated what's new with sunglasses. Wear them pushed back on the brow to double as bandeaus. You've seen them that way in photographs of Mrs. John F. Kennedy.

STILL "IN" is the model's traditional walk, hips forward, the rest of the body concave. Notable exceptions were again at the Rentner show, where designer Bill Blass had selected girls who looked more like Radcliffe juniors than sophisticated New Yorkers earning $40 and $50 an hour to show clothes.

Their walk resembled a gangling lope and a buyer sitting next to me at Rentner's remarked, "That one walks like a Vassar girl who just got off her horse."



Pearl and Diamond Punctuation

Dangle a poised cultured pearl-with-diamond pendant over fashion's new necklines. In 14K white gold setting, $42.50. Lend an ear to understated elegance with our lustrous pearl-with-diamond earrings. Persistent flatterers, $125.

The Welcome Wagon Club of Marin will hold its annual salad luncheon meeting on June 14 at Christ the Victor Lutheran Church in Fairfax.

A social hour at 11 a.m. will be followed by luncheon. Mrs. William E. Ward, handwriting analyst, will present the program. Mesdames Jack Bennett and Arthur Johnston are in charge of reservations.

Suzanne Zahrt Is Bride Of Timothy Murphy Of Hayward

The Episcopal Church In Ignacio was the setting on Saturday for the wedding of Suzanne Gail Rogers Zahrt, daughter of Mrs. Sherman Bazell of San Anselmo and Walter Zahrt of San Francisco, to Timothy Charles Murphy of Hayward.

The Rev. Charles B. Gompertz performed the double ring ceremony in which Suzanne was given in marriage by her father. She wore a two piece dress of white peau de soie and lace for the 11 a.m. rite.

Barbara Zahrt of San Anselmo, acting as her sister's maid of honor, wore a pink silk and taffeta dress. Serving as best man was Donald C. Herbert of Larkspur and Harvey Sachs of San Rafael ushered.

Following a church reception, the couple traveled to Lake Tahoe, Los Angeles and San Diego. They will make their home in Hayward.

Suzanne, who is employed at Montgomery Ward and Co. in Corte Madera, was graduated from Sir Francis Drake High School and attended College of Marin. She is the sister of Walter Zahrt III of San Anselmo.

Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Murphy of Chula Vista and is the brother of Mrs. Dana Hutchins of Chula Vista and Frances Murphy of San Diego.

A chief investigator for Montgomery Ward and Co., Timothy attended Southwestern College in San Diego.

San Quentin Sergeant Retires, Leaves Behind 'Friends' On Row

By JOHN F. KEARNEY

Now he is retired at the age of 70, gently spoken James G. Hill would like nothing more than to pay an occasional return visit and chat to his old friends.

But as he counts among those friends murderers condemned to the gas chamber, it is unlikely Hill will ever get his wish. It makes him sad.

"That is something I'd like to do now and again, but rules are rules and you have to abide by them," said the white-haired former correctional officer from San Quentin.

For 10 years he was on duty on Death Row. He retired as sergeant of the midnight to 8 a.m. shift—the first watch—yesterday.

JAMES G. HILL
He'll miss his friends

Moving among the condemned men in the small hours of the morning, day after day, was a job he liked.

"My first duty was to ensure there was no trouble on my shift," he said. "After that consideration, I liked to think of those men as my friends.

"I suppose with that sort of job, a man gets to be something of a philosopher. Despite what some people think, condemned men have as much right to a kind word and friendship as anyone."

On the job, Hill was well liked by fellow officers and prisoners alike. "When I told the men I was to retire that morning, more than one of them said they would be sorry to see me go.

"Ten years is a long time and I felt sorry to leave the place too. I grew to know the men and they knew me."

A fellow correctional officer described Hill as "a quiet soft-spoken gentleman—the very opposite of the image of a prison officer."

Hill explained: "Like everything else, the image of the prison officer has altered over the years, in many cases for the better. Their whole attitude has changed since the old days. They are finer men."

He spent yesterday getting used to his "freedom" at his San Francisco home where he lives with his wife, Ruth.

But he admits he will never forget Death Row, San Quentin. "Perhaps, one day," he said "I will pay a visit if someone waives the rules. They are very strict about such things."

Ramsey Heads San Quentin State Employees' Chapter

H. L. Ramsey will be installed as president of the San Quentin chapter of the California State Employees Assn. at the chapter's annual service award dinner at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Green Mill Inn, north of Petaluma.

Other officers to be installed are S. T. Hardiman, vice-president; Mrs. M. S. Mecabe, secretary, and M. F. Carr, treasurer. Delegates to the CSEA general council are J. R. O'Brien, S. T. Hardiman and H. F. Crowell.

Retirement certificates will be presented to Wallace J. Miller, George G. Conway, Lot Vickers, Charles T. Cobb, Dix C. Garland, Clemens J. Rennier, Frances W. McNeil, George W. Irwin, Iser Luria Freund, Wallace B. Henley, Laura E. Everett, Clyde S. Everett, and Edmund F. Bolt.

In addition to the retirement certificates, 43 service award pins will be presented.

Jury Finds Youth Guilty Of Car Theft

A Marin Superior Court jury yesterday found Larry Cleary Walker, 18, guilty of car theft last Dec. 19 from Willie Stiltner, 278 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Fairfax.

Walker will be sentenced at 9:30 a.m. June 24.

Walker, of 31 Cole Drive, Marin City, was arrested following an 80-mile-an-hour chase by officers which started in Fairfax and ended when the stolen vehicle he was driving plunged into near-freezing Corte Madera Creek at Greenbrae.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Gary Thomas prosecuted. Harold J. Truett, assistant public defender, represented the defendant. Trial, before visiting Judge Richard Chamberlain, began Tuesday.

Walker still faces a felony charge of burglary of the home of Mrs. Frances M. Staub, 30 Glenn Drive, Mill Valley, on May 16. Co-defendant is William Lloyd Bland, also 18, of 99 Cole Drive, Marin City. Both were bound over to Marin Superior Court following a preliminary hearing in Marin Municipal Court Tuesday.

Tam Valley Election

Election of officers will be held by the Tamalpais Valley Improvement Club at a meeting at 8:30 p.m. today at the Community Church, Ash and Marin streets, president Joe Allen said today.

Cypriot Ship Floods, Sinks

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Cypriot freighter Aktor sank 800 miles southwest of here, but all 27 persons aboard were rescued, says the U.S. Coast Guard.

The 441-foot ship, thought to be taking sugar to the Orient, began flooding Tuesday for no known reason. A Coast Guard plane dropped pumps, but they were unable to stop the flooding, and the ship sank yesterday.

The U.S. Freighter Kendall Fish and the cargo ship Pioneer Main picked up the Aktor's crew. They were expected in San Diego tomorrow.

Telegraphers Extend Contract

WASHINGTO N(AP) — Negotiators reported today that Western Union Telegraph Co. and the AFL-CIO Commercial Telegraphers Union have agreed to extend to midnight, June 7 the contract whose expiration led to a four-hour nationwide walkout yesterday.

Under the extension agreement any wage increases and other benefits finally negotiated will be retroactive to midnight, May 31 when the old pact ran out.

All offices of the company were reported back in operation today, including Albany, N.Y., where the workers had threatened yesterday to stay out until a new contract was arranged.

Youth Arraigned For Marijuana

Martin Joseph Novella, 19, one of three San Francisco youths arrested Friday night by Sausalito police, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a felony charge of possession of marijuana.

Plea entry was scheduled by Judge Leonard A. Thomas for 1:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Novella, Donald Isaac Gomez, 21, and Anthony Marsala, 19, were arrested after police found what appeared to be two partially smoked marijuana cigarettes in their car.

Gomez pleaded guilty yesterday to possession of an open container of beer and is to be sentenced at 3 p.m. June 17. No complaint was issued against Marsala.

Congressmen Say Paper Can Foul Up Draft

WASHINGTON (AP) —House Republicans seeking a congressional investigation of the draft claimed today some youths are inducted simply "because their papers are in hand."

"It is possible," 24 Republicans said in the last of six statements about the draft, "for young men to be drafted for possible combat in Viet Nam because their papers are in hand while the papers for men even more eligible for the draft are 'lost' in a bureaucratic maze."

The Republican group is demanding a full-scale review of the draft.

The GOP statement cited a Selective Service report of last February and said it showed that:

73 per cent of the potential draftees in the 1A pool had not been fully examined.

118,000 men classified 1A had not even been ordered for examination.

280,000 men in the 1A pool were not available for the draft because their papers were stalled between local draft boards and Army induction centers.

The Republicans urged that computer and data-processing equipment be provided for the Selective Service system.

But they cautioned that they were not advocating a decentralized system that would be unable to consider the personal problems of each potential draftee.

Another Republican, Sen. Jacob K. Javits of New York, described the current draft system as a crazy quilt of regulations. He proposed legislation aimed at a universal national service requirement for all men under 35.

LARKSPUR MAKES THREAT ON CREEK

Councilmen Say County Fails To Live Up To Promises On Flood Control District

By STEPHEN COOK

Larkspur City councilmen last night threatened to pull their city out of the Corte Madera Creek Flood Control District unless the county begins to meet promises made before the district was formed.

"I think maybe we should just drop out of the district and let all these little problems clear themselves up," said Councilman Neil R. Brixon.

"We've signed nothing agreeing to participate in the zone. All they have is a letter from former City Mgr. Ronald Piper," said Mayor Vaughn Marker. "If they can't live up to their representations, then I'd say let them go someplace else."

These comments were triggered by a report from City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst that the state lands commission will consider extending leases to 22 arks around the Bon Air Bridge for another year when it meets July 12 in Sacramento.

Bathurst reported that if the leases are extended for the maximum of one year allowable by the flood district, the city will have to pay $12,000 for a new sewer line to serve the arks for that one year.

All councilmen agreed they will not vote funds to replace the line.

Bathurst said the lands commission will hear a report from the county on July 12 as to the feasibility of keeping the present line in operation another year. Brixon said, however, that the Ross Valley Sanitary District has complained so much salt water is entering the line that it is replaced.

"It is not reasonable to expect the taxpayers of Larkspur to foot the bill for those arks, especially since they have already been given an eviction notice," said Brixon.

Discussion of the problem with the arks led to renewed discussion of the county's proposed 20-cent tax rate for the flood control zone. Larkspur councilmen said the county promised the rate would not go above five cents per $100 assessed valuation.

"We'll have no part of their 20 cents," Marker said.

"Nothing more than five cents," Brixon added, "and I think the Corte Madera Council feels the same way."

"This town is not the primary beneficiary of the flood control project anyway," said Marker.

Sausalito Council Hears Conflicting Salary Views

Employees' salaries were discussed last night by Sausalito city councilmen in a budget session but no action was taken.

Fire Capt. Ralph K. Pedersen, speaking for firemen, suggested that the increase be two and one-half per cent plus added payments for dependents' health insurance, as recommended for most employees by City Mgr. Charles A. Brown, or else a straight five per cent increase.

John Rocca, speaking for public works department employees, told the council he believes salaries should go up as much as 15 per cent more.

The council will hear from police department representatives later, Finance Chairman Jan Paul Dyk reported.

The council tentatively agreed to increase capital improvements in the recreation commission budget from $8,000 to $9,000.

It was agreed to earmark $2,000 for planting on Johnson Street.

The city council plans to meet again at 10:30 a.m. Saturday to interview candidates for chief of police, and will meet on Monday evening for a field trip in connection with the 1967 budget.

Music Chest's Tickets Offered Through Mail

Mail subscriptions to the summer concert season of the Marin Music Chest will be available until June 15.

The group's concert season opens June 19 with bass-baritone William Warfield performing. On July 31, a company of 32 singers, dancers and musicians from Mexico, the "Fiesta Mexicana," will present a program depicting 600 years of Mexican culture.

On August 14, the piano-duet team Josette and Yvette Roman will perform, and on Sept. 11 the season will close with a recital by mezzo-soprano Jennie Tourel. All four performances are at 3 p.m. in Forest Meadows, Dominican College in San Rafael.

Tickets can be obtained by writing Marin Music Chest, Box 468, Ross.

Paintings and drawings by Skip Melcher will be on display at the Tides Book Shop, 749 Bridgeway, Sausalito, through July. The shop is open daily from 10 a.m. to 11 p.m.

Music Hall Satire Next For Theater

Joan Littlewood's musical satire "Oh What a Lovely War" opens at 8:30 p.m. July 15 at the Festival Theatre in San Anselmo.

The theater's resident professional acting company will perform the musical in an English music hall style and setting, under the direction of Robert Adler.

The show will be performed five nights weekly through August. Wednesday through Saturday performances will start at 8:30 p.m., and those on Sunday will be at 7:30 p.m.

The production will be offered to high school summer students as part of the educational drama conference program at the theater.

Museum Reports Films Schedule

Film programs to be shown at the Louise A. Boyd Natural Science Museum in San Rafael at 1:30 p.m. each Saturday through July 9 were announced today.

Saturday, the films "Big Horn Sheep of Death Valley" and "Sea Otter" will be shown. The films scheduled for June 11 are "California Deer Unlimited" and "Grunion Story." On June 18, "Rainbow Hatcheries" and "High Jumpers" will be shown. "Eruptions of Kilauea" and "National Parks—Nature's Last Frontier" will be shown June 25. On July 2, "Let's Talk About Wildlife" and "Our National Parks—Our American Heritage" will be shown. "Wilderness of Denali" will be shown July 9.

The films are free.

Tam Drama Workshop For Summer

The Tamalpais High School fine arts department, cooperating with the Student Body Assn., will conduct three summer workshop classes in performing arts.

The drama, dance and music workshops will each apply to the summer musical production, "The King and I."

Drama teacher Dan Caldwell will head the drama workshop. Robert Greenwood, fine arts department chairman, will present techniques in lighting, make-up, stagecraft, costuming, diction and interpretation. Mrs. June Watanabe, who danced professionally in the movie version of "The King and I," will head the dance workshop.

Students from outside the Tamalpais High School attendance area will be allowed to participate. There will no fee. Classes will run eight weeks, from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Workshops will start June 20.

Auditions for "The King and I" plus a play, (either "The World of Shalom Aleichem" or "The Lady Is Not for Burning") will be held June 20 and 21.

11 Seek Nod For Governor

Eleven men, six Democrats and five Republicans, want to be governor of California for the next four years.

Here are the candidates, with a brief background on each:

DEMOCRATS

DALE ALEXANDER, 46, of Hollywood, president of a book publishing firm. He backs fluoridated water, night horse-racing, and perhaps a state lottery.

EDMUND G. (PAT) BROWN, 61, governor of California since 1958, seeking his third term. He was six years district attorney for San Francisco, eight years state attorney general. He beat William F. Knowland for the governorship in 1958 and Richard M. Nixon in 1962.

WALLACE JAMES DUFFY, 41, high school teacher in El Segundo, wants tough laws to combat crime. He decries "kid glove" treatment of repeat offenders, wants strict welfare restrictions, and is "fed up" with student demonstrations.

INGRAM W. GOAD, 66, Inglewood private investigator, former Detroit policeman. He would increase sales tax and eliminate the income tax. He is critical of welfare spending, "frill" spending in education, and student demonstrations.

CARLTON B. GOODLET, 51, San Francisco physician and surgeon, publisher of a Negro weekly newspaper. He is widely known for his pro-peace activities, opposing U.S. policies in Viet Nam.

SAMUEL W. YORTY, 56, Los Angeles mayor. Although a Democrat, he backed Republican Richard M. Nixon against John F. Kennedy in 1960. This year he is charging that Governor Brown is supported by Communists. He is a former state Assemblyman, former Congressman. In 1954, he tried for U.S. Senate and lost Democratic nomination to Richard Richards, who in turn lost to Republican Thomas Kuchel. Yorty became mayor in 1961 and was re-elected in 1965 with a big win over Congressman James Roosevelt.

EDMUND G. BROWN (D)

REPUBLICANS

GEORGE CHRISTOPHER, 58, owner of Christopher Dairy Farms, San Francisco, member and president of San Francisco Board of Supervisors 1945 to 1955, mayor of San Francisco 1955 to 1964. He counts among his achievements as mayor of San Francisco the financial integrity of his administration and the cleanup of the police force. In 1958 he lost the Republican nomination for U.S. Senate to Goodwin J. Knight. In 1962, he was running mate to Richard Nixon in Nixon's unsuccessful bid for the governorship. Christopher has the endorsement of U.S. Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel.

WARREN M. DORN, 47, Los Angeles County supervisor, has conducted militant campaigns against what he considers immorality and sexual liberty in educational institutions and the Los Angeles County Art Museum. He urges tough action against student demonstrations. Last year, he backed a move to give cities and counties authority to pass ordinances covering illegal sexual activities.

JOSEPH R. MAXWELL, 47, Pasadena management consultant, who lives in a house trailer because he likes it. He describes himself as the "darkest dark horse ever." He is concerned with state finances. Maxwell thinks the problem of slums such as Watts can best be handled by private enterprise.

WILLIAM PENN PATRICK, 36, lives in Tiburon, heads a cosmetic manufacturing firm, wants to be elected president in 1972. He has urged the Republican Party to win support from minority races, especially Negroes. He has criticized the state Supreme Court for declaring Proposition 14 unconstitutional. He urges a crackdown against student demonstrations.

RONALD REAGAN, 55, Hollywood actor and motion picture industry executive. He was on the board of directors of the Screen Actors Guild (14 years) and Motion Picture Industry Council (10 years), and served as president of both organizations. Reagan was a Democrat until a few yeasr ago when he switched to Republican because he became "disillusioned" with the Democrats. He was the most articulate campaigner for Barry Goldwater in 1964. He has proposed a $245 million cut in the state budget.

Secretary Post Draws 9 Hopefuls

Two Republicans and seven Democrats seek the post of Secretary of State.

REPUBLICANS

FRANK M. JORDAN, 77, secretary of state of California since 1942, the only Republican Constitutional officer in the Capitol, seeks his final term. His father held the same job from 1911 to 1940. Jordan prides himself on his up-to-date ideas. He is using computers this year to tally statewide election results. He estimates he probably spends more time in his office in the Capitol than any other statewide official. Jordan still maintains the traditional open-door policy, whereby any citizen can walk directly into his office.

ROBERT WAGNER, 43, Pasadena, engaged in real estate investments and retail business. He says the Republicans should put up new faces and younger men. He will not accept campaign contributions of more than 99 cents from individuals and $99 from business firms.

DEMOCRATS

ROSCOE I. CONN, 50, Los Gatos real estate man and farmer, calls for "elimination of waste . . . with the possibility of holding taxes down." He wants to see more good candidates consider public office.

MILTON G. GORDON, 43, real estate commissioner for California, appointed by Governor Brown 1963-66; appointed to Governor's Cabinet as Administrator, Business and Commerce Agency 1964-66; chairman, Governor's Informal Task Force to Coordinate Efforts of State Agencies to Effect the Economic Rehabilitation of the Watts Area. Gordon would encourage voter participation by allowing permanent voter registration. He also favors greater automation of vote counting and vote casting.

ROBERT S. JORDAN, 34, San Jose civil engineer, professor of civil engineering at Santa Clara University. He sees room for improvement in voter identification, registration procedures and use of voting machines.

HAROLD C. (HAL) MARLOWE, 44, former FBI agent, former deputy and undersheriff in the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department. In 1962, he organized a business consultant firm. In 1965 appointed assistant director for congressional affairs to the Office of Economic Opportunity in Washington, D.C., but is now back with his business consultant firm. He calls for full disclosures on campaign contributions and expenses.

NORBERT A. SCHLEI, 36, assistant attorney general of the United States, lives in Studio City. He is described as a friend of New York Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh. He says he drafted several Administration bills including the Voting Rights Act of 1965, and these experiences in Washington make him well equipped to administer election laws in California.

GEORGE E. SWEENEY, 57, San Francisco attorney specializing in corporation law and tax law. The big issue, says Sweeney, is the age of the incumbent Secretary of State. "It is time for a change." Sweeney calls for a complete overhaul of the non-profit corporation law.

WILLIAM J. (BILL) WILLIAMS, 35, Los Angeles Negro, was field representative for Rep. Augustus Hawkins, D-Calif., college instructor and high school teacher. A specialist in public adminstration, he has been consultant to the International Cooperations Administration, the New York State Commission on Governmental Operations and other organizations. He calls for a modern, automated voting system, simplified ballot, and a uniform and permanent method of voter registration.

Six Seeking Post Held By Lynch

Three Democrats and three Republicans seek the post of state attorney general, now held by Thomas C. Lynch.

DEMOCRATS

WILLIAM M. BENNETT, 48, of Kentfield, started his public career in the attorney general's office and was special prosecutor in the liquor scandals of the 1950s. He was named chief counsel of the State Public Utilities Commission in 1959, and was appointed a PUC commissioner by Gov. Edmund G. Brown four years later. He campaigned for abolition of the death penalty. Bennett says incumbent Lynch has not provided leadership on such issues as the Delano grape strike and the Viet Nam war.

MARIN KRISTOVICH, a Los Angeles attorney, does not appear to be a serious contender for the post. He has made no effort to make himself and his views known to the public.

THOMAS C. LYNCH, 63, incumbent, appointed attorney general by Governor Brown in 1964 to succeed Stanley Mosk, who was elevated to the State Supreme Court. He was assistant U. S. attorney for Northern California from 1933-43, chief assistant district attorney of San Francisco from 1943-50, and district attorney from 1951-64. He was re-elected three times as district attorney, receiving the largest vote ever given a candidate in San Francisco. Lynch says he is interested in applying sophisticated space technology to the administration of justice.

REPUBLICANS

JULIUS A. (JUD) LEETHAM, 47, Los Angeles attorney and former chairman of the Los Angeles Republican Central Committee, U. S. jury commissioner for six years, an attorney for Reconstruction Finance Corp. Leetham charges that too often law enforcement has been hampered by political considerations. He wants laws that protect society as well as individuals. Leetham is endorsed by Barry Goldwater.

JAMES J. OPPEN, 46, Van Nuys attorney and former Los Angeles police officer. His main claim to public recognition is his unsuccessful attempt to block all-digit telephone dialing.

WILLIAM M. BENNETT (D)

THOMAS C. LYNCH (D)

SPENCER M. WILLIAMS (R)

SPENCER WILLIAMS, 44, county counsel of Santa Clara County for 11 years. He says present laws and the courts have too often shackled effective law enforcement. He wants tougher enforcement of narcotics and pornography laws and opposes police review boards on the basis they impair police effectiveness.

Rep. Clausen Is Unopposed; Drath, Storer In Challenge

REP. DON H. CLAUSEN, R-First District, Calif., is unopposed in the Republican primary. Since January, 1963, Clausen has been congressman from the First District, which comprises six counties from Marin to Del Norte.

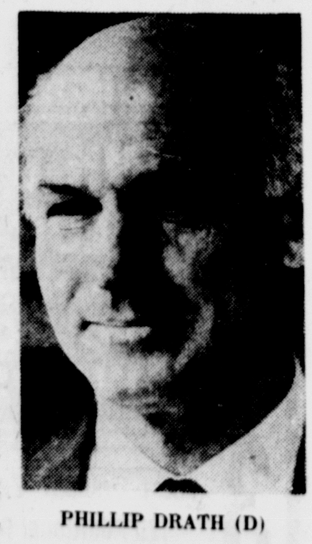
DEMOCRATS

Two men seeking the Democratic nomination and the right to oppose Clausen in November are both from Marin:

PHILLIP DRATH, 53, San Rafael contractor, has been a lifelong worker for peace and civil rights. At the end of World War II, he helped reestablish Japanese-Americans returning from relocation centers. He has worked for fair employment practices, conservation, The National Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy, and last year went to Mississippi to help rebuild burned-out churches as supervisor for The Friends (Quaker) project. He has pledged he would fight for U.S. withdrawal from the Viet Nam war. Drath contends that billions of dollars going to war should be going into the Peace Corps, the War on Poverty, federal aid to education, and federal research against disease.

THOMAS T. STORER, 38, Point Reyes Station attorney, vice chairman of Marin County Board of Supervisors, former deputy district attorney for Marin County, infantry platoon leader with the Marines in Korea. He agrees with American alliances and overall policy of containment, but sees a need to re-evaluate NATO and our attitude toward Red China. In Viet Nam, Storer favors holding our military positions, and redoubling our efforts for peaceful negotiations. He calls for a cease-fire, policing of the cease-fire area by the Geneva Accord nations, and giving the Viet Cong full voice at the peace table. Storer's stand on domestic programs such as Medicare, War on Poverty, Peace Corps and aid to education are similar to those of Drath.

DON H. CLAUSEN (R)



PHILLIP DRATH (D)

THOMAS T. STORER (D)

Seven Vie For Lieutenant Governor Position

Three Democrats and four Republicans are trying for the post of Lieutenant Governor of California.

Here are the condidates with a brief description of each:

DEMOCRATS

GLENN M. ANDERSON, 53, lieutenant governor of California since 1959, mayor and city councilman in the City of Hawthorne from 1940-43, state assemblyman from 1942-50. He was acting governor last August at the time of the Watts riot and has been criticized for not calling out the National Guard fast enough. He is one of the founders of the California Democratic Council. He authored and fought for the present Aid to Needy Children law and fought against segregation in California schools.

THOMAS W. BRADEN, 48, Oceanside newspaper publisher, member of the State Board of Education since 1959 and president of board since 1961. From 1948-49 he was executive secretary of Museum of Modern Art in New York; 1949-51 executive director of American Committee on United Europe under Gen. William J. (Wild Bill) Donovan; 1951-54 assistant to Allen W. Dulles, director of Central Intelligence Agency. A friend of the Kennedy family, Braden is sometimes accused of being an "agent of U. S. Sen. Robert Kennedy." Braden is an outspoken foe of "Birchism" and "McCarthyism." He has defended the right of students "who dare to speak out on our involvement in Viet Nam."

LLOYD N. HAND, 37, quit his job as ambassador in charge of U. S. protocol to run for state office. From 1957 to 1961, he was member of the staff of the then Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson. He has been a resident of California since 1961. In December, 1964, President Johnson asked him to serve as his personal ambassador and U. S. Chief of Protocol. Hand was responsible for arranging all meetings between the President and other world leaders. He accompanied the President to the Honolulu Conference and the Vice President to Southeast Asia. Hand has been accused of being part of a move by "outside influences" to move in on California politics.

REPUBLICANS

NORMAN J. DAVIS, 43, Riverside County supervisor for six years, engaged in land and subdivision development and sales. Taught high school history and government for five years, was principal of Beaumont High School for five years.

ROBERT H. FINCH, 40, Pasadena attorney, administrative assistant to Vice President Richard Nixon 1958-60, managed Nixon's bid for presidency in 1960, managed George Murphy's campaign for U. S. Senate in 1964, was chairman of Los Angeles County Republican Central Committee 1958, was teacher and member of Advisory Board, Marymount College. Finch describes himself as a Republican with the "Nixon-Murphy" coloration, who can work with both moderate and conservative Republicans.

LYNDON R. FOSTER lists himself as a publisher from Newhall (Los Angeles County). Not much else is known about him because he has made little effort to campaign statewide or answer queries.

W. EARL SMART, 44, El Cajon attorney, wants reduction of government competition with private business enterprise. He calls for a more intelligent and economical use of public property; for example, multi-level highways and multi-level educational facilities.

GLENN M. ANDERSON (D)

THOMAS W. BRADEN (D)

LLOYD HAND (D)

ROBERT H. FINCH (R)

Braden Charges Low Assessment

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—San Mateo County, site of San Francisco International Airport, gave an improper three-year tax break to United Air Lines, a Democratic candidate declared yesterday.

Thomas W. Braden, who seeks the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor, told reporters UAL escaped paying a total of $715,167 for the years 1963, 1964 and 1965.

Ralph Woodman, San Mateo assessor who is not seeking reelection, called Braden's statement a "last minute move to discredit the San Mateo County assessor's office."

Greek Strike Ends

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — The Greek railway strike ended today after eight days of paralysis in the nation's domestic service. The government agreed to review the workers' demands for higher pay.

15 Terra Lindans Join Honor Society

Fifteen seniors at Terra Linda High School have been named life memebrs of the Califronia Scholarship Federation.

They are Larry C. Amans, Patricia C. Benton, Michael E. Cass, Linda A. Domeier, Roby K. Fenz, William N. Follette, John A. Freschl, Scott G. Gillespie, John Hart, Pamela A. Harth, Robert F. Hempton, Nancy Loeber, Robert N. Owens, Janna L. Page, and Jan M. Walters.

Robbery Case Trial Planned

July 14 was scheduled for jury trial yesterday in Marin Superior Court of Jimmy Don Taylor, 18, charged with attempted armed robbery.

Taylor, of 79 Cole Drive, Marin City, allegedly attempted to rob at knifepoint Vernon E. Gilstrap of Woodacre May 7 after the latter gave him an automobile ride to Larkspur.

There are more than 300 gey sers in Yellowstone Nationa Park, as well as 10 major water falls, 12 rivers and hundreds o creeks.

State Controller Race Has Seven Candidates

Three Democrats and four Republicans are in the race for the job of State Controller.

PAUL BURKE, 50, Los Angeles attorney and economist, Los Angeles City Board of Education 1951-59. He says "there is no need for a general tax increase this year or even next year, only reorganization of the fiscal structure and its administration. Burke suggests a constitutional reform, with the possibility of a unicameral legislature.

ALAN CRANSTON, 51, state controller since 1958, author and former foreign correspondent. He was with the Office of War Information 1942-44, helped found the California Democratic Council, and was national president of the United World Federalists. Cranston has denounced "extremists" of both right and left, from the Birch Society to Communist groups. He suggested certain reforms in the existing inheritance tax appraiser system and announced flatly he will not accept financial contributions from the appraisers appointed by him.

BERT DE LOTTO, 47, Fresno County supervisor, licensed real estate broker, director of a savings and loan firm, state assemblyman 1959-62. In his campaign, De Lotto has repeatedly called for "abolition of the inheritance tax appraisers' spoils system."

HOUSTON I. FLOURNOY (R)

REPUBLICANS

HOUSTON I. FLOURNOY, 36, of Claremont; state Assemblyman since 1960, associate professor of government at Pomona College and Claremont Graduate School, served on six Assembly committees, is considered an expert in fiscal affairs and educational finance. Flournoy calls for abolition of the political appointment of inheritance tax appraisers, "the last substantial vestige of the spoils system in California government."

J. HASKELL GRIDER, 53, San Diego insurance investment broker, general agent and manager of a large national insurance company agency. He calls for "change in tax structure . . . to halt the exodus of firms leaving California for tax reasons." He wants the state welfare programs phased out of existence so that the state will "stop competing with the Salvation Army, Red Cross, Goodwill Industry and the Community Chest."

ROBERT E. McDAVID (R)

ROBERT E. McDAVID, 57, certified public accountant of Altadena, member of the state Board of Equalization 1954-58. He sees nothing wrong with the present system of appointed inheritance tax appraisers "provided we have a controller with integrity." McDavid asserts that the cost to taxpayers under the present system is less than if the same functions were performed by civil service employees.

JOSEPH L. PACE, 49, mayor of San Jose, a doctor of medicine who does general practice in partnership with his brother, is critical of the big fees collected by part-time inheritance tax appraisers. He calls for full-time appraisers "nominated by duo-interested non-partisan groups, and selected by the controller."

JAMES A. WARE, 45, Los Angeles business executive and music publisher. He would give tax incentives to welcome industry to state. He is against all hotel and motel taxes, and "excessive taxes" on business and industry.

Five Seeking Two Posts On County Board

Five men, including one incumbent, are running for two posts on the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

FIRST DISTRICT

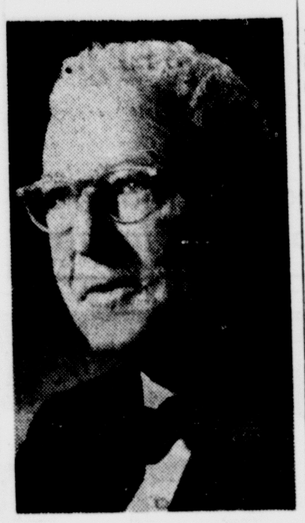
Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker, who now holds the post, is not running. The three in the race are:

JOHN F. McINNIS, 52, San Rafael insurance broker, Marin resident for 18 years, San Rafael city councilman 1953-57, San Rafael mayor 1957-65. He is one of the founders and past president of the Assn. of Bay Area Governments, and helped establish the eight-county regional planning district under ABAG. McInnis campaigns on his record as councilman and mayor of San Rafael, bringing better streets, lighting, storm drains, off-street parking, new library, firehouses and new city hall—all with a drop in the tax rate.

JOHN F. McINNIS (1st)

MELVIN WARENBACK (1st)

DR. WILLIAM F. UPTON, 60, San Rafael dentist, Marin resident for 33 years; member of the Marin County Planning Commission for 14 years, six years as chairman; member of the Bay Conservation and Development Commission, which is an outgrowth of the McAteer-Petris bill to control bay fill. Dr. Upton says that any substantial cut in taxes is not possible, as long as the people want the services offered by the various taxing districts. The logical way to lower the tax burden is to try, where possible, to consolidate districts and political subdivisions to eliminate duplication. Dr. Upton fought for the bill to control bay fill. He opposed Marincello, but now that it has been approved by the supervisors, "I will not be an obstructionist."



WILLIAM F. UPTON (1st)

MELVIN S. WARENBACK, 42, of Terra Linda, is in the advertising and sales promotion business. He was a member of the Terra Linda Community Services District for six years, two years as chairman; and a member of the Marin Council on Civic Affairs. To assure that taxpayers their money's worth, Warenback would insist on better coordination between departments, and re-evaluate overlapping or duplicating taxing authorities. Warenback is particularly interested in getting a University of California branch located in Marin so that the county will benefit from the cultural center as well as from light research industries that accompany a university.

WILLIAM A. GNOSS (5th)

FIFTH DISTRICT

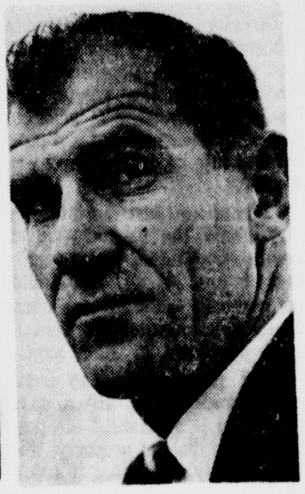
LYNES E. DOWNING, 25, Marin County manager of California Land Title Co., Marin resident for 12 years, was active in the Novato Lions Club and Little League. Downing contends that incumbent Supervisor William Gnoss' long service "doesn't necessarily mean he is the best qualified." Downing promises "a fresh approach and energetic leadership" in meeting the county's problems. He calls for a curb on "lavish spending." He opposes costly studies for a bus transit system for Marin, and opposes the proposed $4.3 million county park bond issue. "Acquiring light industry to lighten the tax load is more important," says Downing.

LYNES E. DOWNING (5th)

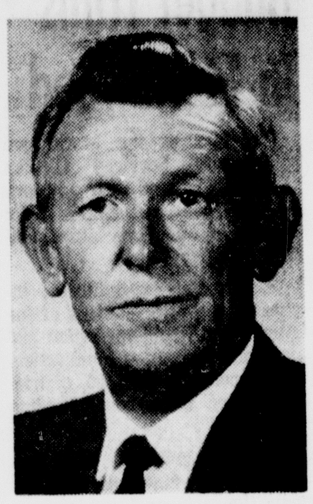
WILLIAM A. GNOSS, 66, incumbent, Marin County supervisor since 1952, Marin resident for 66 years, director of the Marin-Sonoma Agricultural Fair for about 30 years, long associated with the Farm Bureau, the Novato Volunteer Fire Department, one of the first directors of the North Marin Water District, director of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control Board and chairman in 1957, helped form the Novato Flood Control District, scheduled to become president of the North Coast County Supervisors Assn. this year. Gnoss is the only supervisor remaining of the original board that voted to go ahead with construction of the Civic Center. He is pushing for an improved commuter bus service, expansion of the county airport at Novato, addition of the Hall of Justice wing to the Civic Center, development of park and recreation facilities at Stafford Lake, and passage of the $4.3 million county park bond issue. Gnoss says that passage of the bond issue will help his area because top priority is given to development of Stafford Lake.

One Contest For Assembly

WILLIAM T. BAGLEY (R)



ROBERT E. MERTLE (D)



JAMES E. POCKRUS (D)

WILLIAM T. BAGLEY, R-San Rafael, incumbent assemblyman from the 7th District (Marin and southern Sonoma), is not opposed in the Republican primary election. Bagley, 37, San Rafael attorney, was elected to the Assembly in 1960 and has held the post for three consecutive terms.

DEMOCRATS

Two Democrats vying for the nomination and the right to take on Bagley in November are:

ROBERT E. MERTLE, 36, of San Rafael, is president of a Richmond firm that manufactures plastic foam and vice president of a company that produces polyethylene coffee can lids and strawberry baskets. He is vice chairman of the Democratic Central Committee in Marin, past president of the Greater San Rafael Democratic Club, active in the Marin Council for Civic Affairs. He is a member of the Marin Conservation League, American Civil Liberties Union, Marin Museum Assn., and the Marin Committee for Fair Play. He calls for "tax reform to rescue the overburdened homeowner," and "equality in jobs, housing, education."

JAMES E. POCKRUS, 47, of Rohnert Park, teacher in the Sausalito School District, ran unsuccessfully against Assemblyman Bagley in 1964. In addition to teaching, Pockrus runs the Rohnert Park Bookkeeping and Tax Service. He served in the U. S. Army for 18 years and was discharged in 1957 as a master sergeant. Pockrus was active in the congressional campaigns of the late Congressman Clem Miller and of William Grader. During his 1964 campaign, Pockrus came out strongly against capital punishment and in favor of some consolidation of school districts, legislation to prevent filling the bay, acquisition of park sites, and creation of a labor-management commission to find ways to offset unemployment caused by automation.

STATE SENATE

There is no primary contest in the Fourth Senatorial District, comprising Marin, Napa and Solano counties.

Incumbent SEN. JOHN F. (JACK) McCARTHY, R-San Rafael, 42, is unopposed on the Republican ballot. He has served in the Senate for 16 years, the past eight years as senate minority leader.

JOHN F. McCARTHY (R)

PEARCE YOUNG (D)

On the Democratic side, the lone candidate is ASSEMBLYMAN PEARCE YOUNG, D-Napa and Solano, 41-year-old attorney, served in the Legislature since 1962, and is chairman of the Assembly Criminal Procedure Committee.

The two will battle it out in November.

Four Coroner Candidates Have Varied Backgrounds

Four men, each with a different background, are seeking the post of coroner-public administrator, which Frank J. Keaton now holds. Here are the four aspirants:

WILLIAM C. BRADLEY

DONOVAN O. COOKE

WILLIAM C. BRADLEY, 51, assistant coroner under Frank Keaton; 16 years experience in administration and investigation, as inspector in the sheriff's office and assistant in the coroner's office; is past president of Northern California Safe and Burglary Investigators Assn.; took 10 years of training at FBI schools. Autopsies are conducted by qualified pathologists and toxicologists, so that the coroner's duties are administrative and investigative, says Bradley.

DR. DONOVAN O. COOKE, 48, Belvedere general practitioner, 22 years experience as physician and surgeon, was deputy coroner in Portland, Ore. Dr. Cooke contends that the job of coroner is to determine cause of death and therefore can best be filled by a man trained in medicine, not a layman. He points out that the Marin Medical Society has recommended that the post be filled by a physician.

GILBERT F. FREITAS, 40, San Rafael police officer, trained in criminology, two years of law, graduate of three FBI training schools. Freitas says he is not affiliated with any other public office or civic organization and has no other practice, and can therefore serve the county as "a full-time coroner without any conflict of interest." Freitas says the coroner's job is to investigate circumstances surrounding a death, where his police experience will be valuable. He emphasizes that the cause of death is determined by a qualified pathologist, regardless of whether the coroner is a doctor or a layman. Freitas will try to centralize all removals of decedents to one location. "The present system of removal by mortuaries has too many political overtones."

GILBERT F. FREITAS

RICHARD F. WOOD

RICHARD FREDERICK WOOD, 66, of San Rafael, industrial and public relations consultant, admitted to practice law in Nebraska in 1924, elected to Nebraska state legislature, owned and published trade magazines and newspapers, legislative representative and counsel to various organizations including the Nebraska Press Assn., general manager of St. Louis Coal Exchange, chairman of National Conference of Coal Trade Assn. Managers. Wood alleges that a physician-coroner would find it difficult to testify against a fellow doctor in a malpractice suit, for example. He argues that the coroner need not be a medical man because autopsies are conducted by medical specialists, not by the coroner. He believes the coroner should be appointed by the judges. He would hire a woman assistant because some people prefer women embalmers.

Three Teachers Attempting To Oust Incumbent Rafferty

Three Southern California teachers, all political novices, are trying to oust incumbent Max Rafferty from the non-partisan post of state superintendent of public instruction.

MAX RAFFERTY

WILLARD HARPER, 61, history teacher at Los Angeles High School, son of a Methodist minister, said in his campaign that Rafferty's "stuffy old educational philosophy" is one of the causes of the Watts riot. He favors federal aid for schools to relieve the homeowner. He wants a U.N. negotiated peace in Viet Nam immediately, with presently budgeted funds used for grants-in-aid to all states for education.

CHARLOTTE KAY MOTTER, 43, a high school drama instructor in North Hollywood, is associated with many educational theater groups. She favors holding down the property tax and increasing sales or excise taxes to finance education. Miss Motter says Rafferty spends too much time politicking rather than attending to strictly education matters.

MAX RAFFERTY, 48, incumbent, superintendent of public instruction since 1962, is an opponent of progressive education's "learning by doing." "Today, in 1966, progressive education as California's official statewide philosophy is as dead as a doornail," said Rafferty at a recent fund-raiser in Los Angeles. He favors legislation to put a limit on the local real property tax in local districts, while simultaneously requiring the state to make up the difference. He is described by his opponents as a conservative Republican.

ASHLEY SIMMS, 49, a government teacher at Grant High School in Van Nuys, favors an increase in sales tax to help finance education, and keeping property taxes down. He calls for greater unification of school districts. Simms also criticizes Dr. Rafferty for spending too much time out of his office politicking.

Del Mar School Sets Carnival Saturday

The annual Del Mar School Carnival in Tiburon will be held from noon to 4 p.m. Saturday on the school grounds.

Sponsored by the student council, it will include booths of games and refreshments handled by various school clubs. Student body officers are Nathan Bills, president; John Whitelaw, vice president; Betsy Gast, secretary and Pam Contos, treasurer.

'Mixed Emotions' Like The Name

The five members of the "Mixed Emotions," a San Rafael rhythm-and-blues group, reacted without ambivalence to having the group's name mentioned in the June 3 issue of Life Magazine.

"It's great!" commented Jim Denning, a College of Marin student and lead guitarist for the group. The mention came in an article called "Money Music—The Crazier the Name the Cooler." The article listed several rock-and-roll groups with strange names.

The other four members of the "Mixed Emotions" are students at San Rafael High. They are Dave Denning, bass guitar; Terry Merlo, rhythm guitar; Dale Anderson, drummer, and Jim Bouchillon, vocalist.

Fireworks Set

Plans for the July 4 fireworks display in Sausalito will be discussed at a meeting of the Sausalito Artists and Merchants Tuesday at 8 p.m. at Homestead Savings and Loan.

Four Marin Marines Report To Boot Camp

Four Marin County youths who enlisted in the Marine Corps at the Vallejo recruiting office have reported for basic training in San Diego.

They are Robert D. Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Baker of 669 Peach Street, Novato; Craig W. Dreier of 460 Quietwood Drive, Marinwood, son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Mervin W. Brier of New York; Robert D. Sidbeck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond G. Sidbeck of 404 San Francisco Boulevard, San Anselmo, and Michael A. Stertz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Stertz of 269 Flagstone Terrace, Marinwood.

Bruce Bales Opposed By Attorney Bjorklund

Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales is opposed by challenger A. Leonard Bjorklund Jr., Sausalito attorney. Here is a brief biographical sketch on each:

BRUCE B. BALES

A. LEONARD BJORKLUND Jr.

BRUCE B. BALES, 42, incumbent district attorney of Marin, resident in county for 16 years, private law practice in San Rafael 1950-53, deputy district attorney for Marin 1953-60, assistant district attorney 1960-64, and district attorney since April, 1964. Bales is running on his record of helping keep Marin County "free of organized crime and corruption." He declares that the prosecution and conviction rate is one of the highest in the state and the crime rate one of the lowest. Bales says the district attorney must protect the rights of all people and must prosecute vigorously but fairly. And this he will continue to do. Bales alleges that his opponent is inexperienced and has never prosecuted a felony.

A. LEONARD BJORKLUND JR., 39, Sausalito attorney, has been in general practice in Sausalito for seven years. He was a deputy district attorney in Alameda County for three years before coming to Sausalito. Bjorklund's platform calls for "more vigorous prosecution" of all crimes, particularly narcotics, and stiffer sentences. He accuses the D.A. of not doing enough to crack down on narcotic violations and juvenile crimes. He charges the incumbent with failing to communicate with various police departments and with the press, a charge that has been emphatically denied by Bales.

Teen-Ager Hurt In Marin City

An 18-year-old youth suffered face cuts when the car in which he was riding crashed into a parked car on Drake Avenue west of Cole Drive, Marin City, at 2:15 a.m. yesterday.

Daniel J. Hayden of 77 Bucklew Street, Marin City, was treated at Marin General Hospital. The driver, Fredrick Washington, 20, of 409 Drake Avenue, Marin City, was going west when his car struck one owned by Artice Lee of 303 Drake Avenue, according to Officer R. W. Kennard of the highway patrol. Lee's car was pushed into another parked car, owned by Geraldine Huff of 301 Drake Avenue.

Washington was cited for speeding.

Board Urging Budget Trims In Marinwood

Directors of the Marinwood Community Services District last night wanted their advisory commissions to look a little harder at budget recommendations for fiscal 1967.

The budget expenditures, including recommendations of the Marinwood fire commission and park and recreation commission, would come to $128,500, district secretary Genevieve Bolding reported.

Income, however, was estimated last night at $105,500. This figure is up from the current income of $100,000, but not nearly high enough to cover recommendations.

Directors agreed to meet again at 8 p.m. June 14 at the recreation center, hoping by then to have more modest recommendations from the commissions.

'Dr. Strangelove' Author Is Dead

ST. LEONARDS, England (AP)— Author Peter George, whose book was filmed as "Dr. Strangelove — or how I learned To Stop Worrying and Love the Bomb," was found dead last night. He was 41.

Police said he died of a head wound and a discharged single-barrelled shotgun was between his knees.

A friend said the author had not been in good health recently and had been depressed.

Terra Linda Park Budget Given Minor Adjustments

Directors of the Terra Linda Recreation and Park District last night made some minor adjustments in the preliminary budget for fiscal 1967 prior to the public hearing set for 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Recreation Center.

Recreation Director James Hand said the total budget comes to $75,682. This year's budget was $81,000, but it did not correctly estimate revenues. The year's operation will actually be about $74,000, Hand said.

Hand reported that 10 teenagers, working for $10 a day, conducted a successful cleanup Monday of district property, filling property, collecting 20 truck loads of cuttings and trash.

Hand said he hopes to hold a paint day June 18 with volunteer labor painting the Recreation Center.

Directors of the Terra Linda Recreation and Park District also:

1. Authorized six months employment, starting July 1, of John Williams, 26, of Simi, Ventura County, as recreation superintendent at $625 a month.

2. Authorized a contract with Lloyd Perkins of Novato to operate the food concession at the center this summer, giving the district 25 per cent of his gross.

3. Agreed to give firemen of the Terra Linda Community Services District free passes to the recreation district swimming pool. Family passes normally sell for $35.

4. Agreed not to establish any arbitrary closing time for pool operation, but continue pool hours into the evening as long as weather permits. If fog or cold weather should cut attendance, the pool might be closed earlier, Hand explained.

Car Hits Boy Darting Across Tam Valley Road

Eleven-year-old Michael Lind was struck by a car as he ran across Shoreline Highway near his Dolan Street home in Tamalpais Valley at 7:30 a.m. today.

Michael, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lind of 302 Dolan Street, was treated in Marin General Hospital for face cuts and possible concussion, and transferred to Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Francisco.

Officer Leonard E. Hubbard of the California Highway Patrol said Michael darted in front of a northbound car driven by Robin Ann Pritzker, 16, of 902 Greenhill Road, Homestead Valley. Michael's brother, David, 7, had started to cross with him but turned back, Hubbard said.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

THIRD SECTION — SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, JUNE 2, 1966 — 25

FOR THEM, THE GYPSY LIFE— Mr. and Mrs. James Gowen of Strawberry Point load belongings into 23-foot trailer which will be their home from now on. The "junque for sale" sign indicates one method of disposing of many possessions that just won't fit.

Strawberry Couple With Trailer Plans Vacation To Last Lifetime

By WILLIAM F. ARNOLD

Like so many of us, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Gowen of Strawberry Point wished they didn't have to come back from their vacation last year.

But when they got home they talked over early retirement and decided, as Gowen put it, "Why wait? To work on just to acquire some more money is ridiculous."

Next Monday they will close the door on their recently sold home and drive off with their 23-foot trailer to go where they please like gypsies of old. "Our only plan now," said Mrs. Gowen, "is to pick up our mail in Seattle sometime next month."

Gowen had spent the year reducing his certified public accounting practice and readying their trailer. He has kept "a few key accounts in the East Bay" which he will serve for two week intervals between trips.

"It's really like four 10-week vacations a year," he said. They hope to visit Europe in five years, after exploring all 50 states and the countries of North and South America.

Although Gowen, who is only 50, had planned to retire in two years, he updated it because, he said, "I've seen some who wait too long and aren't physically able to enjoy it when the times comes." Mrs. Gowen, 45, added, "You become dependent on creature comforts; when you're older it becomes harder to break away."

The Gowens won't be travelling spare, however. Their trailer is equipped with modern conveniences including a stereo record player and a television set.

Besides selling their house at 227 Reed Boulevard, their biggest problem was sorting out all the belongings collected during their occupancy. Gowen said he solved it by putting things into three piles.

"In the first pile go the things you can't do without; in the second, the things you'd sort of like to keep; and in the third, the stuff you know you can get rid of. Then you call the junkman immediately to haul the second and third piles away."

Then, he said, the mover must keep repeating the process with the remaining first pile "until you can get everything into a suitcase." Actually, the Gowens are storing six footlockers of keepsakes near his East Bay clients.

CONVINCE CLIENTS

Another problem he found in cutting off the bonds of suburban living, Gowen said, was convincing his clients that he meant it. "At first, they didn't think I was serious, and when they did, they wouldn't believe it. Five of them tried to blackjack me into staying," he said, laughing.

Their 19-year-old son, Bill, a junior at St. John's College in Annapolis, Md., will visit them wherever they may be on his vacations. "There's an extra bed in the trailer for him," Mrs. Gowen said.

21 YEARS HERE

Residents of Marin County since they were married 21 years ago, the Gowens moved to their present home high on a Hill 14 years ago. She has been secretary of the Strawberry Parks and Recreation District, former treasurer and director of the Marin County Girl Scouts, and has had a public accounting practice of her own.

The view from their living room window overlooks Richardson Bay, the Tiburon Peninsula. "When we moved here you could hardly see a house on the Tiburon Peninsula," Mrs. Gowen said. "We want to go where it's not citified and built up."

"Each vacation it got harder to come back," Gowen said.

Kettenhofen Again Asks Tax Freeze

County Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen, speaking last night to a group of property owners in Fairfax who are protesting the proposed increase in the county tax rate, said the rate should be frozen to allow time for a redistributing the of tax load.

Kettenhofen said a tax rate freeze would give supervisors time to find other taxes, such as a hotel-motel tax, which could remove part of the burden carried by property owners.

He suggested that the Fairfax property owners who called the meeting, and who have gathered 679 signatures on a petition protesting the tax rate, send the petition to the board of supervisors, and send a copy to the state legislature.

More than 100 persons attended the meeting at Deer Park School, including some from Kentfield, Greenbrae, Belvedere, Tiburon and San Geronimo Valley.

Fairfax Mayor Peter Arrigoni Jr. told the meeting that the Fairfax City Council is exploring substitute sources of tax revenue.

To kill starlings by exposed electric wires requires 14,000 volts, enough to kill a human being.

Teamsters Anger Farm Workers

MODESTO (UPI) — National Farm Workers Association leader Cesar Chavez and three assistants walked out of a so-called "peace" conference with the Teamsters Union here yesterday after 10 minutes of apparently heated debate.

Chavez had no immediate comment on what took place at the closed meeting, billed in advance as an attempt to peacefully divide the San Joaquin Valley between the two unions in their attempts to organize farm workers.

However, a teamsters spokesman said Chavez was unhappy because the teamsters had entered the farm labor field.

Six Injured In Accidents On Shoreline

Five Novato teen-agers were injured yesterday and a Fairfax man was injured this morning in auto accidents on Shoreline Highway near Stinson Beach, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Treated at Marin General Hospital from yesterday's accident were: Kathie Ann Evans, 14, of 1281 Lynwood Drive, Novato, for a broken collar bone; Linda Maillet, 15, of 317 Montego Key, Bel Marin Keys, and Winifred M. Pritchard, 15, of 25 San Joaquin Place, Novato, both for cuts and bruises; John W. Rundle, 18, of 1363 Cambridge Street, Novato, for abrasions, and Patrick M. Gingher, 18, of 1005 Greenwood Drive, Novato, for scalp cuts.

Gingher was driving south a mile north of Stinson Beach about 1 p.m. when his car left the road on a curve and rolled over twice.

Michael A. Wislie, 30, of 123 Scenic Road, Fairfax, was injured when he drove his car into an abutment on a downhill southbound curve two miles south of Stinson Beach at 2:30 a.m. today. He was treated at Marin General Hospital for multiple cuts and bruises.

Burglars Take Trunk Of Books From University

Burglars stole a trunk containing old books and clothing from the San Geronimo summer home of Otho Von Waddell, sheriff's officers said today.

Von Waddell lives at 236 Butterfield Road, San Anselmo.

Herbert E. Michels of Piedmont told officers his summer home in Inverness was entered but nothing appeared to be missing.

Bond Issue Debaters Conflict On Spending

Two county supervisors who sometimes disagreed with each other today defended the proposed $4.3 million park bond issue against a pair of Central Marin resident who insisted the supervisors were trying to sell the people a pig in a poke.

Appearing on the Radio KTIM "Marin Sounding Board" were Supervisors Peter H. Behr and Ernest N. Kettenhofen, co-chairmen of the drive to pass the bonds in Tuesday's election, plus Larkspur City Councilman Alfred Malvino and Robert H. Busse, president of the Kentfield Civic League.

Among the thorniest questions in the debate were whether the county has spelled out clearly what it is going to do with the money if the bonds are passed, and whether the state and federal matching funds to develop parks are a certainty or a pipe dream.

Behr insisted the blueprint for use of the bond money has been spelled out for every citizen to see. When Malvino insisted the "voice of the people will be lost" once the bonds are adopted, Behr angrily declared this was "simply not true . . . It is misinformation."

Earlier, Kettenhofen had bristled when Busse centered many of his comments on the proposed 18-acre Kentfield Park, which was put on the list of priorities at Kettenhofen's insistence.

"Nobody," declared Kettenhofen, "has decided the Kentfield Park or China Camp are the ones that are going to be purchased. This is just a list of priorities."

Malvino said the Larkspur council favors parks and recreation facilities, but feels the bond issue plan was "put together quite hurriedly, and many questions were left unanswered." He noted that much of the money would go for acquisition, not development of park land, and said his council could not see the rush to buy the land.

He voiced fear the county would later float more bonds to develop the parks, and insisted no one can be sure the hoped-for matching funds will come through.

Behr said the bonds would be an investment, not just in Marin's "unique scenic qualities," but in the county's economic health. He said new parks would spur the motel industry and all types of business related to boating (which he termed the "marine industry"), plus building up a "second home market" for summer and weekend dwellers in West Marin.

Kettenhofen said he felt this summer home market was likely to have a greater impact than the motel industry. He disagreed that the plan was badly conceived and praised Behr for authoring many of its details.

Busse conceded that opposing a park bond issue was a bit like being against motherhood or children, but observed that "too much of these can wear you out."

He said "the cities should have their own say and raise their own funds," and pointed out that Mariposa County has built up tourism but has not cut its taxes.

Zeroing in on the Kentfield Park, Busse said neither a need nor a demand for such a park had been shown by Kentfield residents, many of whom have their own pools, trees and large yards.

Busse also said he had visions of the county spending money to lay concrete and asphalt in areas better left as they are.

"How many artists are going to paint China Camp after the county sanitizes it," he asked.

A listener called in to ask, "Why, every time you say you are going to save us money, do our taxes go up?"

Behr replied that "the real sickness is at the state level," where legislation has forced counties to spend large amounts on welfare and other programs, and urged the caller to "write your state representatives."

The impositions placed on counties by federal and state government, he said, are "monstrous, ineffectual, unreasonable, inexorable."

"And political," Kettenhofen chimed in.

The program will be re-broadcast from a recording at 12:30 p.m. Sunday.

Student Charged In Shooting Of Wife

OAKLAND (AP) — Police yesterday charged a University of California student, Robert Olsen, 30, with killing his wife, a graduate student.

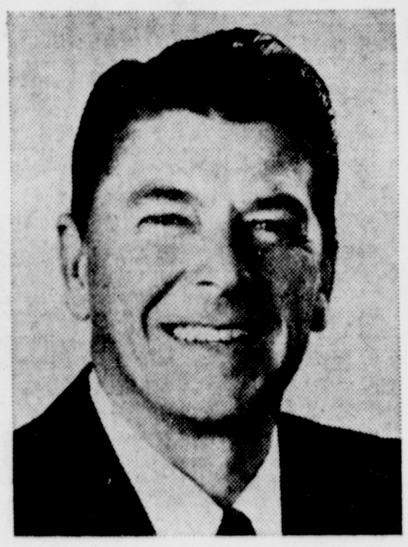
Ronald Reagan has the common sense answers to California problems.



Crime

As Governor, I will:

(1) Take positive action to restore to the cities and counties their rights to enact local ordinances designed to meet local law enforcement problems. (2) Support and work for a plan to take the appointment of judges out of politics. (3) Recommend legislation aimed at curbing the growing flood of smut, pornography, narcotics, and hallucinatory drugs aimed at our young people.

Taxes

As Governor, I will:

(1) Establish a task force to look into further ways to reduce the budget without reducing services or efficiency, and with an eye toward implementing cost-effectiveness studies in all of the state's major programs. (2) Call in a committee made up of the state's best tax brains to devise a complete revision, modernization and simplification of the state's entire tax structure. (3) Cut the budget consistent with good business practice.

Welfare

As Governor, I will:

(1) Propose a commission to redefine welfare's goals and recommend appropriate legislation. (2) Explore every avenue whereby, through state, business, labor cooperation, the business climate can be improved and thousands of new jobs provided. (3) Seek to provide useful employment in our public institutions, or training for as many welfare recipients as possible in order to give them the self-respect which comes from useful service and to hasten the day when they can take their places in California's productive economy.

Labor—Management

As Governor, I will:

(1) Seek legislation that would submit to a secret ballot all union policy matters, including strike votes. This would ensure labor's rank-and-file the right to make decisions governing their futures without coercion from either unions or management. (2) Work in the field of farm labor to ensure fair wages and good working conditions for the laborer, while, at the same time, insisting that no farm union would be able to take action to prevent the harvesting of crops. (3) Since collective bargaining is the basis for all labor-management relations, I will also make it my business, as Governor, to make such bargaining an effective and equitable instrument in California.

Education

As Governor, I will:

(1) Work to increase the state's contributions to local school districts, to relieve the growing burden on local property taxpayers. (2) Seek appropriate ways to help local school districts attract and keep good teachers. (3) Call for legislation to put unification of local school districts on a voluntary—not compulsory—basis. (4) Work to assure the teaching profession a position of dignity and respect.

Student Demonstrations

In preserving academic freedom, we must preserve the right to learn as well as to teach. We must make sure the principal purpose of our universities is served; namely, to provide an education.

Preservation of free speech does not justify letting beatniks, and advocates of sexual orgies, drug usage and "filthy speech" disrupt the academic community and interfere with our universities' purpose. When some Americans are fighting and dying for their country, free speech must stop short of lending comfort and aid to the enemy.

As Governor, I would consider it my responsibility to take the lead in returning our universities to their original purpose as institutions of learning and research, and restoring to them the respect they deserve.

Agriculture

As Governor, I will:

(1) Provide the agricultural community with sufficient status in the state government so as to ensure recognition and understanding of the farmers' pressing problems. (2) Review the tax structure with a view towards elimination of discriminatory and regressive taxes. (3) Face squarely the problem of farm labor and the need for a solution that will guarantee an adequate labor supply with protection for both the welfare of the farmer and the worker. (4) Use the prestige of the Governor's office to press upon the Federal government the need for a complete review of the 64-year old unrealistic limitation of 160 acres on the size of irrigated farms.

Political Appointments

As Governor, I will:

(1) Make all appointments to state offices on the basis of experience and qualifications, and not on the basis of personal loyalties or political obligations. (2) Provide extensive background information on every appointive officer. (3) Establish an independent review board of lawyers, scholars, and representatives of the public to nominate a panel of five outstanding attorneys to fill each judicial vacancy.

Experience

My education was in Economics and Sociology. My background includes more than 20 years an an officer and 6 times President of a working union. I've served as a member of the Board of Directors of various businesses and on the Board of Trustees of my college. But I'm not a professional politician. I'm an ordinary citizen with a deep-seated belief that this country was created by ordinary citizens to be run by ordinary citizens.

Candidates Quizzed On Employee Pay Opinions

County employees received some kind words and encouragement from the five candidates for two seats on the Marin County Board of Supervisors through a questionnaire prepared by the employee association.

The questionnaire sought to find out what priority the candidates would give salaries over such other budget items as capital improvements.

Incumbent William A. Gnoss, representing the Fifth District, said it is impossible to assign priorities without taking the entire budget into consideration, but that he has long been in favor of increasing pay, particularly for those in the lower salary brackets.

His opponent, Lynes E. Downing, said in his mind salaries would have priority over capital improvements.

John F. McInnis, one of three candidates in the first district, said he believes salaries have been "over generous" for those in the top echelon of county government, but many employees have not been given proper salary consideration "even on a cost of living basis."

Another First District candidate, Dr. William F. Upton, said that he would attempt to "balance" employee salary benefits with capital improvement priorities.

Melvin S. Warenback, also running in the First District, said adequate salaries should get "a slight preference" over capital improvements.

All candidates said they would favor a merit system, but Warenback declared he considers tenure an important factor in promotions.

All candidates agreed that fringe benefits should be on a par with those enjoyed by all workers.

122 Hurt In Anti-Sub Japan Demonstrations

YOKOSUKA, Japan (AP) — Police said today 122 persons were injured during four days of leftist demonstrations against the visit to Tokyo by the U.S. nuclear-powered submarine Snook.

The Snook is due to sail tomorrow from Yokosuka naval base. She is the first nuclear-powered sub to visit the Tokyo area.

Thornhill Faces Assault Charge

George B. Thornhill of Atherton, former publisher of the Marin Guide in Sausalito, was arrested yesterday in San Mateo on charges of assault and battery against one of his teen-age daughters and of threatening his other three daughters with a loaded pistol.

Thornhill, 47, is scheduled to plead to the charges Wednesday in Southern San Mateo County Municipal Court in Redwood City. His oldest daughter, Sally, 23, signed the complaint.

Thornhill and his wife, the former Barbara Brazier Barnato of Fairfax, have frequently made the news with their on-again, off-again marriage. Mrs. Thornhill was formerly married to Michael J. Barnato, heir to the Kimberly diamond fortune.

Annual Aid Ceiling Put On Loan Fund

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Foreign Affairs Committee has voted to place a billion-dollar per year ceiling on the economic development loan fund portion of the administration's $3.4 billion 1967 foreign aid request.

The ceiling, set in an amendment by Rep. Edward J. Derwinski, R-Ill., is $250 million below the figure sought by the administration for the loan program in the five-year period covered in the authorization bill.

Houlihan Blamed For Money Loss

At least $40,000 of the money missing from the estate of the late Sarilla Whitlock is chargeable to former Oakland Mayor John C. Houlihan, an accountant testified yesterday.

The testimony came in a civil action by Mrs. Lillian Searle of Novato and two sisters, heirs to the Whitlock estate.

The former mayor has also been indicted on a grand theft charge in connection with $97,837 said to be unaccounted for since his term as conservator of the estate.

Houlihan has listed $16,632 as owed by him to the estate. In yesterday's testimony, accountant Wesley F. Suman said the amount owed is at least $40,000 and perhaps more.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Throwing In Hand Early Can Lead To Red Face On Impulsive Player

K218-2 roman THROWING IN

You have slightly better than an even chance to win four tricks with K-Q-10-4 in the dummy and A-9-2 in your own hand.

You can vastly improve your chances if you know something about the location of the missing cards.

Opening lead — ♣ 10

Declarer won the first trick with the ace of clubs, drew three rounds of trumps and gave up a club. East returned a club, and dummy ruffed.

CAN'T EAT

Needing four heart tricks, South tried the normal play of leading out the three top cards.

When the jack did not drop, South announced: "I can't eat the diamond," and he conceded down one.

South had already muffed his best chance for the contract, but he could still make the slam by proper play.

It was foolish to give up.

BLACK SUITS

The play of the black suits reveals that East started with seven clubs and two spades. There is room in the East hand for only four red cards.

South should cash the king and ace of hearts, discovering that East started with at least two hearts.

Declarer should then take the ace and king of diamonds and discover that East also started with two diamonds. This accounts for all the red cards that East can possibly hold.

DUMMY FINESSE

South can therefore lead the last heart from his hand and confidently finesse with dummy's 10. The slam is then assured.

When South mistakenly led out three top hearts, he could still make the hand. He gets to his hand with the king of diamonds and leads the last trump.

West can hold only two cards, and one of them must be the jack of hearts. He must therefore come down to one diamond.

Declarer throws the heart from dummy and takes the last two tricks with the ace and nine of diamonds.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one diamond, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ 5 2
♥ 6 3
♦ J 4
♣ K J 9 8 6 4 3

What do you say?

Answer: Pass.

This hand is so poor that you cannot respond to an opening bid of one in spades, hearts or diamonds.

You should raise an opening bid of one club to two clubs.

Plunk Plunks Good

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Work as a professional guitar player is planned by one sophomore student at Catalina High School. Those who hear him say he's good. His name is appropriate—Don Plunk.

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, June 2, the 153rd day of 1966 with 212 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase; the morning stars are Venus and Saturn; the evening star is Jupiter.

American engineer George Henry Croliss, designer of the steam engine, was born on this day in 1817.

On this day in history:

In 1862, Gen. Robert E. Lee took command of the Confederate armies of eastern Virginia and North Carolina.

In 1924, Congress granted citizenship to all American Indians.

In 1953, Queen Elizabeth II was crowned in London's Westminster Abbey by the archbishop of Canterbury.

In 1964, Lal Bahadur Shastri became prime minister of India.

A Thought for the Day — American author Ernest Hemingway said: "The world is a fine place and worth fighting for."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. Light-face type indicates a.m. times; bold-face type indicates p.m. times.

Nuclear Blast Shakes Downtown Las Vegas

YUCCA FLAT, Nev. (UPI) — An underground nuclear device with a maximum force of 200 kilotons has detonated today and was felt at on the Las Vegas strip and in the downtown area.

The Atomic Energy Commission said the test of low intermediate yield was felt at the Dunes Hotel, Mint Hotel and Sahara Hotel—almost 100 miles away from the test area.

Long-Haired Boys Need Swimming Caps

CHICAGO (AP) — Boys with girls' hair are going to have to wear swim caps in Chicago Park District pools.

"Long hair clogs up the strainers in the drains and we have to call the engineers to clean up the mess," said Vernon F. Herlund, director of recreation dor the district.

Air Defense Information Officer Cumming Retires

Army Capt. Bruce H. Cumming retired at Hamilton Air Force Base after 23 years of service yesterday.

For the past three years he has been assistant to the director of information for the Western North American Air Defense Region.

A native of Oakland, Cumming entered the Army Air Corps in 1943 and served as a waist and tail gunner on B-17 in Italy. He also served in Korea as a reconnaissance spotter for the army artillery. He was awarded five Air Medals and the Purple Heart for this action.

His latest overseas assignment was in Viet Nam in 1961, where he was assigned to a psychological warfare unit.

He and his wife live at 6 Hillswood Drive, Novato.

He plans to resume his education at University of California at Berkeley.

Shipbuilding Deal Runs Into Trouble

LONDON (AP) — The deal for Britain to build ships for the U.S. Navy to offset the cost of buying American F-111 swing-wing bombers has run into trouble, a Defense Ministry spokesman said today.

British shipyards were competing for bids to build an unspecified number of minesweepers for the United States, he reported, but the U.S. Navy's Bureau of Ships has suddenly withdrawn the call for bids.

The last person to be publicly guillotined in France was the murderer Eugene Weidmann, who was executed at Versailles on June 17, 1939.

For Your Information:

THE MARIN COUNTY REAL ESTATE BOARD has revised its By-Laws in accordance with the following directive from the NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF REAL ESTATE BOARDS:

"A board rule prohibiting the posting of 'FOR SALE' or other similar signs on property for which the member is agent is an inequitable limitation on its membership."

Henceforth, members of the MARIN COUNTY REAL ESTATE BOARD will be governed by local ordinances and existing rules and regulations as established by the MARIN COUNTY REAL ESTATE BOARD pertaining to the displaying of signs.

Prior to May 10, 1966, your MARIN COUNTY REAL ESTATE BOARD has, by self-determination, severely restricted the use of signs since 1938.

PROJECT NO. 003
SOUTH SAN PEDRO ROAD
4 LANE WIDENING
MARIN COUNTY DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS
SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA
NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Sealed Proposals will be received by the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin, State of California, until 10:00 A.M. June 13, 1966, for:

Joint Project No. 1 - South San Pedro Road 4 lane widening - Embarcadero Way to Montecito Road - Length 0.66 miles. This project consists of reconstruction of the roadway including earthwork, retaining walls, drainage structures, curb and gutter, sidewalks, lime treated subbase, cement treated base course and miscellaneous appurtenant items.

The work shall be done in accordance with official plans and specifications prepared in reference thereto which may be seen at the office of the Department of Public Works, County of Marin. Request for forms or information shall be addressed to the Department of Public Works, County of Marin, Civic Center, San Rafael, California.

Plans, Specifications (but not including Standard Specifications or other documents included by reference), and Proposal Forms may be obtained by prospective bidders upon payment of a deposit of Ten Dollars ($10.00) (cash or check made payable to the Department of Public Works, County of Marin) to guarantee safe return of the plans and specifications within ten (10) days after bid opening. Failure to so return the plans and specifications will cause forfeiture of the deposit to the County.

All bids must be submitted on the Proposal form obtained from the Director of Public Works and shall be accompanied by a Proposal Guaranty of at least ten percent (10%) of the bid. Guaranties shall be in the form of a certified or Cashier's Check or a Bidder's Bond. Failure of the successful bidder to execute and return the contract, or to file acceptable bond, as required, within the time allotted shall be cause for the annulment of the award and the forfeiture of the Proposal Guaranty. All guaranties not so retained by the County shall be returned to the bidders within fifteen (15) days after the award of the contract.

Proposal shall be filed with George H. Gnoss, Clerk of the Board of Supervisors, Civic Center, San Rafael, California.

Said Proposals will be opened and read at 10:00 A.M., in Room 400, Marin County Civic Center, on the day specified above for receiving bids. Only the total amount bid will be read and not specific items going to make up said total unless written request for reading of each sub-total and individual items of the bid is requested in writing at the time of the submission of proposals. Bidders will be at liberty to inspect and review bids in the Office of the Director of Public Works to which they will be removed for the purpose of checking after the opening and reading of the totals.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors will award the bid at 4:00 P.M. June 14, 1966, or as soon thereafter as the matter may be heard.

Bids are required for the entire work described herein, and neither partial bids nor contingent bids will be considered.

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

Date: May 24, 1966.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Baldness May Be Proof Of Man's Progress From Ape-Like Times

VAN DELLEN

Medical forecasting is not easy because the course of an illness may be as unpredictable as the weather. The expert knows the usual course of most diseases and the types that do and do not respond to treatment. Other disorders follow a specific pattern, provided complications do not ensue. In such instances the physician appears to hedge and rightly so.

A THOROUGH understanding of the patient is equally important. For example, John has stamina and recuperates rapidly but his friend, Joe, is below par even when he is not sick and a minor ailment may have major consequences. Roger smokes heavily and has difficulty whenever a respiratory infection develops. Nervous factors also enter the picture as some persons develop many emotional overlays that prolong disability. The family history may offer a preview of what can be expected. Some families are wiped out at an early age by heart trouble or high blood pressure. Treating an individual with this background carries an unfavorable prognosis.

Insurance companies are more interested in the long-term estimation of health and longevity. Their medical departments study prognoses scientifically and many of the questions asked on insurance forms are aimed at obtaining data that are useful for this purpose. The longer the policyholder lives to pay premiums, the greater is the revenue of the company. In addition, the rates are calculated upon life expectancy and marked alterations such as a catastrophe could break the company overnight.

THEY ARE interested in heredity because some diseases favor certain families. Physique and body build also play a role. The obese, for example, have a progressively worse mortality rate as they grow older. They are more susceptible to diabetes, high blood pressure, or arteriosclerosis.

Smoking, drinking, and eating habits also affect the outcome when considered in terms of large numbers of persons. The same can be said of the financial status and working conditions. The physical examination offers the insurance company additional information on pulse and blood pressure rates and the presence of heart murmur. These firms have found throughout the years that alterations in these departments affect mortality statistics.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

MULTIPLE KIDNEYS

S. K. writes: Are those who have three kidneys more likely to have bladder and kidney disease than those who have only two of the organs?

REPLY

No, even though the most common complications are infection followed by stones and blockage.

CURLED TOES

Mrs. I. V. writes: My 9-year-old girl has a defect in which her toes curl under instead of lying flat. Would you know why?

REPLY

This may be congenital or acquired through improperly fitted shoes or socks and poor walking habits.

TELEVISION REVIEW

How Network Bosses View The Ratings

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —At several high places in the television networks these days, there is a sly new game in which program executives publicly deplore the publicly given to the ratings—which they live by.

What these gentlemen are saying, in effect, is that the people who write about the ratings systems for newspapers and magazines they don't have to worry about television, belive me are responsible for its power. This is something like saying that the reporter who writes about a murder is somehow responsible for it, at least partly. In short, these gentlemen, who have news departments at their command —or at least nearby—still have little conception of what news is.

This is of little surprise because most of these gentlemen are various degrees of bookkeepers, accountants and salesmen. But in case they are wondering why the ratings are news, I am only too happy to explain to them:

Gentlemen, the ratings are news because you make them news. You insist upon making them news because you rely almost wholly on them in making your programming decisions. It is the essence of news to determine where the real base of power is—and the ratings are the real base of power in television. You aren't.

Therefore it would be bad reporting not to cover the aspect that is the crux of a decision. The moment you give signs of stopping your reliance on these abstract figures to make your decisions for you. the publicity, as you call it, will stop too because the ratings will no longer be of importance.

During the past year or so, someone from each of the three networks has informally tried to practice this latest move of one-upmanship on me in friendly conversation. The trouble is, of course, the networks are hardly consistent in their altruistic propaganda. If they get a bad rating, then the rating system is over-publicized. If they get a good one, your phone never stops ringing as it brings you the news.

As an example, a high ABC-TV officer, in a speech, recently condemned the attention given to ratings in the press. I understand he is quite a nice and intelligent fellow, and therefore of course I took his attack with the usual grain of salt, admiring all the while his tactics.

As it happens, not long afterward two ABC-TV publicity representatives, on two separate occasions, called me (and countless other writers) to ask if I was interested in the ratings gathered by that network's Academy Award show. I told them that no, I wasn't, because if their boss thinks that ratings shouldn't get so much publicity, who was I to argue with him? I felt they should do what their boss suggested—which was to stop giving publicity to the ratings. I told them to please deliver the message to him that I was following his advice. I always take a man at his word.

Narcotics Jury Trial Scheduled

Trial by jury of Marc T. Ford, 19, charged with two others with possession of narcotics and marijuana, was scheduled yesterday in Marin Superior Court for Oct. 17.

Dennis Thomas, 20, of 322 D Street, San Rafael, pleaded innocent yesterday. The case was continued until 9:30 a.m. Wednesday for trial setting. Third defendant, Michael Tauer, 18, of 53 Meadow Drive, Alto, was scheduled to enter plea today.

Ford, of no known address, and his companions allegedly had methadone hydrochloride and atropine sulfate, along with a quantity of marijuana, when their car was halted on Highway 101 by sheriff's officers April 7.

Planners Reject Testing Area

SAN JOSE (AP)—The Santa Clara County Planning Commission rejected for the second time yesterday a plan for a weapons testing area near San Jose.

The commission took its second vote on the proposal after the County Board of Supervisors referred back to it an appeal of its earlier decision by FMC Corporation.

FMC originally asked rezoning of a 2,000 acre ranch north of Morgan Hill and west of Highway 101 to allow manufature and testing of explosives. The corporation later offered to limit the site to testing.

Three Leaving Sausalito Force

Two patrolmen and a police cadet have resigned from the Sausalito Police Department, patrolmen James B. Kane and James R. Hoyt to join the Union City Police Department under ttheir former chief, Kenneth H. Huck. Huck left Sausalito as police chief Mar. 25 to become chief of the new department in Alameda county.

Police Cadet Richard W. Mickel will take a job as patrolman in Palo Alto. Kane's resignation is effective June 10, Hoyt's, June 14, and Mickel's, June 15.

City Mgr. Charles A. Brown praised the work of the men and said they are leaving for better salaries and due to Sausalito's higher cost of living.

Air Force Warns Of Sonic Booms

Sonic booms may jar Marin homes early tomorrow.

Fighter airplanes of the 84th Fighter Interceptor Squadron are to take the air in a Western North American Air Defense Region exercise simulating defense against an attack by high altitude bombers. They may exceed the speed of sound, region headquarters at Hamilton Air Force Base warned.

The exercise will not be in Marin skies for more than an hour, the headquarters reported.

LBJ Re-Steers Racial Equality Conference

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The White House conference on racial problems had new life today—thanks to a personal visit from President Johnson, which stalled a drive to use the forum for protests against the Viet Nam war.

Johnson's unexpected visit last night and his plea for moderation strengthened the hand of Negro moderates trying to stop militants who were vying for delegate support of resolutions condemning the war.

Floyd McKissick, national chairman of CORE, said he and several other delegates planned to introduce resolutions demanding an immediate halt to the fighting to spare "billions of dollars" in war costs for domestic use in programs to fight poverty and give Negroes better opportunities.

The Johnson appearance to give the chairmen of workshop sessions today the impetus they needed to contain the militants in their group. The conference ends tonight with a banquet.

The presdiential appeal for moderation came when he asked the more than 2,000 delegates "not to expect from me, or from any man, a miracle.

"Do not expect us, even together, to put right in one year or four all that took centuries to make wrong."

Whites Predict Troubles For First Negro Sheriff

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (UPI) — "The first time a Negro officer puts his hand on a white woman, there's going to be trouble."

A white deputy was discussing yesterday the "potential racial trouble" facing this town in Alabama's black (soil) belt if Negro sheriff nominee Lucius Amerson takes office.

Amerson, a 32-year-old former paratrooper and Korean War veteran, defeated white Sheriff Harvey Sadler in a Democratic primary runoff Tuesday. Two other Negroes also won races in Macon County where Negroes outnumber whites by more than 5 to 1.

The deputy predicted that Amerson couldn't handle the job if he becomes the first Negro sheriff in the nation. At present, there are no other candidates for the office entered in the November election.

"Federal marshals will have to be called in before it's all over," the deputy said.

The short, muscular Amerson, who lacks only 30 semester hours of obtaining an electronics degree at Tuskegee Institute, said he did not anticipate any trouble.

But, he added:

"I hope I won't have to arrest anyone—it would make my job a whole lot easier."

Sadler said Amerson would "have to brace his back and face up to the job.

Brodie Passes (Financial) Ball To His Attorney

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Quarterback John Brodie of the San Francisco 49ers has thrown the ball to an attorney in lining up for his 1966 contract negotiations while the price war between pro football leagues rages.

The 31-year-oldveteran, who set a National Football League completion record last season, engaged John Elliot Cook to represent him.

That came just a day after Don Klosterman, general manager for Houston in the American Football League, told of talks with the 49er star in the Texas city.

In San Francisco, that brought immediate speculation that the former Stanford great might be considering a switch of allegiance. That could mean forfeiture of a pension already earned.

Brodie politely refused to discuss the situation. Asked about the Houston visit, he said, "I read a lot in the papers about the trip."

Cook, an attorney for 45 years, said, "I'm in the process of trying to learn what this is all about. I haven't looked at any writings and I've only had a preliminary talk with John Brodie."

The lawyer said the 49er quarterback was the "first athlete I have had as a client in connection with his profession."

Cook added that he has asked Brodie to bring "everything you have in writing" for a study of the over-all situation.

The 49ers say Brodie's 1965 contract contained the option clause for his services in 1966. Under established club policy, officials would not discuss either prior contracts or present negotiations.

There were reports the ace passer received in the neighborhood of $40,000 last year and wanted $75,000 this time, perhaps spaced over a number of years.

Klosterman said he and Brodie have been friends for years and admitted they discussed football during the weekend. The Houston official added that Brodie "feels that the Pete Gogolak deal opened up a new avenue for him."

New York of the NFL signed kicking specialist Gogolak this spring after he played out his option with Buffalo of the AFL last fall.

Brodie, however, already has qualified for an NFL pension. If an NFL player plays out his option, he loses pension benefits although if he is released and goes to another league, he retains them.

Under 1965 figures, a five-year-veteran receives $437 monthly in pension, a 10-year-veteran $656. Brodie has played seven seasons under the plan which went into effect in 1959.

He joined the 49ers in 1957. Last season he completed 242 passes of 391 attempts for a 61.9 percentage, gained 3,112 yards and threw for 30 touchdowns. His 242 completions set a league record.

$300 To Repair Scoreboard; S.R. Ball Park Is Praised

TOURNAMENT OF CHAMPIONS director El Endriss was quoted here the other day as mildly complaining that the San Rafael Albert Field scoreboard was not functioning for last weekend's prep baseball classic. He stated, "It would have cost only $20 to get the board in working order . . . "

Well, the fastest way to find out if anybody reads this potential Pulitzer poop is to step on someone's tootsies and that's exactly what happened.

Joe Rodota, the very fine recreation director for the City of San Rafael, took exception to the quote. "I have talked to electrical contractors and the minimum expense to repair the board is between $300 and $400," said Rodota. "And the only reason it wasn't fixed is because we felt that was too much money to warrant it. I'd rather see that kind of money spent on something more worthwhile."

Rodota said the scoreboard is about 15 years old and that considerable rewiring would be required to put it in perfect condition.

He sounded especially hurt by Endriss' complaint because, "We spent a lot of extra money and effort to get Albert Field in excellent shape for the tournament. We cooperated 110 per cent and bent over backwards to provide a ball park the city can be proud of. And coaches told us it is one of the better ball diamonds they have seen in Northern California.

"I wanted to get the scoreboard repaired, but it was just too much money. Heck, if it would cost only $20, I'd have had it done without question."

DON LUCAS, the Terra Linda High baseball coach who had no official connection with the T of C, volunteered his services as groundskeeper for the Marin Catholic-Lincoln title game. Don groomed the mound so that it would be in perfect condition for what he knew would be an outstanding performance by Marin Catholic's Ben Burch.

Burch helped Marin beat Lucas' Terra Linda Trojans twice (3-2, 5-4) during the regular Marin Athletic League season.

MARIN CATHOLIC'S 2-1 semi-final victory over Napa ended in some confusion. Napa's potential tying run was thrown out at home plate for a game-ending double-play. Or so everything thought.

Actually, the runner was automatically called out before the close play at the plate because of an interference call at second base.

Which brings up a sore subject: Fans who watched the Napa Indians perform shook their heads in disgust over their display of poor sportsmanship.

One professional scout disgustedly commented: "If I were a high school coach I'd never schedule a game against them."

Constant arguing, rough housing on the base paths and a steady stream of vulgarity from their dugout marked the Indians as very poor losers, indeed.

LINCOLN HIGH'S first baseman Ralph Ogden arrived for the championship game dressed in a tuxedo and in the company of his best girl.

Ogden, the San Jose all-star who won All-American basketball honors last season, played in the championship game and then dashed back to San Jose for the senior prom. He didn't even stick around for his All-Tournament trophy, but the fact he missed most of his school's biggest social event in favor of the tournament stamps him as a genuine sportsman and athlete.

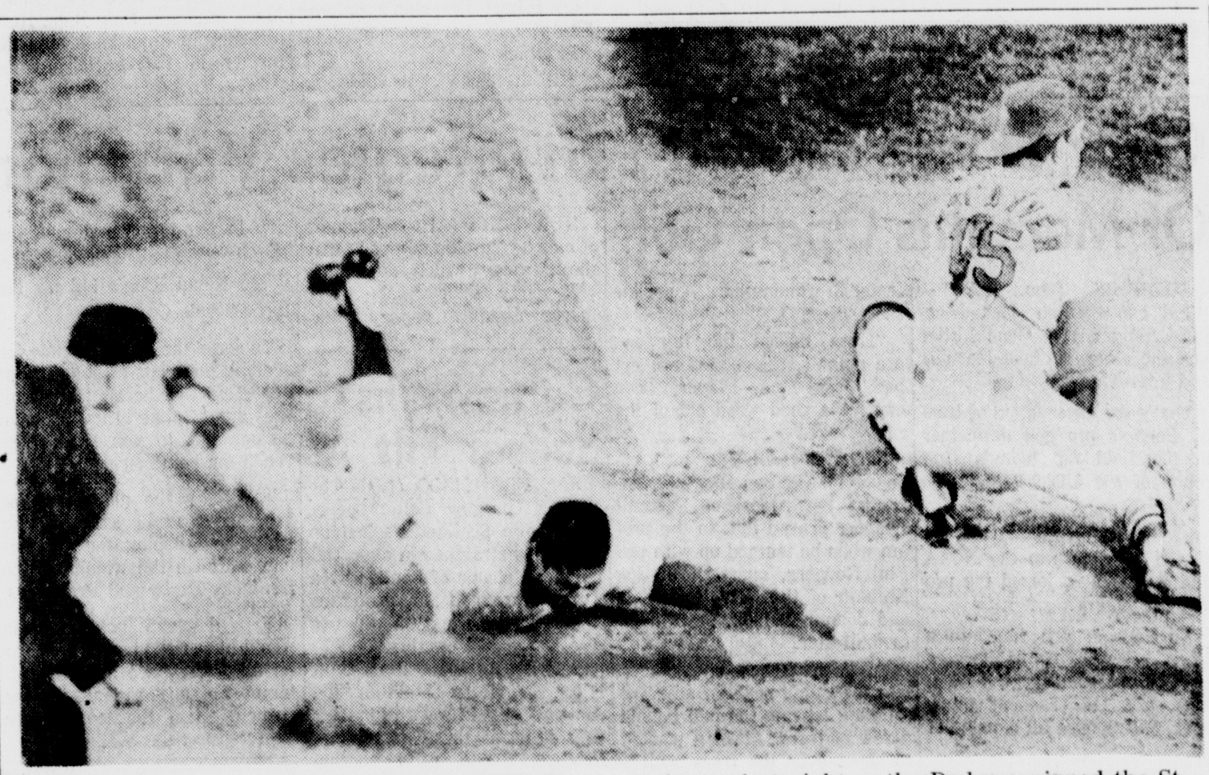
Prep Golfers In Tourney

Four-man Redwood and Tamalpais High School golf teams will be competing in the Piedmont Invitational golf championships tomorrow at Lake Chabot course in Oakland.

There will be 24 teams from 12 Northern California leagues in the team competition. All teams are either champions or runners-up, with Redwood being the champ of the Marin Athletic League.

In addition to the team competition, Don Hawken of San Rafael High and Rick Timmer of Terra Linda High will be competing in medal play against 22 others preps.

Shaw Goes Against Braves Tonight



THE BIG RUN—Los Angeles Dodger Willie Davis dives toward home plate to score the game's only run last night as the Dodgers nipped the St. Louis Cardinals 1-0 behind dazzling Sandy Koufax. Cards' catcher is Tim McCarver. (AP Wirephoto)

Willie A Step Closer To Williams' Record

ATLANTA (AP)—Willie Mays has moved a notch closer to third place on the all-time home run list, but another famous slugger doesn't think the San Francisco belter deserves his latest homer.

"Mack Jones or I should have caught the ball," Atlanta's Henry Aaron said of Mays' first-inning blast last night.

The fleet Giant turned the hit into an inside-the-park home run that ignited San Francisco's 4-3 conquest of the Braves. Bob Shaw is slated to pitch against the Braves tonight.

"Mack got his glove on the ball, but we ran into each other and the ball popped out," Aaron said. "Then when I tried to pick it up after it hit the center field fence I grabbed a handful of cinders with the ball and dropped it.

"By then Willie was on his way, but if I had not dropped it I could have held him to a triple."

Mays slid home just ahead of the throw to the plate and was given his 12th home run of the season by the official scorer — the 517th of hiscareer. He needs just four more to tie Ted Williams for third on the home run chart.

Mays wasn't talking about the home run. He got into an argument in the Giants' dressing room after the game with an Atlanta photographer over a request that he put his shirt on again for another picture. Mays refused to pose for a second picture and then brushed off sports writers from the Southeast who tried to interview him.

The homer by Mays — a two-run shot — was followed by a solo blast by Willie McCovey which just cleared the center field fence. Braves' left fielder Felipe Alou got his glove on the ball but it bounced out when Alou came down on the fence.

"If we were going good," Alou said later, "both of those homers would have been caught. But that's the way things are going for us."

The loss was the fifth straight for the Braves, who came back in the ninth with a run, and had two on base with none out. Then pinch-hitter Frank Bolling bounced into a fielder's choice, and Lindy McDaniel came in and fanned pinch-hitter Gary Geiger and got Woody Woodward to fly out.

The Braves had gotten only three hits off the Giants' Ron Herbel in eight innings, with Aaron's two-run homer — his 17th of the season — the only damaging blow.

Herbel was replaced after eight because San Francisco Manager Herman Franks thought he was tiring. The Giants then had to call on Frank Linzy, Bill Henry and McDaniel to preserve the victory, which kept the Giants 2½ games in front of second-place Los Angeles in the National League race.

Wins 7th Place

Clay Walsh of San Rafael won seventh place in the semi-main at the Bay Cities Racing Assn. midget auto race last Sunday at San Jose.

1 BEHIND JUAN

Sandy Wins, 1-0

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Sandy Koufax does not mind putting the hex on Juan Marichal and he gets paid for doing it to opposing hitters, but you won't find him jinxing himself.

"Sure Marichal has a chance to win 30," he laughed after blanking the St. Louis Cardinals 1-0 last night to stay one victory behind the San Francisco hurler.

But asked about his own chances, dandy Sandy only reminded writers about last year.

"You asked me then about Don Drysdale and myself and I gave you an answer," he said. "Then Don and I couldn't win a game for weeks."

But answer or not, Koufax is off to a better start at 9-1 than last season when he finished at 26-8. He did not win his ninth game last season until June 12.

Koufax, who along with Marichal got off to a late start this year because of contract problems, indicated the best still is yet to come.

"This is the best I've thrown all year," he said after allowing the Cardinals only seven hits, several of the fluke variety. "I had a good fast ball, good curve and good control and even got a couple of fork balls in for strikes."

He lowered his earned run average to 1.48, still behind Marichal's 0.80 and 10-0 record. But both are ahead of the 1934 30-game pace of Dizzy Dean, last major leaguer to win 30.

Koufax had to be at his best against the Cardinals and Al Jackson, whose earned run average dropped to 0.73. The only run off Jackson, now 4-3, came on an error in the seventh inning.

Willie Davis lined a drive into the right field corner that caromed past right fielder Bob Tolan, who then threw badly to Julian Javier, allowing Davis to come all the way around.

Davis, too, indicated things would get even better. Although he has no home runs, the center fielder is hitting .284, one of his best starts.

"I don't care if he doesn't hit a homer all year," said Manager Walter Alston. "We've been trying to keep him from swinging so hard."

"I widened my stance," Davis said, "and I see the ball better, don't swing as hard and lay off the bad pitches. I tried for homers before, but now I'll take those doubles and triples."

Kialoa Awarded Yacht Win On Bolero's Foul

NEW YOR K(AP) — Bolero was disqualified in the 200-mile Block Island yacht race yesterday and the victory awarded to Kialoa II, the 73-foot scratch sloop owned by James Kilroy of Newport Harbor, Calif.

Bolero, a 73-foot yawl owned by Mrs. Charles H. White of Huntington, N.Y., finished first and also had the best corrected time of 30:35:46 in the Long Island Sound race that started Friday off Larchmont, N.Y. and ended Sunday of Stamford, Conn. Kialoa had finished second in 31:26:24.

Richard S. Nye of Rye, N.Y., who had finished third in this Carina, a 53-foot yawl, protested that he had to alter course at the start of the race to avoid a collision with Bolero.

His claim was unanimously upheld at yesterday's meeting of the four-man protest committee, and the committee disqualified the defending champion completely instead of imposing a time penalty.

In the revised order of finish all of the 168 yachts that finished behind Bolero moved up a notch. Carina was placed second behind Kialoa II, with Good News moving into third place.

Kemp Is Named Tars' Top Athlete Of Year

Mike Kemp, College of Marin's scrappy little quarterback on last year's team, today was named the college's Outstanding Athlete of 1965-66.

Kemp, of Fairfax, also wrestled on the Tars' team and went through the season with only one loss, competing in the 145 pound class.

The announcement of Kemp winning College of Marin's top athletic honor came today at a noon awards assembly.

Kemp, former star at Drake High School in San Anselmo, was chosen on the All-Golden Valley Conference second team after the close of the football season last fall.

Dick Read, Marin football coach, said, "Kemp is an outstanding competitor with good ability and a great heart. He is also a fine gentleman who didn't let his small size become a factor in his play."

Wrestling coach Jim McGowan said Kemp probably would have done a good job at the GVC wrestling championships but was unable to compete because of illness.

College of Marin's coaching staff did the voting for the Outstanding Athlete award.

TV Announcing At Indy Was Quite A Comedy

The only thing I know for sure about the 1966 Indianapolis 500 is that you could have won it on a slow horse. Kauai King would have taken every lap. The details of the race are as obscure as cave writings.

That's because I watched it on closed-circuit TV at the Fox-Wilshire. It was the most exciting show I have seen in a long time. I only wish I knew the plot.

If you find out who won—and how—will you please write to an announcer named Charles Brockman, care of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, Indianapolis, Ind., and let him know? Charlie lost it in the turn all afternoon. He hung it on the wall in the first lap and never did catch up.

I HAVE HEARD most of the great airwave boo-boos of our time—Clem McCarthy calling "Faultless" the winner of the 1947 Kentucky Derby, Graham McNamee calling almost ANY baseball game, Bill Stern lateraling off a football at the last desperate second when he saw he had called the wrong runner.

But for staying power, Charlie Brockman outdid them all. Charlie hung on all afternoon, wrong for almost five straight hours. To paraphrase Ted Husing, you can't lateral off a race car. So Charlie just went around crashing into walls along with the rest of the field.

AS A COMEDY record, it would be a best seller. There were times when you could swear it was Shelley Berman—or Bob and Ray. The theater I was in never howled more at Laurel and Hardy.

At one point, Charlie—who must have been in a cold sweat by that time—bellowed. "We have had a report there are only eight cars running!" Since counting eight does not require four years at Caltech, the audience wondered why Charlie didn't take off his shoes and socks and check for himeslf, if necessary. Another time, he announced pathetically, "The public address system is announcing Jackie Stewart in the lead!"

HE ANNOUNCED everybody but the fire truck for the lead before the afternoon was over, and, once, hysterically described a wheel - to - wheel fight for second place, only to end up lamely admitting one of the cars was a lap behind, not five seconds behind. "We've had such a juggling of positions, this could be a factor," he "explained" sheepishly. He was a market-picker in a heavy stock selloff—he was running well behind the transactions.

Graham Hill was leading the race several laps before Charlie caught up to him and then, when Jimmy Clark's pit crew started mistakenly to inform their man he was leading, poor Charlie almost started to sob.

THE RACE was the biggest one-day attrition of vehicles since the Battle of Jutland, a bigger pile of scrap metal than Rommel left behind in Africa.

The "race" once again was a four-wheeled cockfight. One guy who started the race in last position in Row 4, had crashed into a car in Row 2, before the whole field had even hit the starting line. He scattered cars like a one-ton bowling ball. You had to wonder if these guys could be trusted to back out of a garage safely.

THE WINNER drove like a guy looking for a place to park. The outcome was a great victory for Firestone tires and a great setback for milk. The tires not only served the winner, but surivived two hairy spinouts by Jimmy Clark without even a flat spot. And winner Hill, a gaunt, moustachioed Britisher who looks as if he should be riding behind hounds instead of horsepower, grimaced and almost spat it out when called upon to drink the traditional quart of milk. But he hungrily kissed the Speedway Queen, showing not all upperclass tastes are decadent. It was the only thing about the race that didn't bore him. Like Charlie Brockman, he admitted he hadn't the "foggiest" idea he was winning.

Phils Sweep Two From Chicago Cubs

Independent-Journal Sports

42 Thurs., June 2, 1966

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Rich Allen can't throw over 60 feet, but he's having no difficulty hitting over 400.

Philadelphia's star third baseman, who missed 20 games with a dislocated right shoulder, is recuperating in the outfield and making the Phillies healthy with his bat.

Allen drove in four runs — three of them with a 447-foot home run — last night as the Phillies rallied for a 7-4 victory in the second game and completed a sweep of their doubleheader against Chicago. Philadelphia won the opener 4-3.

It was Allen's second 400-foot homer since returning to the line-up last week. He's had nine hits in 30 swings and shows a season's average of .338. With him back, the Phils have won six of eight.

"It means so much to the team when Richie is playing," says Manager Gene Mauch. "His presence has an inspiring effect on the entire batting order. He does so many things to help you."

One of the things is not throwing. Allen's shoulder is still not right and he knows it. "I might be able to get the ball 60 feet if the game depended on it," he says.

Rather than play him at third base where he'd have to throw across the infield, Mauch has put Allen in left field and assigned shortstop Bobby Wine as his caddy.

On every ball hit to left, Wine races out to relay Allen's weak throws. So far the arrangement hasn't hurt the club's defense and Allen's bat has juiced up the attack.

His three-run shot landed in an equipment enclosure in deepest center field at Connie Mack Stadium. Only Babe Ruth and Jimmy Foxx have hit balls further in that sector of the park.

Elsewhere last night, Willie Mays hit his 517th career homer as San Francisco edged Atlanta 4-3, Los Angeles blanked St. Louis 1-0 on Sandy Koufaxs' seven-hitter, Houston shut out Cincinnati 2-0 and Pittsburgh downed New York 3-1.

In the American League, Detroit whipped Minnesota 9-4, Chicago defeated New York 6-2, Washington split a doubleheader with Boston, winning 6-3 before losing 5-0, Kansas City dropped Cleveland 8-3 and Baltimore topped California 9-7 in 10 innings.

After Allen's tape measure homer, Wine broke the tie with the first of two doubles and then the Phillies pulled away.

In the first game, Tony Taylor's eighth inning single brought Bill White home with the winning run. Chicago's Lee Thomas was cut down at home plate on a relay from Tony Gonzalez to Dick Groat to Bob Uecker for the final out of the game as he tried to score the tying run.

Dave Giusti and Claude Raymond combined on Houston's five-hit shutout of the Reds, who dropped their fifth in a row. Jim Wynn drove in one run with a single and Rusty Staub homered for the other Astro run.

Matty Alou drove in one run and scored another in the Pirates' victory over the Mets. Don Cardwell got credit for his first victory after four losses although he needed last-out help from Al McBean to halt a Mets' threat in the ninth.

Clear Skies For Start Of Memphis Open Golf

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — "You can't watch Jack Nicklaus, Tony Lema, Gene Littler and the others without learning and improving."

That's the observation of Randy Petri, a pro golf newcomer in the field for today's first round of the $100,000 Memphis Open.

Petri, who helped the University of Houston win the NCAA title a year ago, joined the pro tour in January.

"In college, you ran into a dozen or so good golfers a year," Petri said. "In the PGA, there are 144 of them every week, and they're all capable of 65s."

Littler birdied five holes and eagled another yesterday in posting his seven-under-par 63 — equaling the Colonial Country Club course record.

When Nicklaus won the 1965 Memphis Open by beating Johnny Pott in the playoff, he collected $9,000. This year's winner will get $20,000 — the amount of the total purse when the first Memphis Open was held in 1958.

Colonial is the smallest course on the PGA circuit — only 6,466 yards long. Accuracy is the big factor in winning here — not the short distance.

"Even though the fairways are narrow, the roughs are not bad," said Gary Player. "You can hit a good wood out of the rough."

Lance Alworth, star pass receiver for the San Diego Chargers of the American Football League, proved that in the pro-am when he teamed up with pro Phil Rodgers, quarterback Joe Namath of the New York Jets and Johnny Lujack, the former football star.

An Alworth tee shot sliced into the rough near an adjacent fairway, leaving the ball behind a row of trees. Alworth wanted to shoot over the trees with a four-iron, but Rodgers did some coaching:

"Try your wood, Lance, and go through the trees. If you use the iron, you'll still be 50 yards from the green. And if you get through the trees, you'll be in good position."

Alworth went to his wood and the ball fell a chip shot away from the green.

The fans here were disappointed when they learned Arnold Palmer, who suffered a back injury two weeks ago in New Orleans, would not compete. But Ben Hogan is on hand and expected to attract large galleries.

The weather forecast for the tournament is good — warm and sunny, with a brisk breeze.

Strategies Vary For Belmont Stakes

NEW YORK (AP) — Trainers of nine 3-year-olds mapped today the strategy which they hope will carry their finely tuned thoroughbreds to victory Saturday in the 98th running of the Belmont Stakes and ruin favored Kauai King's bid for the turf's Triple Crown.

To some the strategy calls for sending their horses out in front at the start of the 1½ miles with the hope that they'll have enough left to win when they reach the home stretch.

To others the plans call for keeping Kauai King within range and hoping their horses can outfinish the winner of the Kentucky Derby and Preakness.

A third group includes those who'll have their horses trail far off the early pace and then attempt to strike fast in the stretch, when the leaders are expected to tire.

But to a man, the trainers agree that the best thing they have going for them is the last quarter-mile of Aqudecut's racing oval. They are not sure their charges can go 1½ miles. But neither are they sure that Kauai King can do it. None ever have raced that far and only one—King Ranch's Buffle—ever has worked the Belmont distance.

Canny Max Hirsch, who has saddled four Belmont winners, sent Buffle 1½ miles over Belmont Park's main track. His time was 2:37 3-5.

Michael Ford, owner of Kauai King, has remained confident. And well he should. The son of Native Dancer has never looked better. To that all trainers agree. He turned in an impressive workout Tuesday, going 1⅛ miles in 1:54. And he has been made the 4-5 choice to earn the winner's share of $116,450 of a gross purse of $160,200.

"He's ready," said Ford. "He'll blow out about three-eighths a mile Friday and that will be all until the big race."

Entries will be made tomorrow morning. Post time will be 5:15 p.m. EDT Saturday with New York racing officials looking for a crowd of 65,000 up. CBS will televise the classic.

In addition to Kauai King and Buffle, the Belmont runners will be Advocator, Rehabilitate, Fast Count, Fleet Shoe, Amberoid, Highest Honor and Valam.

Celtic Wins Soccer Tilt

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The touring Glasgow Celtic soccer team from Scotland racked up its second straight win over Tottenham Hotspur of London by a 2 to 1 margin in San Francisco last night. Celtic won 1-0 two weeks ago in Toronto.

Before a crowd estimated at 11,000 in Kezar Stadium the Scots swarmed through for their first tally in the 25th minute, forward Bertie Auld scoring from 22 feet.

Less than a minute later the Spurs' Dave MacKay scored the tying goal.

In the 14th minute of the second half forward Bobby Lennox converted a pass from Steve Chalmers into the winning goal.

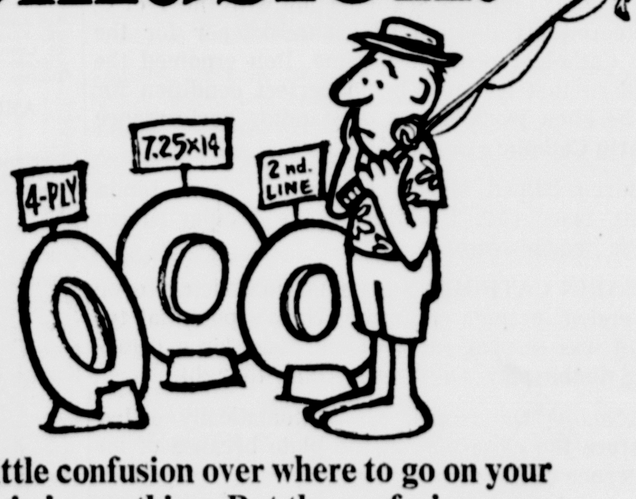
Going on a vacation? Avoid the State of Confusion.



A little confusion over where to go on your vacation trip is one thing. But the confusion over buying the tires that'll get you there is another thing.

With "ply nonsense" to the north. "Tread talk" to the south. "Miracle compounds" to the east. "Cord angles" to the west. Before you know it, you're going in circles and you haven't even left your driveway.

In most tire stores you need a compass just to get from the front door to the salesman.

At B.F.Goodrich—the straight-talk tire people—all you need is a Tire Value Calculator... and you're on the road to the right tire at the right price. No confusion. No compasses.

Wherever you go, start out on the right tires. It's a cinch if you let B.F.Goodrich be your guide.

The FISHIN' FOOL

By RALPH STEVENS
I-J Fish and Game Writer

Light Tackle... Greater Thrill; Salmon Action Slows A Bit

STEVENS

It's taken for granted that the lighter the tackle the greater the thrill of landing a fish. Actually the maximum thrill per minute per fish hooked comes through fear—fear that the line, the leader or the rod will break with every toss of the fish's noble head. Seldom does that thrill happen when trolling for salmon with a three-pound sinker. Experience will give an angler some idea of the size and weight of the fish hooked, but usually it's merely a case of laboriously turning the handle of the reel for the tyro at salmon trolling except—when the salmon are silvers of from maybe 8 to 15 pounds, and 16 ounces of weight is all that is required on the releaser.

Sid McMullin of Caruso's at Sausalito told me some of the boys are having a ball hooking the hard-fighting silver salmon while trolling a one-pound sinker from 15 to 25 feet below the surface.

THE ACTION slowed down a bit on Monday, but several fish were boated at that. Hal Boenner of Lee Anderson's place on San Pablo Avenue in Oakland reported the boat, Sea Horse, coming in with 8 salmon to 12 pounds; the Privateer netted an even dozen fish, one of which weighed 27 pounds (that fish, of course was a chinook). Hal also reported the Yvette with three limits to 12 pounds.

Apparently the boat Cherokee had a load of bass fishermen, as Hal reported the Cherokee as landing four stripers to 18 pounds and one halibut of about 15 pounds. The R. S. P. took five bass to 18 pounds trolling a Pet Spoon and a bug-eye jig.

BETTY URBAIS called Tuesday morning to report three boats from the Sausalito Boat and Tackle — the Suzy Belle, Inabelle and the Blue Fin — working the waters about seven miles northeast of the Farallones and each taking two salmon. Betty also mentioned her rockfishing boat, the Blue Horizon, netting 28 limits of assorted rockfish (mostly good sized blues) as well as a few lings in the Point Reyes area.

Betty mentioned that now that good sardines are coming in, a flock of nice stripers have been taken — "I understand quite a few nice bass have been taken at Strawberry Point — under the Richardson Bay Bridge," she said.

Sid McMullin of Caruso's reported that some lunker bass have been taken from the south end of the Golden Gate Bridge. "Up to 30 pounds, by anglers using a Hulu Skirt and feathered jigs," he said.

STRIPER TROLLING and live bait drifting accounted for some fair to good results. Alice Quan of China Camp reported that the lads who know their stuff have been having a field day hooking and landing nice stripers trolling near the Sisters. Jim Coreone limited out on Tuesday morning but Alice told me the best results have been had in the afternoon and evenings.

WINTRY WEATHER and high winds held down the take in the back country.

LOTS OF smelt around China Camp. If you want a thrill, try for them with your trout rod and reel. Try fishing a nymph about two feet below the surface. You may be in for a pleasant surprise.

Donkey Baseball Tilt In Kentfield

College of Marin's non-teaching employees will be going against the faculty in a donkey baseball game to benefit College of Marin scholarships Saturday at 10 a.m. on the college's baseball field in Kentfield.

Tickets, at $1 for adults and 50 cents for children under 12, will be available at the game or on campus through members of the sponsoring California School Employees Assn.

General chairman of the event is Tom Royall. Gaspar Orlando is in charge of tickets.

Collegiate Row Regatta Coming Up

NEW YORK (AP) — The Washington Huskies, powerhouse of the West, and Cornell's Big Red, one of the leading threats of the East, will be able to keep tabs on each other in the blue ribbon varsity race of the Intercollegiate Rowing Association's 64th annual regatta.

Washington got the eighth lane and Cornell the ninth for the three-mile race on June 18.

The line-up in the feature event on Onondaga Lake near Syracuse, N.Y.: 1, Rutgers. 2, Columbia. 3, Massachusetts Institute of Technology. 4, UCLA. 5, Dartmouth. 6, California. 7, Brown. 8, Washington. 9, Cornell. 10, Wisconsin. 11, Stanford. 12, Syracuse. 13, Princeton. 14, Navy. 15, Pennsylvania.

Thirteen crews were entered in the junior varsity three-miler and 11 for the freshman two-miler. The freshman race will start the regatta at 3 p.m., EDT, followed by the jayvees at 3:30 p.m., and the varsity at 4:15 p.m.

Navy is the defending champion in all three races.

Youth Net Clinics Included In International Tourney

Youth tennis clinics by 14 international professionals will be among the highlights of the 1966 Peacock Gap Invitational Professional Tennis Tournament this month.

The clinics will be co-sponsored by the Peacock Gap Youth Tennis Foundation, International Professional Tennis Assn., and the Independent-Journal. It will be held June 21 at various high schools and tennis clubs throughout Marin County.

The pro tournament starts the following day, Wednesday, June 22, and runs through the rest of the week at the Peacock Gap Beach Club, winding up Sunday, June 26.

Top flight pros competing will be Rod Laver, Andres Gimeno, Mal Anderson, Barry MacKay, Lew Hoad, Butch Buchholz, Alex Olmedo, Pancho Segura, Ken Rosewall, Pierre Barthes, Mike Davies and Luis Ayala.

The tournament will be played using the Van Alen Simplified Scoring System (VASSS), matches taking about 30 minutes to complete. It will be on a round-robin basis.

Matches on the weekdays will run from 3 to 6 p.m. and after an hour break will continue under the lights from 7 to 10 p.m. The weekend action will be from noon to 6 p.m.

Courtside seats will cost $5 per day, with a tourney ticket, good for all five days, selling for $20. A reserved courtside box, with four seats for all five days, will go at $200. There are a limited number of free tickets for juniors, upon application. The free ducats are made possible by donations to the Peacock Gap Youth Tennis Foundation.

Tennis activity around the Peacock Gap Beach Club in San Rafael will actually start the weekend of June 18-19, with the Peacock Gap Teaching Professionals Invitational. That tourney begins at 10 a.m., both days.

Jr. Olympic Swim Meet In Kentfield

Eleven teams from Marin, San Francisco, Sonoma, Napa, Lake, Solano, Humbolt and Del Norte counties will be competing this weekend at the Junior Olympic short course qualifying swim meet in the College of Marin pool, Kentfield.

The meet, under the sponsorship of the Marin Pirates Swim Club, will be Saturday and Sunday, starting at 9:30 a.m. both days. It is under the sanction of the Pacific Assn. AAU.

It will be one of four qualifying meets going on in Northern California, the others in Monteray, Stockton and San Leandro. Top 12 finishers in each event among the four meets will qualify for the finals June 11-12 in Sacramento.

Two More Enter Tennis Tourney

Bob Gallaway, third ranking senior from South California, and Don White, a high ranking player from San Diego, have entered their names in the eighth annual National Men's 35 Hardcourt Championships scheduled June 8 through 12 at the Mill Valley Tennis Club.

The pair has entered the singles competition and will play together in doubles. Entries for the tourney close next Saturday.

Another Blow To White Sox

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago White Sox were dealt another serious blow last night when it was learned that third baseman Pete Ward will be lost to the club for from four to six weeks because of a hernia.

Only 24 hours earlier, the White Sox lost the services of shortstop Ron Hansen for the rest of the season because of a ruptured spinal disc.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Bernstein's Delicatessen Opens; Locust Bakery Changes Ownership

A new delicatessen called Bernstein's has opened at 601 Strawberry Town and Country Villiage, on the Reed Boulevard side of the shopping center.

Owners are Hy Weinberg and Al Graf, both of San Francisco, and attorney Philip Bernstein, who lives in San Rafael. Practically the only activity of the latter in the business is to bestow his name upon it. (It was chosen by common consent as having the best drawing power).

Weinberg previously had a delicatessen in the city and Graf, a bail bond broker in recent years, formerly had a drive-in restaurant in Redwood City.

Bernstein's is a kosher delicatessen and also has 12 tables for serving sandwiches and snacks. Open seven days a week from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.

THE VILLAGE is now filled to capacity, with only the Kubla Khan Chinese restaurant lacking an opening. This should occur sometime in June. John Rader has reopened Imports International in the triangle, giving him almost five times the space he had in his previous store in the center. It has enabled him to stock up on more decorator's pieces. Altogether there are about 70 businesses flourishing here. No doubt additional construction will be planned for the area — south of the Shell station.

LOCUST BAKERY at 363 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley has had a change of ownership from James and Lois Kruse to Erwin and Hilde Wuestenberg, who have already taken possession.

The Wuestenbergs, originally from Germany, have been in the bakery trade for about 20 years, most recently in Modesto and in the Sacramento Valley. Name of the bakery will remain the same, but it will now specialize more in cakes and pastries and offer a larger variety of bakery goods.

IN THE PROCESS of being sold is the Alibi Club at 1547 Fourth Street, San Rafael. As soon as the liquor license transfer is approved, ownership will pass from Frank Brady and J. C. Youngberg to J. Fred Gordon, who has the Gold Clown at 1105 Fourth Street; his partner William J. Bertsch in the Town Club, Novato; and Robert E. Munter, owner of Munter's Women's Intimate Apparel in San Rafael. Closing of the sale is probably two weeks away.

GOLDEN GATE DISTRIBUTING CO., San Rafael has been appointed distributor for the "Gateway Counties" of the Redwood Empire (Marin, Sonoma and Mendocino) for Frankfort Distillery, Louisville, Ky. (a Seagram subsidiary) to handle its Antique, Mattingly and Moore and Henry McKenna bourbon whiskies. George Kaplanis of Tiburon has been appointed distillery representative for the territory and will work through Golden Gate Distributing Co.

SERVICE STATIONS. Tidewater Oil Co. plans a station for Northgate East — the shopping center proposed for east of 101 Highway at the Terra Linda interchange . . . Signal Oil Co. plans one on Ignacio Boulevard, west of the Pacheo Plaza Shopping Center, Ignacio . . . Standard Oil Co. is putting up a new station in Marin City on Donohue Street, near Drake Avenue . . . Mobil Oil Co. will have a new one at 981 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael.

Market Trend Down After Slack Trading

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market showed an irregularly lower trend at the close today. Trading was slack.

Brokers attributed the weakness to typical Thursday evening-up operations by traders who were balancing losses against gains prior to the weekend.

Stocks staged a moderate advance in the morning but showed no follow-through.

Here was 2nd graf 1st lead

Volume for the day was estimated at 5.1 million shares compared with 5.28 million shares yesterday.

The list was a hodge-podge of gains and losses as traders seized the occasion of the rally to sell and take profits on short-term gains.

The early rise was featured by aerospace, airlines, electronics and other high-flyers. Gains of 1 or 2 points in some instances were shaved to fractions, in others they were erased entirely and losses took their place.

Xerox held a 3-point gain. Du Pont depressed the averages with a loss of almost 4.

IBM, selling ex-rights to subscribe to the stock at $285 a share for each 40 shares held, took a loss of 5 points. The IBM rights, trading alone, were off fractionally from yesterday's close.

Fractional gains were held by Pan American, American and United Air Lines while Eastern slumped about 2½.

Massey-Ferguson, off a small fraction, looked like the volume leader thanks to a block of 66,800 shares.

Prices kept a higher edge on the American Stock Exchange.

FAREWELL TO BUSINESS — Ismaele Bianchini, known to his customers as "Smiley," tries out a fishing rod at his bait and tackle shop in Bolinas. Smiley will retire within 30 days. Naturally, he won't quit fishing.

Smiley's Going Fishing, Selling Three Businesses

"Smiley" of Bolinas is retiring from three jobs — bait, bar and motel.

The businesses are: Smiley's Bar, Smiley's Bait and Tackle and Clamming Equipment, and Smiley's Motel.

Ismaele Bianchini, known to most as "Smiley" since friends find it tough to pronounce his Arabian first name, has sold the businesses to Raymond F. Gill Jr. and Kathleen Morris, both of San Francisco. The price was not disclosed.

The new owners plan to take over within 30 days. They plan to redecorate and will keep the same name, "Smiley's."

Smiley has been in business for nine years on Main Street while living above his bar. He will move to a home in San Anselmo which he has owned since 1925.

However, since he has a granddaughter in Bolinas and many friends, he said he will still visit Bolinas two or three times a week.

A hunter and fisherman over 40 years, Bianchini plans to continue these sports and, he adds, "I'm not too old to have a girl friend, either." Smiley is 68.

"I'll teach the new owners how to pickle the eggs," smiled Smiley. He pickles his own eggs for sale using vinegar, salt, hot pepper, cinnamon and garlic.

"I used to come here over 40 years ago in a horse and buggy to dig clams," said the bait man.

He brought his present business after having operated the Lincoln Bait Shop in San Rafael.

He claims he gives out about 4,000 tide books each year at his establishment.

At one time he had 200 stuffed animals, all of which he had killed.

The cigar-smoking Smiley is single and does all his own work, often closing up shop when he gets tired and hanging out a sign: "Going fishing. Be back today or tomorrow."

This time, he won't be back — except to visit.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

46 EDITORIAL PAGE Thurs., June 2, 1966 San Rafael, Calif.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL:

McInnis Has Experience To Serve As Supervisor

Voters of the First Supervisorial District (San Rafael to Lucas Valley) have three good men from which to pick their next supervisor.

John F. McInnis, Dr. William F. Upton and Melvin S. Warenback are all sincerely interested in bringing better government to the county of Marin.

In integrity and in motive for seeking public office, no one candidate can be singled out for special mention. The final choice must rest on the man's experience in government, his accomplishments and his demonstrated ability to lead.

Under those criteria, there is little question that former San Rafael councilman and mayor, John McInnis, leads the field.

The other two have certainly contributed to the growth of the county. Dr. Upton is a man of outstanding integrity, one of the leading champions of conservation, and longtime public servant. He has been a member of the County Planning Commission for 14 years, six of them as chairman. He is now a member of the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission, which is working on plans to control bay fill.

However, Dr. Upton's long years of service to Marin have been confined largely to the field of conservation and land planning.

Warenback's role in public affairs is even more limited. A relative newcomer to Marin County, he was director of the Terra Linda Community Services District for six years, two of them as chairman.

There is no question that Warenback is a man of energy, always looking ahead and probing for new ideas. In this race, unfortunately, he suffers by comparison because of the long record of public service racked up by the other two contenders.

McInnis has both breadth and depth of experience in government. His service on the San Rafael city council for 12 years, eight years as mayor, is well known.

Regardless of the criticisms leveled at McInnis, the accomplishments of the city council and Mayor McInnis are a matter of record. The city did improve vastly the offstreet parking problem, streets, lighting, and other facilities such as firehouses, library and the city hall. And these were accomplished with a lowered tax rate and debts paid up.

McInnis' experience in government does not end with the city of San Rafael. He is known state-wide for his work in founding the Association of Bay Area Governments and an eight-county regional planning district. He also served as president of the Mayors' and Councilmen's Department of the League of California Cities.

McInnis has demonstrated his ability to bridge intercounty rivalries and jealousies and induce representatives to sit down together in a cooperative mood.

These experiences of McInnis, both in city and Bay Area government, would be a valuable asset in county government.

John McInnis is the logical man to serve the First District on the County Board of Supervisors.

"He bet me he would be back on a Greyhound by June."

Republicans Taking New Look Into Handling Viet Issue In Elections

WASHINGTON—In the wake of the Oregon Democratic primary's 2 to 1 endorsement of President Johnson's course in Viet Nam, Republican leaders in Congress are taking a new look at how they ought to handle the Viet Nam issue in the coming elections.

They are becoming aware that, if they attack the President indiscriminately, they are more likely to hurt themselves. They can't afford to throw away their advantage of being more united behind the defense of Viet Nam than the Democrats by heckling the President and thus helping to disunite the country.

THE REPUBLICANS have two campaign issues affecting Viet Nam on which they can rightly capitalize:

A good case can be made that the government would be strengthened for whatever tests lie ahead by correcting the egregious imbalance between the two parties in both the House and the Senate. The Johnson administration needs an effective watchdog opposition in Congress and the Republicans need more seats to fill that need.

Secondly, if the country wants Congress to back President Johnson's course in Viet Nam and to give him the support he needs to exert both patience and firmness, he is more likely to get it by increasing the Republican members than by giving any encouragement to the Democratic liberal dissidents.

The latest evidence is that the emergent Republican position on Viet Nam is both prudent and constructive.

A GOOD EXAMPLE is the speech which Rep. Charles E. Goodell of New York, chairman of the GOP Committee on Planning and Research, is delivering in the House. It was previewed without objection by other top Republicans. In tone and substance it is in keeping with everything Sen. Everett Dirksen has been saying.

Goodell helps the administration by delivering a warning which undoubtedly reflects the attitude of the President. It is that, if the South Vietnamese themselves withdraw from the conflict or if civil disorders force such withdrawal, "the United States may have no alternate but to withdraw."

He also very usefully warns Americans that such withdrawal would not mean peace, but would bring in its train successful aggression which would make worse war more likely.

"LET NO ONE THINK," he says, "that withdrawal would bring an end to American casualties. It would, on the contrary, whet the appetite of our foes for further conquest. It would be, not the end of war, but a prelude to a larger, bloodier, more costly war."

But Goodell does not leave the Republicans simply in the position of just supporting the President. He urgently counsels the White House to quit pretending it can play no positive part in furthering the conditions needed for "free and meaningful elections in South Viet Nam." He proposes these steps:

1. That a pre-election agreement be promoted among responsible representatives of all major Vietnamese groups to abide by the outcome of the balloting.

2. That supervision of the election be undertaken by an international commission of disinterested third-party states — not the U.S. or any Communist power.

3. That as part of the election there be a direct vote on the war itself.

This is the kind of thoughtful advocacy which can put Republicans in the best possible position to go before the voters on the Viet Nam issue this fall.

Freudian Slip On Civic Center

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Never have I seen a Freudian slip more apt that that of substituting "cemetery" for "ceremony" in your article about the latest cornerstone-laying at Civic Center.

It will indeed be a monument to the bleached bones of the long suffering taxpayers now being bled white by the irresponsible spending of our money by our "public servants."

Volunteer Bureau For Youth Opportunities

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The timeliness and excellence of your May 16 editorial on "Summer Jobs Help Youth To Earn, Start a Career" hopefully will serve as a catalyst to Marin employers who can and should provide extra work-training opportunities for youth this summer . . .

Recently the Volunteer Bureau of Marin conducted a survey of health, welfare, cultural, recreational, and educational agencies to see which could and would use youthful volunteers this summer. Twenty-two of these agencies indicated a positive "yes" when informed that these teen-agers would have had an interview with the Volunteer Bureau to sound out their specific skills, interests, and hobbies as well as their educational goals. In other words, we offer to interested teen-agers an opportunity to work in their chosen field, not for pay, but for the chance to prove themselves dependable, able, and even eager contributors to the very American endeavor called volunteerism, or more simply, helping the next guy.

What is more to the point, young people do have an opportunity in volunteer jobs to practice their particular skills, to get experience in the field of their choice. . .

I urge any interested teenager, who cannot find a paid job this summer, to phone the Volunteer Bureau office in San Rafael for an interview appointment. We are not in competition with the Marin businessman, believe me. But we have discovered that many teen-agers wish a less binding schedule for the summer, they want some experience toward "career employment," or they just plain want to help somebody else. And it must be added that occasionally an agency finds that that volunteer is just too good to have on an hourly basis and is needed as a member of the paid staff. Perhaps next year a youngster will find that he or she earned a reputation for faithful service that can add a paycheck in the pocket as well as that rich sense of having given of himself.

Very Proud Of Teeners Help

Editor, Independent-Journal:

There are so many articles written about troubles that teen-agers get themselves into that I thought you might be interested in something worthwhile the teen-agers of Bel-Marin Keys have accomplished recently.

We have a "pleasure isle" in the middle of our lagoons that front on our homes which badly needed weeding. Twenty teen-agers got together for a "work day" and cleaned up the island so that it is now a pleasure for all of us to cruise out to.

We residents at Bel-Marin Keys are very proud of these youngsters and very grateful to them for their help.

State Division Using Hammer

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The State Division of Highways maintenance building being erected near Point Reyes Station is yet another example of this department's public be damned attitude and sledge-hammer methods. The lack of cooperation between this department and the local agencies in planning a structure contrasts vividly with Governor and Mrs. Brown, who are apparently unable to control the Division of Highways, yet are now out campaigning on behalf of conservation and protection of scenic areas.

About nineteen hundred and forty years ago there was another Peacenik. Like Phil Drath. He was a carpenter. He wore a beard and sandals and was not "city hall." His not too practical remarks included "Blessed are the peacemakers for they shall be called the children of God."

The apathy of the newspapers and public officials in the Western Greyhound strike is unbelievable. Transportation should be provided to the public during negotiations and it is up to these officials to see that it is.

Phil Drath Described As Irreproachable

Editor, Independent-Journal:

On May 27 the I-J editorial endorsement of Supervisor Thomas T. Storer came as no surprise. What was surprising and disappointing was your criticism of his opponent, Phil Drath. Your statement questioning possible financial support from "dubious" elements was an effort to evoke suspicion through innuendo—an effort caused by your obvious frustration with an irreproachable man . . .

A radical mistake in Viet Nam has been made. My vote goes to the candidate who has consistently had the courage to recognize that error and stand for the re-evaluation and correction of an outdated Asian policy so that Americans could once more feel pride in knowing that we are following a course that truly represents our American interests by furthering our principles of democracy, justice, and morality.

WHY WORKERS ARE FIRED

A group of teachers were surprised by the results of a questionnaire they sent to more than 2,000 employers.

As a service to students who would soon be seeking their first job, they asked: "Will you look up the last three persons who were dismissed from your business, and tell us why you let them go?"

The firms responded with the same answer in two out of three cases, regardless of the type of work, or the section of the country.

In one way or another, the reason for dismissal was this: "They couldn't get along with other people."

Inability to "get along" is frequently a symptom of deeper problems, whether mental or spiritual.

Keep in mind that the Lord has put you on earth to make His love present and active among your fellow men. At home, at work, in conversation and in every other circumstance, countless opportunities for love present themselves to each person.

"Love one another earnestly from the heart."

Let me see in each person I encounter, Lord, a chance for sharing Your bountiful gifts.

Governor's Claim Of No Major Tax Raises Isn't Quite Right

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Some of the grandiose claims of politicians as the primary campaign draws to a close and the show-down at the general election next November, may well bear watching by the voting public.

For instance, Gov. Edmund G. Brown, who apparently has no problem as far as the Democratic nomination is concerned, said in a recent speech that the record of California government "in meeting the public needs of an additional 3.5 million people in the last six years is a record probably unmatched in the history of American government."

Implication is that the Brown administration has functioned without "major" tax increases.

THE FACT IS the Brown administration imposed the cigarette tax, raised income taxes, bank and corporation taxes, unemployment insurance taxes and in most areas, the sales tax.

Perhaps these are not "major" tax increases, but they appear to be of some consequence to the people who have to pay them.

Says the governor:

"The irrefutable fact is that our economy is sound and growing and prospering as never before."

IF THE economy is so sound and everyone is so prosperous, then it might be pertinent to ask why government finds it necessary to pour millions of dollars into California to give aid to the "poverty-stricken." If the governor's claim is correct, it constitutes evidence that the millions to eliminate poverty constitutes illegitimate use of the taxpayers' money to buy votes for the administration.

"The fact is," says Governor Brown, "that we have insisted on and achieved rigid economy in government."

The fact is that the governor's 1966-67 fiscal year budget totaled $4.6 billion dollars, the highest budget in the history of the state. And as far as "rigid economy" is concerned, the legislative analyst recommended deduction of $60 million dollars on the basis of administration practices alone, without even touching the policy spending of the administration.

IN VIEW OF the fact the governor attacked the analyst's suggestions, again a question might be asked as to how rigid economy was achieved when the analyst's suggestions were, for the most part, ignored.

Big Natural Gas Reservoirs Await

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The Joint Congressional Atomic Committee wants nuclear explosives used to open up immense reservoirs of natural gas in the Rocky Mountains of the Southwest.

Walter Hibbard Jr., director of the Bureau of Mines, who strongly favors this, estimates the gas potential of that region at 317 trillion cubic feet and worth around $35 billion. Present proved natural gas reserves in all of the U.S. are 281 trillion cubic feet.

In a letter to the Atomic Energy Commission, which turned it over to the Joint Committee, Hibbard says the "potential income to the government would exceed $4 billion."

MANY OF THE ROCKY Mountain gas reservoirs to which nuclear-explosive stimulation might be applicable," explains Hibbard, "are on federal land from which the government derives bonuses, rentals and royalties. An exact relationship does not exist between such receipts and wellhead prices; but the average is about one-eighth the wellhead price. Thus the potential income to the government would exceed $4 billion."

To press this proposed gas exploration by nuclear explosives the Joint Committee has included a $1.5 million item in the Atomic Commission's $2.3 billion budget authorization bill.

The committee did this on its own initiative. The money was not requested by the budget bureau.

IN FACT, the bureau and the State Department are against the proposal.

The budget bureau is opposed on economy grounds, maintaining the project could be delayed for several years without loss.

The State Department bases its dissent on the contention that underground explosions of this kind could release radioactive material into the atmosphere and thus subject the U.S. to the charge of violating the nuclear test ban treaty.

Both objections are poohpoohed by the Joint Committee and the Atomic Commission.

They point out that (1) a $1.5 million expenditure is infinitesimal compared to the billions to be derived by the government and industry; and (2) leading scientists are convinced, on the basis of numerous experiments, that the contemplated underground explosions are feasible and safe.

THE PICTURED Cliffs formation in northern New Mexico would be the site of the first of these experiments under a plan prepared by the Atomic Commission.

This is disclosed in a still unpublished report of the Joint Committee strongly advocating the natural gas project. Unanimously approved by the 18 Democratic and Republican members, headed by Rep. Chet Holifield, D-Calif., a copy of the report has been sent to President Johnson.

The report points out that, despite assurances given the Senate when it was considering the test ban treaty that underground explosions for peaceful purposes would be conducted, no experiments have taken place in the current fiscal year.

The feasibility of the "gas-buggy" project has been carefully studied, the Joint Committee states, by the Atomic Commission, its Lawrence Radiation Laboratory, the Bureau of Mines and the El Paso Natural Gas Co.

"ALL HAVE agreed that this experiment can be conducted safely," says the report.

Proposed Councilmen's Primer: 'A' Stands For That Agenda

Robert M. Scott, one of San Anselmo's new city councilmen, could stand some education in the ABCs of holding and participating in public meetings.

"A," for instance, stands for agenda, defined by Webster as a "memorandum of items to be considered, as at a meeting." The agenda is not only a guide for the councilmen who must participate in the meeting, but also for the citizen—to keep him informed when a matter of consequence to him is coming before the city council.

IN ANNOUNCING and asking council approval of his first major proposal for San Anselmo, Scott completely ignored the agenda. Scott was seeking formation of the "advisory council of San Anselmo" and approval of the 38 persons he wished to appoint to that council.

Standard procedure would have been for him to ask the city administrator or city clerk before Friday morning to include the proposal on the council's Tuesday night agenda. He failed to do this and the result was that hardly anyone, including most of his fellow councilmen, knew he was about to propose an important change for the hub city.

It is true that at the end of a council meeting agenda, the city administrator will often have additional items to discuss with the council, councilmen will have questions or the city attorney will have some ordinance ready for adoption. Usually though, these additional matters are of little consequence or will afford the council time for study and discussion at a later meeting.

SCOTT PROPOSED his advisory council and asked council approval on the same night. Mayor John M. Reichmuth and Woodrow V. Capurro wisely objected, saying they needed time to study the proposal. Scott agreed to hold the matter over and that is what he did — until at the next council meeting, he suggested it be approved with the name changed to the "San Anselmo Council of Consultants." Once again, the proposal was not on the agenda. This time Scott insisted on a vote and the suggestion was approved.

When a councilman introduces a matter without first notifying the public and other councilmen in advance, it can be for one of several reasons. Thinking the matter unimportant, he may have let it slip his mind. He may, himself, have thought of the matter just at the last moment and decided it needed immediate action. He may have feared that serious open study of his suggestion could raise some public objections that would endanger its passage. He may have been ignorant of the proper use of the agenda.

A MATTER which has been thoroughly studied and openly discussed by the council is more apt to inspire public confidence.

Two Steves Set For Boys' State

Two Steves, Steve Johnson and Steve Woodward, both Tamalpais High School seniors, will attend Boys' State in Sacramento June 18.

Steve Johnson, son of Rev. and Mrs. Harold G. Johnson of Tennessee Valley Road, Mill Valley, was selected to represent Bolinas Bay Post 572 of the American Legion.

Steve Woodward, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Stanley Woodward of 30 Ashford Avenue, Mill Valley, will represent Mill Valley Post 284, American Legion.

During the week-long event, the youths set up mock state and county government and discuss issues to be dealt with according to law.

MORRIE RYSKIND

His Condemnation Seems To Be A Magic Wand For Book Approval

To show you how low I feel, I envy even the luckless District Attorney in the Perry Mason TV series, which has just ended. At least, after nine frustrating years, his agony is over.

NO LONGER need he go through the torment of sitting up nights to study fingerprints, ballistic reports and whatnot in order to build up a case with meticulous care, knowing all the while Perry will blast him to smithereens with a last-minute blockbuster.

The jeers and taunts that greeted him as an eternal loser will gradually fade, and his residuals will more than make up for them. And don't be surprised if, in some new series, he emerges finally as a victorious D.A.

But there are lanes that have no turning whatever, and I am apparently doomed to walk them to eternity. I carry my own portable Wailing Wall and from time to time you have heard my moans.

You know that when I assail a pretentious book or movie, it inevitably walks off at the end of the season with a Pulitzer Prize or an Oscar. I light out after Robert Oppenheimer, Linus Pauling and Martin Luther King—and they get not only kudos but loot in the form of a Fermi Award or a Nobel Prize. I hurl a lance at the specious plays of Le Roi Jones—and, a short time later, Sargent Shriver hands him $40,000 to practice his racist art in New York. And I was for Goldwater.

But, heretofore, Nemesis used to allow me a decent interval of time before striking back. Now the so-and-so has decided to speed up the process, as though things hadn't been bad enough.

THUS, my last article was a critique of the sins of "Land of the Free," an interpretive history of the U. S. designed to indoctrinate eighth grade pupils with the religious dogma of the Welfare State. California had appropriated the tidy sum of $1,080,397 for the textbook, but enough controversy had flared about it for the funds be held up pending "further discussion."

So I got into the act but, even as that column was in the mail to the various papers, the Assembly Ways and Means Committee met and okayed the appropriation. Dirty pool, I call it.

The vote was 7 to 5, not quite overwhelming, and the debate was short, if not sweet. While a Republican assemblyman was reading a list of documented charges, the Democratic chairman cut him short. Why debate when you have a majority?

AFTERWARD that same chairman conceded that the book had some "glaring omissions." And Dr. Harry McPherson, a member of the Curriculum Commission which had approved the text, admitted the commission was aware that the book was "slanted and biased." Said McPherson. "It was an agonizing decision" —which it certainly was for conservatives who want their children taught history, not propaganda.

But he has softened the blow by announcing the commission will go over the protested material with the authors of the volume and will not permit its use until it is corrected and "made perfectly acceptable to every community in the state." Any bets?

Does anyone think authors so palpably biased are going to change their tune? Or that a commission which could concede that bias and still approve the book will not settle for the deletion of a few phrases and commas? Why, cleaning out the Augean stables would be an easier task than to rid almost every one of the 658 pages of the liberal muck it wallows in.

Are there no better-balanced U. S. histories that could be substituted? Or will California's school system go to pot unless this particular volume is studied?

Rhetorical questions, of course. For already some California "educators" have hailed the book as "the finest of its kind." And that's a good indication of how the wind will blow.

THE SCRIPT has been written, the necessary $1,080,397 has been appropriated, and the show will go on with the three questionable "historians" the winners in the end. And the public, as usual, will play the loser, even as the D.A. in the Perry Mason series.

POLITICAL BRIEFS

Governor Hopeful Due For Marin City Talk

Dr. Carleton B. Goodlett, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, will speak at 8 p.m. today at the First Missionary Baptist Church, 501 Drake Avenue, Marin City.

Goodlett is publisher of the Sun-Reporter in San Francisco.

The talk is sponsored by the Marin campaign committee for Dr. Goodlett. Co-chairmen of the committee are Frank Johnson and Edward Green, both of Marin City.

CRA ENDORSES

Marin County members of the California Republican Assembly have unanimously endorsed Congressman Donald H. Clausen and reaffirmed statewide CRA endorsement of these candidates:

Ronald Reagan for governor; Robert Finch for lieutenant governor; Frank Jordan for secretary of state; Joseph Pace for controller; Ivy Baker Priest for treasurer; and Spencer Williams and Jud Leetham for attorney general.

R. J. Guthrie of Terra Linda, chairman of the CRA's Marin County Coordinating Assembly, announced the endorsements.

State Sen. John F. McCarthy, R., San Rafael, received a majority endorsement.

VOTE MACHINE

Demonstrations of voting machines to be used in the June 7 primary election in Marin are being given daily at the George Christopher for Governor headquarters in Mill Valley, at 78 East Blithedale Avenue.

Mrs. Earl Brown, who is in charge of the headquarters, is giving the demonstrations each day from 10:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

DRATH-BENNETT

Phillip Drath of San Rafael and William M. Bennett of Kentfield will join forces Friday for a day of campaigning in Eureka.

Drath seeks the Democratic nomination for Congress, and Bennett the Democratic nomination for attorney general.

Accompanying the two campaigners will be Donald Duncan, former special forces hero in Viet Nam and now military editor of Ramparts magazine.

Trial Scheduled In Cycle Theft

Jury trial for Thomas Haskel Thompson, 19, of San Francisco, was scheduled yesterday in Marin Superior Court for July 18. He is charged with theft of a motorcycle.

Thompson allegedly took the vehicle, owned by Parky C. Stephenson, 2 Ardmore Avenue, Larkspur, on March 28.

Hub Legion Post To Install Monday

Jean Lestanguet will be installed as commander of San Anselmo American Legion Post 179 at a special post meeting June 6.

Other officers to be installed are Ray Blanquie, first vice commander; Paul Smith, second vice commander; Louis Perazzo, sergeant at arms; Pat Pollock, finance officer, and Richard J. Dahl, chaplain.

San Franciscan Told Car Charge

Louis Oscar Carter, 28, San Francisco, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court Tuesday on a felony charge of car theft.

The public defender's office was appointed to represent him. Plea entry was scheduled today.

Carter allegedly took a car owned by T. Allen Key of 322 Beach Road, Belvedere, from Key's home Thursday. He was arrested in San Francisco.

Stereo Tapes Stolen

William K. Gamble of 21 Blue Rock Court, Corte Madera, told police Tuesday that nine stereo tapes worth $56 were stolen from his garage Monday night.
